Highland Man Dies In Jersey Accident

Malaga, N. J., March 5 (AP)—Two young men died early today as an automobile went out of control in Franklin township and struck a pole.

State police of the Malaga barracks said Guy Phillip Siggelkow, 21, of Grand street, Highland, N. Y., a passenger in the auto, was pronounced dead on arrival at Newcomb Hospital, Vineland.

Police said the driver of the car, George Simek, 21, of 367 West Buck street, Paulsboro, died at the hospital four hours after the crash.

The accident happened on the Coles Mill road, about one mile north of Route 47 in Gloucester county, South Jersey. State police said the car was proceeding north, ran off the road, and struck a utility pole.

$500 Pay Raises, $100 H.C.L. Bonus Set for Teachers

$20½ Million Additional in State Aid Planned by Dewey to Defray New Increases

Albany, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—The Dewey administration planned today to jump state aid to schools by $20,500,000 to help finance a $500 increase in minimum salary scheduled and an interim $100 cost-of-living bonus for teachers.

The plan will not mean a full $500 boost for all of the state's 76,000 public school teachers.

Some now receive more than the present minimums. Local school boards will be able to use the cost-of-living aid to cover certain increases granted to teachers since last Sept. 1.

The administration also got ready to revise drastically the Feinberg 1947 minimum salary law by:

1—Increasing from five to 10 the automatic, annual salary increments in the 16-year minimum pay schedule spread.

2—Reducing from six to two the controversial merit or "promotional" increments, based on local evaluation of teaching service, and eliminating the required percentage of teachers to whom they must be granted.

The revised salary and increment program was recommended today by Lt. Gov. Frank C. Moore's special commission on the teacher pay problem. He was given the assignment last fall by Governor Dewey. The commission was comprised of representatives of taxpayers, business, education and local governments.

Approval Is Expected

The Moore proposals are expected to be enacted by the Republican-controlled Legislature before adjournment, scheduled for March 16.

The $500 boost in the state's minimum salary scales would increase:

From $2,000-$4,100 to $2,500-$4,600 the minimum range in all districts, having eight or more teachers, in rural districts outside of cities of 100,000 population or more, and in cities under 100,000.

From $2,200-$4,510 to $2,700-$5,010 in cities of 100,000 or more but less than 1,000,000 population.

From $2,500-$5,125 to $3,000-$5,625 in New York city.

All these figures, present and proposed, are exclusive of the $200 differential that must be paid to teachers with master's degrees. High school teachers are now required to have that degree. Some grade school teachers have it.

Would Not Alter Law

The Moore plan would not change the single standard minimum pay schedules for high and elementary school teachers set up by the Feinberg law.

Moore said his 17-member commission recommended the cost of the proposed minimum salary increases be shared by the state and its localities "in the same ratio that they now share the cost of the state's basic education aid program."

Jessup Tells Meeting Big Three Agree on Scope of Parley

Paris, March 5 (AP) — Russian and western diplomats sat down at a conference table here today after Britain, France and the United States served notice that there won't be any major big four conference unless the Russians are prepared to talk about problems other than Germany.

The deputies of the four nations met at the Pink Marble Palace (Palais Rose) on Avenue Foch. Their job is to find out whether an agenda can be arranged for the foreign ministers of the four big powers.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko was the last of the four to arrive. His Russian Zis 110 automobile, flying the Red flag with hammer and sickle, pulled up after the other three already were on hand. He was unsmiling as he joined U. S. Ambassador at Large Philip Jessup, Britain's Ernest Davies and France's Alexandre Parodi.

Deputies Convene

At 4:15 p. m. (10:15 a. m. E.S.T.) the four deputies sat down at a round table, with Parodi presiding, and the first session was under way.

Earlier Jessup spoke for the three western countries in saying that if the Soviets want to limit the topic for a big four meeting to Germany, there is little chance the higher level conference will take place. He told a news conference the three western countries are fully in accord in their views.

Though the deputies' task is limited to agenda-planning, western leaders believe the Soviet position in the current talks will show them—perhaps within 24 hours — whether Russia really wants to seek a conference-table settlement of cold war problems.

Aligned with Jessup is Ernest Davies from Britain and Alexander Pardi, secretary-general of the French Foreign Ministry. Russia's Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko is playing the Kremlin's cards.

Jessup explained that the U. S. always has been ready to sit down and talk with the Russians and

Fog Maroons Youths On Mount Beacon

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—Two Brooklyn youths, marooned by fog on Mount Beacon 20 miles south of here, groped their way down last night just as a searching party started.

The youths, each allegedly carrying a rifle, were charged with hunting without licenses. They were given civil summonses for a hearing tomorrow before a justice of the peace.

The youths are Conrad Feit, 17, and Raymond Vidor, 22. Vidor's car, parked since Saturday at the foot of Mount Beacon, caused police to check the license plate and get in touch with the parents.

Stronghold Is Hit From Three Sides

North Koreans Forced to Flee to New Line of Defense; Remnants of Third Corps

Quinn Is Leader

Colonel Leads Attack Units on Central Front

Tokyo, March 5 (AP)—U. S. Infantrymen with screaming artillery support routed an estimated 6,000 North Korean Reds today from a mountain stronghold in central Korea.

The Communists's gun-bristling stronghold was hit from three sides by the U. S. Seventh Division and the U. S. Second Division with its French elements.

The allied punch forced the Reds to flee a hastily built new line of resistance to the north.

Col. William "Buffalo Bill" Quinn, commander of the attack forces, said: "I'm going to destroy those blank Reds if they don't check out farther over those hills."

The North Koreans fought sharply from well dug-in positions for a short time before they broke. They were trying to buy time for building up a probable counter assault on the allies on the central and western fronts.

Third Corps Remnants

The Reds were remnants of the North Korean Third Corps.

Quinn, who only two days ago led an attack which was believed to have put the North Korean 15th Division out of action, said: "We've got the 15, and now the First is number one on our hit parade."

The Red redoubt overrun by the Americans is 10 miles northwest of Pangnim and five miles north of the Pangnim-Wonju road.

On the west-central front a U. S. tank patrol fought an eight-mile running gun battle with Reds.

The tank patrol from the U. S. First Cavalry Division was peppered with Chinese Communist rifle and machinegun fire as it moved four miles east from Yongdu on the road to Hoengsong. The tanks sprayed the Red-held hills north of the road with return fire.

Tanks Wheel Around

At the end of four miles the tanks wheeled around and rumbled back to Youngdu. The steady exchange of fire continued. No tanks were lost.

Another tank patrol that pushed north from Yongdu ran into Red fire from both sides of the road. After a fight with the Reds it returned to the Allied lines.

On the extreme right of the central front, U. S. Seventh Division troops jumped ahead two and one half miles—the day's best gain on the front—to within 500 yards of Changyong. Changyong controls the highway from the east coast town of Kangnung, where South Korean troops are operating.

Planes Inflict Casualties

Fighter-bomber pilots of the U. S. Fifth Air Force reported they inflicted more than 750 casualties in attacks on Red troop concentrations along the Korean front and behind Red lines Monday.

In improved flying weather, the air force flew 670 sorties Monday, 236 in close support of Allied ground troops.

American marines continued their drive among precipitous peaks toward Hongchon, a key road town believed to be Communist central front headquarters.

Chinese and North Korean Reds fought stubbornly to stem the grinding allied northward drive while they built up on the central and western fronts for a possible 300,000-man counterassault on the allies.

On the eastern flank, the U. S. Seventh Division and the U. S. Second Division and its French elements hurled three spearheads against an estimated 6,000 Reds on a mountain-ringed plateau.

The Reds were in a bowl-shaped redoubt five miles north of the east-west road between Pangnim and Hoengsong.

Associated Press Correspondent Tom Stone reported that the Senate to Vote On 18-Year Draft

Morse Proposal to Undergo Test; Its Defeat Is Forecast

Washington, March 5 (AP)—The Senate faced a decision today on the politically touchy issue of drafting 18 year olds to help expand the nation's fighting forces.

Members agreed to start voting shortly after 2 p. m. on a proposal by Senator Morse (R-Ore.) to prohibit induction of young men until they are 18½ years old. The present minimum induction age is 19.

Under debate in the Senate is a bill that would lower this to 18 years and set in motion a permanent universal military training and service (UMTS) system.

Senator Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.), floor manager for the UMTS measure, predicted in advance that Morse's proposal would be beaten by a "substantial majority."

Other supporters of UMTS claimed between 55 and 65 votes against the limiting amendment. The Senate Armed Services Committee previously rejected the Morse amendment, 12 to 1.

The bill the committee is backing would require local draft boards to call up all available older men, in the present draft act pool of 19 through 25, before drafting any 18 year olds.

The committee bill also directs the 18 year olds nearest 19 be called first.

To Be First Test

The vote will be the first test on the U.M.T.S. measure in the Senate. A number of other amendments are pending, but there is no agreement to vote on them.

Morse told a reporter he would ask a vote next on his amendment to limit required service by draftees to 21 months, as does the present draft law. The Pentagon had asked an extension to 27 months but the Senate committee approved 26.

Sentiment grew, meanwhile, for writing into the bill a time limit on the universal military training provision. The bill being debated would not fix any termination date.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), chairman of the Senate's Republican Policy Committee, said in a weekend interview he is in favor of limiting the program, perhaps to four years.

"I think Congress ought to reconsider this whole thing within four years," he said.

A statement for the C.I.O., signed by James Carey and Walter Reuther, called for a two-year limit.

Washington, March 5 (AP)—The position of the Treasury March 1: Net budget receipts, $88,433,-610.98; budget expenditures, $197,-920,416.97; cash balance, $5,301,-246,252.79; customs receipts for month, $2,723,358.92; budget receipts fiscal year July 1, $27,257,-858,929.51; budget expenditures fiscal year, $26,279,868,110.90; budget surplus, $977,990,818.61; total debt, $255,959,155,319.78; increase over previous day, $960,-187.41; gold assets, $22,010,735,-328.21.

Would Add 97½ Millions to Help Counter Red 'Untruths,' He Says

Key West, Fla., March 5 (AP)—President Truman asked congress today to increase "Voice of America" funds by $97,500,000 to help counteract Communists "distortions and untruths."

He sent the request to the White House from his vacation retreat on this naval submarine base with the statement that:

"Present world conditions make it imperative that we avail ourselves of every possible means for presenting the truth to the rest of the world and counteracting the distortions and untruths that the Communist leaders and their puppets are spreading.

"Incredible as it may seem, Communist lies are believed in many parts of the world because the people there have no way of learning the truth."

Government Rests Collazo's Case

Directed Verdict Denied by Judge; Defense Angle Cited

Washington, March 5 (AP)—The government rested its case today in the murder trial of Oscar Collazo, accused of the murder of a White House guard in an attempt to kill President Truman.

Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough promptly denied a defense motion for a directed verdict of acquittal. The charges against Collazo, an anti-American Puerto Rican Nationalist, grew out of a gun battle at Blair House Nov. 1.

Collazo himself was expected to take the witness stand as the defense turn came to produce evidence. There was every indication the trial would be over before the end of the week.

Leo A. Rover, chief of Collazo's court-appointed attorneys, argued to the court that the evidence on two murder counts and two charges of assault with intent to kill, was not sufficient for the case to go to the jury.

Editor Says More Are Shot Than Converted to Red Ideals

None Is Injured In Two Wrecks

Two Freights Involved In Accidents at Waverly

Waverly, N. Y., March 5 (AP) — Two separate freight train pileups tied up all traffic today on two of this village's three railroad lines.

Eighteen cars of a 91-car Chicago to New York train were scrambled across both main line tracks and two sidings of the Erie Railroad in the village at about 8 a. m.

Sixteen cars of a 43-car Binghamton to Sayre, Pa., Lehigh Valley freight jumped the single track Auburn Division of that road six miles east of the village at 3:15 a. m.

There were no personal injuries in either wreck.

The Erie wreck left a jumble of cars directly in back of Waverly's business section. The railroad reported most of the cars were loaded with new automobiles, but none of them broke open so damages were not determined immediately. Three other cars on a siding were knocked off the track. About 100 yards of both the east and west tracks were ripped up.

A trainman said an overheated journal box might have caused the wreck.

Wrecking crews were dispatched from Erie's Hornell and Susquehanna yards, but there was no indication of how long it would take to clear the tracks.

Ten of the 16 derailed Lehigh cars were reported competely smashed. Seven were loaded with produce, cement and other goods. About 150 yards of track were torn up. A Lehigh official said a broken rail apparently caused the wreck.

Crews from Auburn and Sayre were at work by 8 a. m. and an official said he expected the line might be back in service later in the day.

The Delaware, Lackawana and Western Railroad, which also serves Waverly, said its service was not disrupted despite the fact the three roads intersect here.

Approval Is Urged

New York, March 5 (AP)—The New York State Automobile Association today urged assemblymen to approve at this session a bill providing for issuance of permanent license plates after next year. The association also asked passage of a bill making windshield defrosters mandatory after Jan. 1, 1954. Both bills were passed by the Senate on Feb. 28.

Shutdown to Continue

New York, March 5 (AP)—The shutdown of the New York Cotton Exchange will continue through tomorrow so it can consider "many technical details" connected with the cotton ceiling prices set by the Office of Price Stabilization. The nation's cotton exchanges have been closed since the Jan. 25 price freeze.

Chinese Escapes Camp in Manchuria; Says He Saw Yank Prisoners

Hong Kong, March 5 (AP) — A Chinese editor who escaped from a political prison camp in Mukden, Manchuria, today said "more people are being shot than converted" to Communism in Red China.

The fugitive also reported:

In Mukden he once saw two Americans, under guard in a jeep, being taken to a war prison camp. He had no idea how many Americans were P.O.W.s there.

Mukden is full of Chinese Red wounded from Korea.

Industries in Mukden seemed to be operating full blast, but there still is much unemployment and much despondence over low wages.

The escapee cannot be named because his family still is in Red China. He escaped while being taken to Korea to serve as a "Red Cross carrier coolie with Gen. Lin Piao's Fourth Field Army."

His story:

After the Reds took Manchuria, he was kept under house arrest more than a year. Then he was put in a labor service camp and given a uniform.

After seven months of camp lectures on Prime Minister Joseph Stalin, Mao Tze Tung, China's No. 1 Communist, and Marx; of song sessions, essay writing and thought cleansing, the men's chief thoughts were to escape.

Terror Is Injected

Finally, the political persuasion took the overtones of terror.

"The idea was to become progressive," the editor related. "Poor students began to disappear. Teachers picked out six to 12 men each day and told them they were being given new jobs. Everybody got curious.

"Why should the Reds, who insist on political dependability,

Albert Mergendahl, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Mergendahl, 54 Franklin street, was killed in action in Korea February 20, according to word received by his parents Sunday night.

Mergendahl, who was a member of the 87th Airborne Division, went to Korea in September 1950.

A veteran of World War 2, Mergendahl reenlisted for army service September 1949.

He had attended School 8.

Legislature Begins Drive to Adjournment March 16; Dozen Hot Issues Are on Agenda

Albany, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—The Republican-controlled Legislature, faced by nearly a dozen explosive issues, began a race today toward adjournment March 16.

In the next 10 days, the Senate and Assembly will act on a record supplemental budget of about $55,-000,000 and more major measures than it has disposed of in the past nine weeks of leisurely lawmaking.

The supplemental budget, slated for introduction Thursday, will provide appropriations for civil defense and pay raises for teachers and state employes. These items were not included in Governor Dewey's record-high main budget of $938,940,759.

The supplemental budget usually totals between $2,000,000 and $5,000,000. Although the bulging supplemental to be submitted this week will push total appropriations to about $993,000,000, the state's 1951-52 "tax budget" will be about $946,000,000.

The $47,000,000 difference represents "deficiency appropriations" for the fiscal year, which ends March 31. Revenue for these appropriations will come from 1950-51 income and not from taxes in the 1951-52 budget.

Local bookkeeping requires that the deficiency appropriations be included in the new budget merely to be "on record" as appropriated.

The supplemental budget appropriations will be financed in part by revenue from the proposed new weight-distance tax on big trucks —one of the controversial issues to be settled—and from anticipated increases in revenues from existing taxes.

Despite some vigorous GOP opposition to the weight-distance tax, an administration source today tagged it as the "most equitable" plan to make big trucks pay a fair share toward the construction and maintenance of highways.

A public hearing will be held in the Capitol Thursday on Governor Dewey's "softened" but still sweeping civil defense bill. GOP leaders predict it will be enacted without major changes.

Dewey is expected to take a stand this week on a proposal to create a public authority to take over and operate the bankrupt

Putnam Jurors Renew Bid to Alter Divorce Laws

Cold Spring, N. Y., March 5 (AP) —The Putnam county jurors who acquitted Television Director Herbert Gehr on a second degree murder charge have made a second request that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey meet with them to discuss the state's divorce laws.

A spokesman for the jurors said the governor's office ignored their first request for such an appointment. He also indicated that the jurors are not satisfied with the reply a Dewey aide sent them concerning their plea for changes in the divorce laws.

The jury acquitted Gehr last Jan. 16 in the rifle slaying of his estranged wife, Andrea. The case was tried at Carmel, N. Y.

In their first letter to Dewey, the jurors wrote that "the strange operation of New York state's divorce law . . . was directly responsible for Mrs. Andrea Gehr's tragic death."

She was slain as she led private detectives on a divorce-evidence raid on a mountain cabin, near Brewster, occupied by Gehr and "the other woman," Mrs. Dorothea Matthews.

Arthur S. Herz, chairman of the jurors' committee, yesterday released a letter, dated Feb. 22, from George M. Shapiro, assistant counsel to the governor.

The two paragraph reply, according to Herz, thanked the jurors for their letter and added that their views "will have his (Dewey's) careful consideration."

Herz said the jurors mailed a reply to Shapiro on Saturday. The letter, in part, said:

"• • • You seem to have missed the main point of our letter. We

The Red redoubt overrun by the Americans is 10 miles northwest of Pangnim and five miles north of the Pangnim-Wonju road.

On the west-central front a U. S. tank patrol fought an eight-mile running gun battle with Reds.

The tank patrol from the U. S. First Cavalry Division was peppered with Chinese Communist rifle and machinegun fire as it moved four miles east from Yongdu on the road to Hoengsong. The tanks sprayed the Red-held hills north of the road with return fire.

Tanks Wheel Around

At the end of four miles the tanks wheeled around and rumbled back to Youngdu. The steady exchange of fire continued. No tanks were lost.

Another tank patrol that pushed north from Yongdu ran into Red fire from both sides of the road. After a fight with the Reds it returned to the Allied lines.

On the extreme right of the central front, U. S. Seventh Division troops jumped ahead two and one half miles—the day's best gain on the front—to within 500 yards of Changyong. Changyong controls the highway from the east coast town of Kangnung, where South Korean troops are operating.

Planes Inflict Casualties

Fighter-bomber pilots of the U. S. Fifth Air Force reported they inflicted more than 750 casualties in attacks on Red troop concentrations along the Korean front and behind Red lines Monday.

In improved flying weather, the air force flew 670 sorties Monday, 236 in close support of Allied ground troops.

American marines continued their drive among precipitous peaks toward Hongchon, a key road town believed to be Communist central front headquarters.

Chinese and North Korean Reds fought stubbornly to stem the grinding allied northward drive while they built up on the central and western fronts for a possible 300,000-man counterassault on the allies.

On the eastern flank, the U. S. Seventh Division and the U. S. Second Division and its French elements hurled three spearheads against an estimated 6,000 Reds on a mountain-ringed plateau.

The Reds were in a bowl-shaped redoubt five miles north of the east-west road between Pangnim and Hoengsong.

Senate to Vote On 18-Year Draft

Morse Proposal to Undergo Test; Its Defeat Is Forecast

Washington, March 5 (AP)—The Senate faced a decision today on the politically touchy issue of drafting 18 year olds to help expand the nation's fighting forces.

Members agreed to start voting shortly after 2 p. m. on a proposal by Senator Morse (R-Ore.) to prohibit induction of young men until they are 18½ years old. The present minimum induction age is 19.

Under debate in the Senate is a bill that would lower this to 18 years and set in motion a permanent universal military training and service (UMTS) system.

Senator Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.), floor manager for the UMTS measure, predicted in advance that Morse's proposal would be beaten by a "substantial majority."

Other supporters of UMTS claimed between 55 and 65 votes against the limiting amendment. The Senate Armed Services Committee previously rejected the Morse amendment, 12 to 1.

The bill the committee is backing would require local draft boards to call up all available older men, in the present draft pool of 19 through 25, before drafting any 18 year olds.

The committee bill also directs the 18 year olds nearest 19 be called first.

To Be First Test

The vote will be the first test on the U.M.T.S. measure in the Senate. A number of other amendments are pending, but there is no agreement to vote on them.

Morse told a reporter he would ask a vote next on his amendment to limit required service by draftees to 21 months, as does the present draft law. The Pentagon had asked an extension to 27 months but the Senate committee approved 26.

Sentiment grew, meanwhile, for writing into the bill a time limit on the universal military training provision. The bill being debated would not fix any termination date.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), chairman of the Senate's Republican Policy Committee, said in a weekend interview he is in favor of limiting the program, perhaps to four years.

"I think Congress ought to reconsider this whole thing within four years," he said.

A statement for the C.I.O., signed by James Carey and Walter Reuther, called for a two-year limit.

Would Add 97½ Millions to Help Counter Red 'Untruths,' He Says

Key West, Fla., March 5 (AP)—President Truman asked congress today to increase "Voice of America" funds by $97,500,000 to help counteract Communists "distortions and untruths."

He sent the request to the White House from his vacation retreat on this naval submarine base with the statement that:

"Present world conditions make it imperative that we avail ourselves of every possible means for presenting the truth to the rest of the world and counteracting the distortions and untruths that the Communist leaders and their puppets are spreading.

"Incredible as it may seem, Communist lies are believed in many parts of the world because the people there have no way of learning the truth."

Government Rests Collazo's Case

Directed Verdict Denied by Judge; Defense Angle Cited

Washington, March 5 (AP)—The government rested its case today in the murder trial of Oscar Collazo, accused of the murder of a White House guard in an attempt to kill President Truman.

Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough promptly denied a defense motion for a directed verdict of acquittal. The charges against Collazo, an anti-American Puerto Rican Nationalist, grew out of a gun battle at Blair House Nov. 1.

Collazo himself was expected to take the witness stand as the defense turn came to produce evidence. There was every indication the trial would be over before the end of the week.

Leo A. Rover, chief of Collazo's court-appointed attorneys, argued to the court that the evidence on two murder counts and two charges of assault with intent to kill, was not sufficient for the case to go to the jury.

Editor Says More Are Shot Than Converted to Red Ideals

None Is Injured In Two Wrecks

Two Freights Involved In Accidents at Waverly

Waverly, N. Y., March 5 (AP) — Two separate freight train pileups tied up all traffic today on two of this village's three railroad lines.

Eighteen cars of a 91-car Chicago to New York train were scrambled across both main line tracks and two sidings of the Erie Railroad in the village at about 8 a. m.

Sixteen cars of a 43-car Binghamton to Sayre, Pa., Lehigh Valley freight jumped the single track Auburn Division of that road six miles east of the village at 3:15 a. m.

There were no personal injuries in either wreck.

The Erie wreck left a jumble of cars directly in back of Waverly's business section. The railroad reported most of the cars were loaded with new automobiles, but none of them broke open so damages were not determined immediately. Three other cars on a siding were knocked off the track. About 100 yards of both the east and west tracks were ripped up.

A trainman said an overheated journal box might have caused the wreck.

Wrecking crews were dispatched from Erie's Hornell and Susquehanna yards, but there was no indication of how long it would take to clear the tracks.

Ten of the 16 derailed Lehigh cars were reported competely smashed. Seven were loaded with produce, cement and other goods. About 150 yards of track were torn up. A Lehigh official said a broken rail apparently caused the wreck.

Crews from Auburn and Sayre were at work by 8 a. m. and an official said he expected the line might be back in service later in the day.

The Delaware, Lackawana and Western Railroad, which also serves Waverly, said its service was not disrupted despite the fact the three roads intersect here.

Approval Is Urged

New York, March 5 (AP)—The New York State Automobile Association today urged assemblymen to approve at this session a bill providing for issuance of permanent license plates after next year. The association also asked passage of a bill making windshield defrosters mandatory after Jan. 1, 1954. Both bills were passed by the Senate on Feb. 28.

Shutdown to Continue

New York, March 5 (AP)—The shutdown of the New York Cotton Exchange will continue through tomorrow so it can consider "many technical details" connected with the cotton ceiling prices set by the Office of Price Stabilization. The nation's cotton exchanges have been closed since the Jan. 25 price freeze.

Chinese Escapes Camp in Manchuria; Says He Saw Yank Prisoners

Hong Kong, March 5 (AP) — A Chinese editor who escaped from a political prison camp in Mukden, Manchuria, today said "more people are being shot than converted" to Communism in Red China.

The fugitive also reported:

In Mukden he once saw two Americans, under guard in a jeep, being taken to a war prison camp. He had no idea how many Americans were P.O.W.s there.

Mukden is full of Chinese Red wounded from Korea.

Industries in Mukden seemed to be operating full blast, but there still is much unemployment and much despondence over low wages.

The escapee cannot be named because his family still is in Red China. He escaped while being taken to Korea to serve as a "Red Cross carrier coolie with Gen. Lin Piao's Fourth Field Army."

His story:

After the Reds took Manchuria, he was kept under house arrest more than a year. Then he was put in a labor service camp and given a uniform.

After seven months of camp lectures on Prime Minister Joseph Stalin, Mao Tze Tung, China's No. 1 Communist, and Marx; of song sessions, essay writing and thought cleansing, the men's chief thoughts were to escape.

Terror Is Injected

Finally, the political persuasion took the overtones of terror.

"The idea was to become progressive," the editor related. "Poor students began to disappear. Teachers picked out six to 12 men each day and told them they were being given new jobs. Everybody got curious.

Legislature Begins Drive to Adjournment March 16; Dozen Hot Issues Are on Agenda

Albany, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—The Republican-controlled Legislature, faced by nearly a dozen explosive issues, began a race today toward adjournment March 16.

In the next 10 days, the Senate and Assembly will act on a record supplemental budget of about $55,000,000 and more major measures than it has disposed of in the past nine weeks of leisurely lawmaking.

The supplemental budget, slated for introduction Thursday, will provide appropriations for civil defense and pay raises for teachers and state employes. These items were not included in Governor Dewey's record-high main budget of $938,940,759.

The supplemental budget usually totals between $2,000,000 and $5,000,000. Although the bulging supplemental to be submitted this week will push total appropriations to about $993,000,000, the state's 1951-52 "tax budget" will be about $946,000,000.

The $47,000,000 difference represents "deficiency appropriations" for the fiscal year, which ends March 31. Revenue for these appropriations will come from 1950-51 income and not from taxes in the 1951-52 budget.

Local bookkeeping requires that the deficiency appropriations be included in the new budget merely to be "on record" as appropriated.

The supplemental budget appropriations will be financed in part by revenue from the proposed new weight-distance tax on big trucks —one of the controversial issues to be settled—and from anticipated increases in revenues from existing taxes.

Despite some vigorous GOP opposition to the weight-distance tax, an administration source today tagged it as the "most equitable" plan to make big trucks pay a fair share toward the construction and maintenance of highways.

A public hearing will be held in the Capitol Thursday on Governor Dewey's "softened" but still sweeping civil defense bill. GOP leaders predict it will be enacted without major changes.

Dewey is expected to take a stand this week on a proposal to create a public authority to take over and operate the bankrupt

Putnam Jurors Renew Bid to Alter Divorce Laws

Cold Spring, N. Y., March 5 (AP) —The Putnam county jurors who acquitted Television Director Herbert Gehr on a second degree murder charge have made a second request that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey meet with them to discuss the state's divorce laws.

A spokesman for the jurors said the governor's office ignored their first request for such an appointment. He also indicated that the jurors are not satisfied with the reply a Dewey aide sent them concerning their plea for changes in the divorce laws.

The jury acquitted Gehr last Jan. 16 in the rifle slaying of his estranged wife, Andrea. The case was tried at Carmel, N. Y.

In their first letter to Dewey, the jurors wrote that "the strange operation of New York state's divorce law . . . was directly responsible for Mrs. Andrea Gehr's tragic death."

She was slain as she led private detectives on a divorce-evidence raid on a mountain cabin, near Brewster, occupied by Gehr and "the other woman," Mrs. Dorothea Matthews.

Arthur S. Herz, chairman of the jurors' committee, yesterday released a letter, dated Feb. 22, from George M. Shapiro, assistant counsel to the governor.

The two paragraph reply, according to Herz, thanked the jurors for their letter and added that their views "will have his (Dewey's) careful consideration."

Herz said the jurors mailed a reply to Shapiro on Saturday. The letter, in part, said:

"• • • You seem to have missed the main point of our letter. We

Highland Man Dies In Jersey Accident

Malaga, N. J., March 5 (AP)—Two young men died early today as an automobile went out of control in Franklin township and struck a pole.

State police of the Malaga barracks said Guy Phillip Siggelkow, 21, of Grand street, Highland, N. Y., a passenger in the auto, was pronounced dead on arrival at Newcomb Hospital, Vineland.

Police said the driver of the car, George Simek, 21, of 367 West Buck street, Paulsboro, died at the hospital four hours after the crash.

The accident happened on the Coles Mill road, about one mile north of Route 47 in Gloucester county, South Jersey. State police said the car was proceeding north, ran off the road, and struck a utility pole.

$500 Pay Raises, $100 H.C.L. Bonus Set for Teachers

Albany, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—The Dewey administration planned today to jump state aid to schools by $20,500,000 to help finance a $500 increase in minimum salary scheduled and an interim $100 cost-of-living bonus for teachers.

The plan will not mean a full $500 boost for all of the state's 76,000 public school teachers.

Some now receive more than the present minimums. Local school boards will be able to use the cost-of-living aid to cover certain increases granted to teachers since last Sept. 1.

The administration also got ready to revise drastically the Feinberg 1947 minimum salary law by:

1—Increasing from five to 10 the automatic, annual salary increments in the 16-year minimum pay schedule spread.

2—Reducing from six to two the controversial merit or "promotional" increments, based on local evaluation of teaching service, and eliminating the required percentage of teachers to whom they must be granted.

The revised salary and increment program was recommended today by Lt. Gov. Frank C. Moore's special commission on the teacher pay problem. He was given the assignment last fall by Governor Dewey. The commission was comprised of representatives of taxpayers, business, education and local governments.

Approval Is Expected

The Moore proposals are expected to be enacted by the Republican-controlled Legislature before adjournment, scheduled for March 16.

The $500 boost in the state's minimum salary scales would increase:

From $2,000-$4,100 to $2,500-$4,600 the minimum range in all districts, having eight or more teachers, in rural districts outside of cities of 100,000 population or more, and in cities under 100,000.

From $2,200-$4,510 to $2,700-$5,010 in cities of 100,000 or more but less than 1,000,000 population.

From $2,500-$5,125 to $3,000-$5,625 in New York city.

All these figures, present and proposed, are exclusive of the $200 differential that must be paid to teachers with master's degrees. High school teachers are now required to have that degree. Some grade school teachers have it.

Would Not Alter Law

The Moore plan would not change the single standard minimum pay schedules for high and elementary school teachers set up by the Feinberg law.

Moore said his 17-member commission recommended the cost of the proposed minimum salary increases be shared by the state and its localities "in the same ratio that they now share the cost of the state's basic education aid program."

Jessup Tells Meeting Big Three Agree on Scope of Parley

Paris, March 5 (AP) — Russian and western diplomats sat down at a conference table here today after Britain, France and the United States served notice that there won't be any major big four conference unless the Russians are prepared to talk about problems other than Germany.

The deputies of the four nations met at the Pink Marble Palace (Palais Rose) on Avenue Foch. Their job is to find out whether an agenda can be arranged for the foreign ministers of the four big powers.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko was the last of the four to arrive. His Russian Zis 110 automobile, flying the Red flag with hammer and sickle, pulled up after the other three already were on hand. He was unsmiling as he joined U. S. Ambassador at Large Philip Jessup, Britain's Ernest Davies and France's Alexandre Parodi.

Deputies Convene

At 4:15 p. m. (10:15 a. m. E.S.T.) the four deputies sat down at a round table, with Parodi presiding, and the first session was under way.

Earlier Jessup spoke for the three western countries in saying that if the Soviets want to limit the topic for a big four meeting to Germany, there is little chance the higher level conference will take place. He told a news conference the three western countries are fully in accord in their views.

Though the deputies' task is limited to agenda-planning, western leaders believe the Soviet position in the current talks will show them—perhaps within 24 hours—whether Russia really wants to seek a conference-table settlement of cold war problems.

Aligned with Jessup is Ernest Davies from Britain and Alexander Pardi, secretary-general of the French Foreign Ministry. Russia's Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko is playing the Kremlin's cards.

Jessup explained that the U. S. always has been ready to sit down and talk with the Russians and

Colonel Leads Attack Units on Central Front

Tokyo, March 5 (AP)—U. S. Infantrymen with screaming artillery support routed an estimated 6,000 North Korean Reds today from a mountain stronghold in central Korea.

The Communists's gun-bristling stronghold was hit from three sides by the U. S. Seventh Division and the U. S. Second Division with its French elements.

The allied punch forced the Reds to flee a hastily built new line of resistance to the north.

Col. William "Buffalo Bill" Quinn, commander of the attack forces, said: "I'm going to destroy those blank Reds if they don't check out farther over those hills."

The North Koreans fought sharply from well dug-in positions for a short time before they broke. They were trying to buy time for building up a probable counter assault on the allies on the central and western fronts.

Third Corps Remnants

The Reds were remnants of the North Korean Third Corps.

Quinn, who only two days ago led an attack which was believed to have put the North Korean 15th Division out of action, said: "We've got the 15, and now the First is number one on our hit parade."

The Red redoubt overrun by the Americans is 10 miles northwest of Pangnim and five miles north of the Pangnim-Wonju road.

Eighteen cars of a 91-car Chicago to New York train were scrambled across both main line tracks and two sidings of the Erie Railroad in the village at about 8 a. m.

Sixteen cars of a 43-car Binghamton to Sayre, Pa., Lehigh Valley freight jumped the single track Auburn Division of that road six miles east of the village at 3:15 a. m.

There were no personal injuries in either wreck.

The Erie wreck left a jumble of cars directly in back of Waverly's business section. The railroad reported most of the cars were loaded with new automobiles, but none of them broke open so damages were not determined immediately. Three other cars on a siding were knocked off the track. About 100 yards of both the east and west tracks were ripped up.

A trainman said an overheated journal box might have caused the wreck.

Wrecking crews were dispatched from Erie's Hornell and Susquehanna yards, but there was no indication of how long it would take to clear the tracks.

Ten of the 16 derailed Lehigh cars were reported competely smashed. Seven were loaded with produce, cement and other goods. About 150 yards of track were torn up. A Lehigh official said a broken rail apparently caused the wreck.

Crews from Auburn and Sayre were at work by 8 a. m. and an official said he expected the line might be back in service later in the day.

The Delaware, Lackawana and Western Railroad, which also serves Waverly, said its service was not disrupted despite the fact the three roads intersect here.

Approval Is Urged

New York, March 5 (AP)—The New York State Automobile Association today urged assemblymen to approve at this session a bill providing for issuance of permanent license plates after next year. The association also asked passage of a bill making windshield defrosters mandatory after Jan. 1, 1954. Both bills were passed by the Senate on Feb. 28.

Legislature Begins Drive to Adjournment March 16; Dozen Hot Issues Are on Agenda

Albany, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—The Republican-controlled Legislature, faced by nearly a dozen explosive issues, began a race today toward adjournment March 16.

In the next 10 days, the Senate and Assembly will act on a record supplemental budget of about $55,-000,000 and more major measures than it has disposed of in the past nine weeks of leisurely lawmaking.

The supplemental budget, slated for introduction Thursday, will provide appropriations for civil defense and pay raises for teachers and state employes. These items were not included in Governor Dewey's record-high main budget of $938,940,759.

The supplemental budget usually totals between $2,000,000 and $5,000,000. Although the bulging supplemental to be submitted this week will push total appropriations to about $993,000,000, the state's 1951-52 "tax budget" will be about $946,000,000.

The $47,000,000 difference represents "deficiency appropriations" for the fiscal year, which ends March 31. Revenue for these appropriations will come from 1950-51 income and not from taxes in the 1951-52 budget.

Local bookkeeping requires that the deficiency appropriations be included in the new budget merely to be "on record" as appropriated.

The supplemental budget appropriations will be financed in part by revenue from the proposed new weight-distance tax on big trucks —one of the controversial issues to be settled—and from anticipated increases in revenues from existing taxes.

Despite some vigorous GOP opposition to the weight-distance tax, an administration source today tagged it as the "most equitable" plan to make big trucks pay a fair share toward the construction and maintenance of highways.

A public hearing will be held in the Capitol Thursday on Governor Dewey's "softened" but still sweeping civil defense bill. GOP leaders predict it will be enacted without major changes.

Dewey is expected to take a stand this week on a proposal to create a public authority to take over and operate the bankrupt

Putnam Jurors Renew Bid to Alter Divorce Laws

Cold Spring, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—The Putnam county jurors who acquitted Television Director Herbert Gehr on a second degree murder charge have made a second request that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey meet with them to discuss the state's divorce laws.

A spokesman for the jurors said the governor's office ignored their first request for such an appointment. He also indicated that the jurors are not satisfied with the reply a Dewey aide sent them concerning their plea for changes in the divorce laws.

The jury acquitted Gehr last Jan. 16 in the rifle slaying of his estranged wife, Andrea. The case was tried at Carmel, N. Y.

In their first letter to Dewey, the jurors wrote that "the strange operation of New York state's divorce law . . . was directly responsible for Mrs. Andrea Gehr's tragic death."

She was slain as she led private detectives on a divorce-evidence raid on a mountain cabin, near Brewster, occupied by Gehr and "the other woman," Mrs. Dorothea Matthews.

Arthur S. Herz, chairman of the jurors' committee, yesterday released a letter, dated Feb. 22, from George M. Shapiro, assistant counsel to the governor.

The two paragraph reply, according to Herz, thanked the jurors for their letter and added that their views "will have his (Dewey's) careful consideration."

Herz said the jurors mailed a reply to Shapiro on Saturday. The letter, in part, said:

"• • • You seem to have missed the main point of our letter. We

Students Arrange Red Cross Display In Local Stores

The Cooperative Retailing Class of Kingston High School put in six window displays in the following stores: M. Reina, Main and Clinton avenue; Kalamazoo, North Front street, Andy's, Broadway, Bert Wilde, Broadway, Wieber and Walter, Broadway, Montgomery Ward, North Front street.

The students working on the exhibits were divided in six crews with five students in each group.

The display at M. Reina's is a European scene with a Red Cross nurse giving toys, pencils and other articles to a poor boy and girl. The background consists of a Red Cross flag and sand and rocks on the floor to make it look realistic. Posters are set on either side of the display to balance it. The mannequins were donated by the Wonderly Company. The Red Cross flag, posters and toys were obtained from the American Red Cross. The students who worked on this display were Corine Perry, Mel Sottile, Mickey McGowan, Tony Colao and Charles Tiano.

Packing Overseas Box

The exhibit at Kalamazoo shows a Red Cross nurse packing clothes in a box to be sent overseas. The background is a Red Cross flag on a white base with posters. The mannequin was from the high school and the flag, boxes and table from the Red Cross. The students who arranged the display were Paul Stauble, Enis Forlint, Olive Grant and Harry Teetsel.

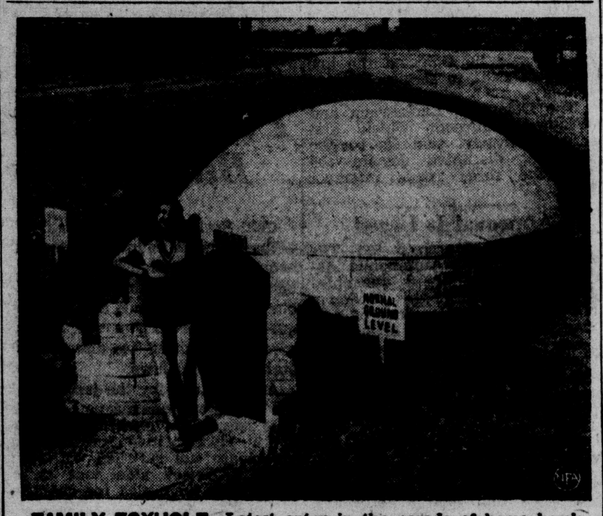

At the Wieber and Walter showroom, there is a display showing a Red Cross nurse and an American Soldier holding a Red Cross flag. Below the flag is a first aid kit with the bandages, medicine and contents of the kit spread around it. Posters are placed about the display to set it off. The background and base are silver. The mannequins were contributed by Montgomery Ward. The Red Cross donated the first aid kit, posters and the flag. The display was arranged by Thomas Miller, Bryan Owings, Ela Moritz, Ross Martini and Ruth Van Aken.

Disabled Child Gets Help

A nurse helps a disabled child in a wheelchair in the display at Andy's. The background is a Red Cross banner. The Benedictine Hospital donated the wheel chair, Montgomery Ward and the Jeanette Shoppe the mannequins. The display was arranged by Donald Gallagher, Frank Martin, Jack Deyo, Victor Koslowski and William DeKoskie.

"The Importance of Nursing" is the title of the display at Montgomery Ward's and consists of streamers connected from a Red Cross flag to a Red Cross nurse. The streamers also connect posters reading lifesaving, home nursing, etc. In the foreground are two American children looking forward to Red Cross aid. The background is white. The tumor clinic contributed the nurse's uniform. Those who worked on the display were Patricia Ruffing, Virginia Orr, Anita Lohmaier, Joan Welch and Angela DuBois.

FAMILY FOXHOLE—Latest entry in the parade of home bomb shelters is this dome-roofed, concrete structure, which San Francisco builders say can be installed in your back yard for $1250. The 12½-ton house sleeps six comfortably or 20 in an emergency. When not in use as protection against aerial attack, it doubles as utility room or guest house. The 14-inch-thick dome and eight-inch walls should be adequate protection from the weather.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 5 (AP)—Stock prices sagged in a moderately active market today.

Losses for a number of leading railroad, steel, motor and rubber issues ranged to more than $1 a share.

Selling showed little sign of urgency, but trading did have a tendency to speed up at times when prices eased.

Overhanging the market are such influences as tax selling in advance of the March 15 income tax deadline, uncertainty over what may come out of the four-power conference, and concern over legislative and control actions in Washington.

Today, principal attention centered on the new accord on policy announced by the Treasury and the Federal Reserve, the aim of which is to combat inflation. This is hardly encouraging to those traders basing stock purchases on belief that inflation will spread.

Among leaders on the losing side in the market were American Telephone, Bethlehem Steel, Jones & Laughlin, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Studebaker, Chrysler, Goodyear, Goodrich, du Pont, Allied Chemical, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, Phelps Dodge, U. S. Gypsum, Southern Railway and Youngstown Sheet & Tube.

Duryea Denies Brother Wrote Macy Letter

Montauk Point, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—W. Kingsland Macy's fight to remain as Suffolk County Republican chairman has produced a family sidelight.

It involves State Conservation Commissioner Perry B. Duryea and his brother, Charles H., chairman of the Suffolk County Board of Supervisors.

Macy supporters distributed Saturday a purported appeal from Charles H. Duryea that Macy, a former Congressman, be retained as chairman. The message was telephoned from West Palm Beach, Fla., where Charles H. is vacationing, Macy backers claimed.

It was transcribed, they said, and mailed to the 420 G.O.P. County Committee members.

However, Perry B. said here yesterday in a statement that "Charlie never wrote that letter." Perry B. supports R. Ford Hughes, Suffolk county clerk, as a candidate to succeed Macy.

"My brother is a very ill man," said Perry B. "It is a low trick for Macy to try to involve him in his fight as a matter of desperation. * * * Charlie has been away from Suffolk and does not know what the situation is."

Macy has called a meeting of the committee for March 30.

After his defeat for re-election to Congress last November, Macy said he would resign his leadership. However, early this year he changed his mind and said he would fight to keep his post.

Hughes claims to have the backing of enough committeemen to unseat Macy.

RFC Hearing Is On Hotels' Angle

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Senate investigators today developed evidence Senator Murray (D.-Mont.) interceded with the RFC to make a $1,000,000 loan to a Miami Beach hotel and his son, James Murray, got a $21,000 fee for services in that and allied cases.

The younger Murray is an attorney here and was paid attorney's fees.

In a fast moving hearing, a Senate banking subcommittee also made public hitherto secret testimony which Senator Fulbright (D.-Ark.) said showed Donald Dawson, a White House aide, stayed on "a complimentary basis" at a luxurious Miami Beach hotel that received a federal loan.

The committee swung its spotlight to the Murrays and Dawson after first getting testimony from Hilton W. Robertson, a loan examiner for the RFC, that he, his wife and daughter spent a rent-free 10-day vacation at the plushy Saxony Hotel at Miami Beach in 1949. Robertson said he had helped put through a $1,500,000 loan to the hotel.

Paid for Meals

Robertson said he paid for their meals.

The Saxony is headed by George D. Sax, who made big sums in the punch board business, and has sometimes been called "the punch board king."

Robertson testified before a Senate banking subcommittee which is looking into charges of favoritism and influence in granting of RFC loans.

He told the senators his rent-free vacation at the Saxony came after he disagreed with lower echelon RFC employes who opposed granting the loan to the hotel, and helped to get RFC board approval for it. The loan has since been repaid.

After the visit, Robertson said, he recommended that Sax be permitted to apply $200,000 of the loan to pay his personal federal income taxes, but this never was authorized.

Before the hearing opened, members of the subcommittee indicated there were a number of people who had received free entertainment at hotels which borrowed from the government's big lending agency.

Why we sometimes say "NO" to investors

Most of our investors look for steady dividends at a minimum of risk. Some people seek only high immediate returns at greater risk.

Many persons come to us with little money to invest; others have quite a bit.

Obviously, no one stock meets all investors' requirements. Yet every one of them can find stocks that are suitable to their personal income objectives.

That's why, when our clients ask us if we think they should buy a particular stock, we don't hesitate to say "No," if that is our opinion.

TIME and TIDE

A dozen years have slipped away
Since Mary Ann began to creep
And as we watched her . . . day by day . . .
Time gave us hours . . . we couldn't keep.
We smiled when first she tried to walk
And later . . . tears caressed the heart
When school-bells silenced baby talk
As Time so able . . . played its part.

Time's restless hand has brushed aside
The playthings bright, she treasured so
For toys can never stem the tide
Where life's unceasing waters flow.
A dozen years we couldn't hold
Have quickly made her straight and tall
With eyes that hint of dreams untold
We'll never share with her at all.

Horizons bright are just beyond
And as the fleeting days appear
Time leaves with us his magic wands
That open doors . . . to yesteryear.

Students Arrange Red Cross Display In Local Stores

The Cooperative Retailing Class of Kingston High School put in six window displays in the following stores: M. Reina, Main and Clinton avenue; Kalamazoo, North Front street, Andy's, Broadway, Bert Wilde, Broadway, Wieber and Walter, Broadway, Montgomery Ward, North Front street.

The students working on the exhibits were divided in six crews with five students in each group.

The display at M. Reina's is a European scene with a Red Cross nurse giving toys, pencils and other articles to a poor boy and girl. The background consists of a Red Cross flag and sand and rocks on the floor to make it look realistic. Posters are set on either side of the display to balance it. The mannequins were donated by the Wonderly Company. The Red Cross flag, posters and toys were obtained from the American Red Cross. The students who worked on this display were Corine Perry, Mel Sottile, Mickey McGowan, Tony Colao and Charles Tiano.

Packing Overseas Box

The exhibit at Kalamazoo shows a Red Cross nurse packing clothes in a box to be sent overseas. The background is a Red Cross flag on a white base with posters. The mannequin was from the high school and the flag, boxes and table from the Red Cross. The students who arranged the display were Paul Stauble, Enis Forlini, Olive Grant and Harry Teetsel.

At the Wieber and Walter showroom, there is a display showing a Red Cross nurse and an American Soldier holding a Red Cross flag. Below the flag is a first aid kit with the bandages, medicine and contents of the kit spread around it. Posters are placed about the display to set it off. The background and base are silver. The mannequins were contributed by Montgomery Ward. The Red Cross donated the first aid kit, posters and the flag. The display was arranged by Thomas Miller, Bryan Owings, Ela Moritz, Ross Martini and Ruth Van Aken.

The display at Bert Wilde's shows a Red Cross nurse giving out Red Cross boxes to be sent overseas. The background is brown drapes and a Red Cross flag. The mannequins were from the high school and the drapes by Wonderly's. The boxes and flag were from the Red Cross. Mary Fennelly, Madeline Steinmetz, Marjorie Bunt, Joyce Davis, Marilyn Lamphere and Mary Tremper arranged the display.

The Benedictine Hospital donated the wheel chair, Montgomery Ward and the Jeanette Shoppe the mannequins. The display was arranged by Donald Gallagher, Frank Martin, Jack Deyo, Victor Koslowski and William DeKoskie.

"The Importance of Nursing" is the title of the display at Montgomery Ward's and consists of streamers connected from a Red Cross flag to a Red Cross nurse. The streamers also connect posters reading lifesaving, home nursing, etc. In the foreground are two American children looking forward to Red Cross aid. The background is white. The tumor clinic contributed the nurse's uniform. Those who worked on the display were Patricia Ruffing, Virginia Orr, Anita Lohmaier, Joan Welch and Angela DuBois.

FAMILY FOXHOLE—Latest entry in the parade of home bomb shelters is this dome-roofed, concrete structure, which San Francisco builders say can be installed in your back yard for $1250. The 12½-ton house sleeps six comfortably or 20 in an emergency. When not in use as protection against aerial attack, it doubles as utility room or guest house. The 14-inch-thick dome and eight-inch walls should be adequate protection from the weather.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 5 (AP)—Stock prices sagged in a moderately active market today.

Losses for a number of leading railroad, steel, motor and rubber issues ranged to more than $1 a share.

Selling showed little sign of urgency, but trading did have a tendency to speed up at times when prices eased.

Overhanging the market are such influences as tax selling in advance of the March 15 income tax deadline, uncertainty over what may come out of the four-power conference, and concern over legislative and control actions in Washington.

Today, principal attention centered on the new accord on policy announced by the Treasury and the Federal Reserve, the aim of which is to combat inflation. This is hardly encouraging to those traders basing stock purchases on belief that inflation will spread.

Among leaders on the losing side in the market were American Telephone, Bethlehem Steel, Jones & Laughlin, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Studebaker, Chrysler, Goodyear, Goodrich, du Pont, Allied Chemical, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, Phelps Dodge, U. S. Gypsum, Southern Railway and Youngstown Sheet & Tube.

Duryea Denies Brother Wrote Macy Letter

Montauk Point, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—W. Kingsland Macy's fight to remain as Suffolk County Republican chairman has produced a family sidelight.

It involves State Conservation Commissioner Perry B. Duryea and his brother, Charles H., chairman of the Suffolk County Board of Supervisors.

Macy supporters distributed Saturday a purported appeal from Charles H. Duryea that Macy, a former Congressman, be retained as chairman. The message was telephoned from West Palm Beach, Fla., where Charles H. is vacationing, Macy backers claimed.

It was transcribed, they said, and mailed to the 420 G.O.P. County Committee members.

However, Perry B. said here yesterday in a statement that "Charlie never wrote that letter." Perry B. supports R. Ford Hughes, Suffolk county clerk, as a candidate to succeed Macy.

"My brother is a very ill man," said Perry B. "It is a low trick for Macy to try to involve him in his fight as a matter of desperation. * * * Charlie has been away from Suffolk and does not know what the situation is."

Macy has called a meeting of the committee for March 30.

After his defeat for re-election to Congress last November, Macy said he would resign his leadership. However, early this year he changed his mind and said he would fight to keep his post.

Hughes claims to have the backing of enough committeemen to unseat Macy.

RFC Hearing Is On Hotels' Angle

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Senate investigators today developed evidence Senator Murray (D.-Mont.) interceded with the RFC to make a $1,000,000 loan to a Miami Beach hotel and his son, James Murray, got a $21,000 fee for services in that and allied cases.

The younger Murray is an attorney here and was paid attorney's fees.

In a fast moving hearing, a Senate banking subcommittee also made public hitherto secret testimony which Senator Fulbright (D.-Ark.) said showed Donald Dawson, a White House aide, stayed on "a complimentary basis" at a luxurious Miami Beach hotel that received a federal loan.

The committee swung its spotlight to the Murrays and Dawson after first getting testimony from Hilton W. Robertson, a loan examiner for the RFC, that he, his wife and daughter spent a rent-free 10-day vacation at the plushy Saxony Hotel at Miami Beach in 1949. Robertson said he had helped put through a $1,500,000 loan to the hotel.

Paid for Meals

Robertson said he paid for their meals.

The Saxony is headed by George D. Sax, who made big sums in the punch board business, and has sometimes been called "the punch board king."

Robertson testified before a Senate banking subcommittee which is looking into charges of favoritism and influence in granting of RFC loans.

He told the senators his rent-free vacation at the Saxony came after he disagreed with lower echelon RFC employes who opposed granting the loan to the hotel, and helped to get RFC board approval for it. The loan has since been repaid.

After the visit, Robertson said, he recommended that Sax be permitted to apply $200,000 of the loan to pay his personal federal income taxes, but this never was authorized.

Before the hearing opened, members of the subcommittee indicated there were a number of people who had received free entertainment at hotels which borrowed from the government's big lending agency.

Why we sometimes say "NO" to investors

Most of our investors look for steady dividends at a minimum of risk. Some people seek only high immediate returns at greater risk.

Many persons come to us with little money to invest; others have quite a bit.

Obviously, no one stock meets all investors' requirements. Yet every one of them can find stocks that are suitable to their personal income objectives.

That's why, when our clients ask us if we think they should buy a particular stock, we don't hesitate to say "No," if that is our opinion.

TIME and TIDE

A dozen years have slipped away
Since Mary Ann began to creep
And as we watched her . . . day by day . . .
Time gave us hours . . . we couldn't keep.
We smiled when first she tried to walk
And later . . . tears caressed the heart
When school-bells silenced baby talk
As Time so able . . . played its part.

Time's restless hand has brushed aside
The playthings bright, she treasured so
For toys can never stem the tide
Where life's unceasing waters flow.
A dozen years we couldn't hold
Have quickly made her straight and tall
With eyes that hint of dreams untold
We'll never share with her at all.

Horizons bright are just beyond
And as the fleeting days appear
Time leaves with us his magic wands

Students Arrange Red Cross Display In Local Stores

The Cooperative Retailing Class of Kingston High School put in six window displays in the following stores: M. Reina, Main and Clinton avenue; Kalamazoo, North Front street, Andy's, Broadway, Bert Wilde, Broadway, Wieber and Walter, Broadway, Montgomery Ward, North Front street.

The students working on the exhibits were divided in six crews with five students in each group.

The display at M. Reina's is a European scene with a Red Cross nurse giving toys, pencils and other articles to a poor boy and girl. The background consists of a Red Cross flag and sand and rocks on the floor to make it look realistic. Posters are set on either side of the display to balance it. The mannequins were donated by the Wonderly Company. The Red Cross flag, posters and toys were obtained from the American Red Cross. The students who worked on this display were Corine Perry, Mel Sottile, Mickey McGowan, Tony Colao and Charles Tiano.

Packing Overseas Box

The exhibit at Kalamazoo shows a Red Cross nurse packing clothes in a box to be sent overseas. The background is a Red Cross flag on a white base with posters. The mannequin was from the high school and the flag, boxes and table from the Red Cross. The students who arranged the display were Paul Stauble, Enis Forlini, Olive Grant and Harry Teetsel.

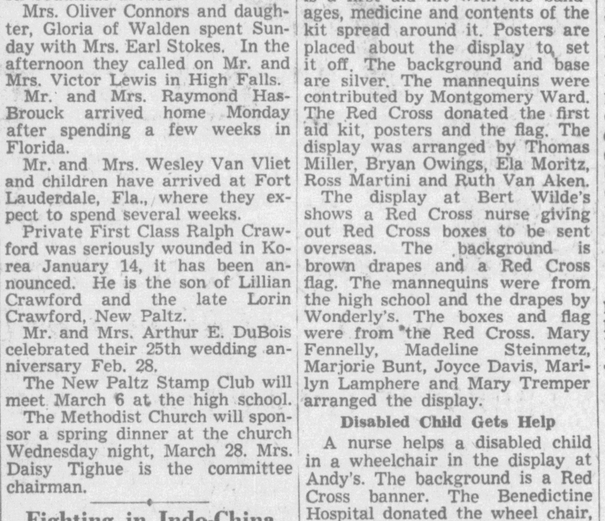

At the Wieber and Walter showroom, there is a display showing a Red Cross nurse and an American Soldier holding a Red Cross flag. Below the flag is a first aid kit with the bandages, medicine and contents of the kit spread around it. Posters are placed about the display to set it off. The background and base are silver. The mannequins were contributed by Montgomery Ward. The Red Cross donated the first aid kit, posters and the flag. The display was arranged by Thomas Miller, Bryan Owings, Ela Moritz, Ross Martini and Ruth Van Aken.

Disabled Child Gets Help

A nurse helps a disabled child in a wheelchair in the display at Andy's. The background is a Red Cross banner. The Benedictine Hospital donated the wheel chair, Montgomery Ward and the Jeanette Shoppe the mannequins. The display was arranged by Donald Gallagher, Frank Martin, Jack Deyo, Victor Koslowski and William DeKoskie.

"The Importance of Nursing" is the title of the display at Montgomery Ward's and consists of streamers connected from a Red Cross flag to a Red Cross nurse. The streamers also connect posters reading lifesaving, home nursing, etc. In the foreground are two American children looking forward to Red Cross aid. The background is white. The tumor clinic contributed the nurse's uniform. Those who worked on the display were Patricia Ruffing, Virginia Orr, Anita Lohmaier, Joan Welch and Angela DuBois.

FAMILY FOXHOLE—Latest entry in the parade of home bomb shelters is this dome-roofed, concrete structure, which San Francisco builders say can be installed in your back yard for $1250. The 12½-ton house sleeps six comfortably or 20 in an emergency. When not in use as protection against aerial attack, it doubles as utility room or guest house. The 14-inch-thick dome and eight-inch walls should be adequate protection from the weather.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 5 (AP)—Stock prices sagged in a moderately active market today.

Losses for a number of leading railroad, steel, motor and rubber issues ranged to more than $1 a share.

Selling showed little sign of urgency, but trading did have a tendency to speed up at times when prices eased.

Overhanging the market are such influences as tax selling in advance of the March 15 income tax deadline, uncertainty over what may come out of the four-power conference, and concern over legislative and control actions in Washington.

Today, principal attention centered on the new accord on policy announced by the Treasury and the Federal Reserve, the aim of which is to combat inflation. This is hardly encouraging to those traders basing stock purchases on belief that inflation will spread.

Among leaders on the losing side in the market were American Telephone, Bethlehem Steel, Jones & Laughlin, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Studebaker, Chrysler, Goodyear, Goodrich, du Pont, Allied Chemical, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, Phelps Dodge, U. S. Gypsum, Southern Railway and Youngstown Sheet & Tube.

Duryea Denies Brother Wrote Macy Letter

Montauk Point, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—W. Kingsland Macy's fight to remain as Suffolk County Republican chairman has produced a family sidelight.

It involves State Conservation Commissioner Perry B. Duryea and his brother, Charles H., chairman of the Suffolk County Board of Supervisors.

Macy supporters distributed Saturday a purported appeal from Charles H. Duryea that Macy, a former Congressman, be retained as chairman. The message was telephoned from West Palm Beach, Fla., where Charles H. is vacationing, Macy backers claimed.

It was transcribed, they said, and mailed to the 420 G.O.P. County Committee members.

However, Perry B. said here yesterday in a statement that "Charlie never wrote that letter." Perry B. supports R. Ford Hughes, Suffolk county clerk, as a candidate to succeed Macy.

"My brother is a very ill man," said Perry B. "It is a low trick for Macy to try to involve him in his fight as a matter of desperation. * * * Charlie has been away from Suffolk and does not know what the situation is."

Macy has called a meeting of the committee for March 30.

After his defeat for re-election to Congress last November, Macy said he would resign his leadership. However, early this year he changed his mind and said he would fight to keep his post.

Hughes claims to have the backing of enough committeemen to unseat Macy.

RFC Hearing Is On Hotels' Angle

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Senate investigators today developed evidence Senator Murray (D.-Mont.) interceded with the RFC to make a $1,000,000 loan to a Miami Beach hotel and his son, James Murray, got a $21,000 fee for services in that and allied cases.

The younger Murray is an attorney here and was paid attorney's fees.

In a fast moving hearing, a Senate banking subcommittee also made public hitherto secret testimony which Senator Fulbright (D.-Ark.) said showed Donald Dawson, a White House aide, stayed on "a complimentary basis" at a luxurious Miami Beach hotel that received a federal loan.

The committee swung its spotlight to the Murrays and Dawson after first getting testimony from Hilton W. Robertson, a loan examiner for the RFC, that he, his wife and daughter spent a rent-free 10-day vacation at the plushy Saxony Hotel at Miami Beach in 1949. Robertson said he had helped put through a $1,500,000 loan to the hotel.

Paid for Meals

Robertson said he paid for their meals.

The Saxony is headed by George D. Sax, who made big sums in the punch board business, and has sometimes been called "the punch board king."

Robertson testified before a Senate banking subcommittee which is looking into charges of favoritism and influence in granting of RFC loans.

He told the senators his rent-free vacation at the Saxony came after he disagreed with lower echelon RFC employes who opposed granting the loan to the hotel, and helped to get RFC board approval for it. The loan has since been repaid.

After the visit, Robertson said, he recommended that Sax be permitted to apply $200,000 of the loan to pay his personal federal income taxes, but this never was authorized.

Before the hearing opened, members of the subcommittee indicated there were a number of people who had received free entertainment at hotels which borrowed from the government's big lending agency.

Obviously, no one stock meets all investors' requirements. Yet every one of them can find stocks that are suitable to their personal income objectives.

Bush Says Nation Could Kill Soviets With Atomic Bomb

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Dr. Vannevar Bush, one of the co-developers of the atomic bomb, says this country "without question" could "destroy Russia" with A-bombs if she started a war in Europe.

"We could destroy not only the key centers from which her armies would be supplied, but also political centers and the communications of her armies on the march," Bush said on a mutual network broadcast last night.

"Initially equipped with weapons and supplies, those armies might keep rolling for a time, but there would be no Russia behind them as we know it today.

"The answer to this is that the armies will not roll. No all-out war is in sight for the immediate future unless they or we make some serious error indeed."

Spoke for Committee

Bush, now president of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, is a former chairman of the nation's research and development board. He spoke for the Committee on the Present Danger, a group of prominent citizens urging a strong defense for this country in cooperation with other free nations.

Bush said that while this country now could destroy Russia with bombs, it cannot count indefinitely on strategic bombing and therefore ground forces must be built up in Europe "to hold back the hordes while we strike by other means."

He declared that war will not occur "if Russia knows that she cannot go beyond certain boundaries without provoking a war."

Bridges Show February Gain

Travel over the three Hudson river bridges under jurisdiction of the New York State Bridge Authority was 16.14 per cent higher in February this year than for the same month last year, the authority reported today.

The bridges carried 285,080 vehicles last month and 245,463 in February, 1950, a gain of 39,617.

The Rip Van Winkle span near Catskill showed a percentage gain of 17.72. It carried 51,126 vehicles last month and 43,427 in 1950, a gain of 7,699.

Next highest in percentage gain was the Bear Mountain bridge with 16.71. It carried 59,501 vehicles last month and 50,982 in February, 1950, for a gain of 8,519.

The Mid-Hudson bridge with a percentage gain of 15.49 carried 174,453 vehicles last month and 151,054 in 1950 for a gain of 23,399.

The authority was unable to state at this time when the Kingston-Rhinecliff ferry would resume service, but indicated it planned to start the ferry as early as possible.

Regional Office Gives Boundaries

New York, March 3 (AP)—The Office of Price Stabilization today announced the geographical boundary for its district office in the New York city region.

The office will serve the eastern portion of New York state, including the counties of St. Lawrence, Hamilton, Fulton, Montgomery, Schoharie, Greene, Ulster, Sullivan, Orange, Rockland, Westchester, Bronx, New York, Richmond, Albany, Clinton, Columbia, Dutchess, Essex, Franklin, Kings, Nassau, Putnam, Queens, Rensselaer, Saratoga, Schenectady, Suffolk, Warren, and Washington.

New Blizzard Threatens Midwest

(By The Associated Press)

A new blizzard which threatens to be a "whopper" is bearing down on the northern middlewest today.

But there is some chance—and it's only a chance—that the intense cold will be pushed northward into Canada before it reaches the Mississippi valley or Great Lakes region.

Federal forecaster H. S. Kenny at Chicago said, however, the final direction of the cold wave cannot be determined until it is well east of the Rocky Mountain region, probably by Tuesday morning.

He explained that an intense low pressure area or warm air mass also is moving slowly eastward along with and at the south edge of the cold air. It is possible, Kenny said, that when the two masses hit the high great plains, the low pressure will dominate and push the cold northward into Canada.

Raging in Montana

But the blizzard now raging in Montana, is one of the worst of the winter. Temperatures have skidded to as low as 18 below zero at Cutbank, Mont., and the state was being lashed by winds up to 45 miles an hour with heavy blowing and drifting snow. At many points visibility had been cut to one block or less.

By Tuesday morning, the cold will have spread throughout the Dakotas, and into Wyoming, Nebraska and Kansas, Kenny said.

Temperatures generally were rising over parts of the middlewest and southern Rocky Mountain states today with the weather mostly fair. There was rainfall in the middle Atlantic states and California, while rain or snow was reported in Washington, Oregon and Idaho. The snow at Seattle measured two inches.

Central and northern New York were whipped yesterday by a wind and sleet storm which toppled trees and poles and snapped power and communication lines. Limited visibility and low ceilings forced rerouting of 32 domestic flights from LaGuardia airport in New York city.

Visit With Dewey Arranged for 4-H Members in Albany

Two Ulster county teen-agers, chosen for their outstanding 4-H Club work, left this morning on a two-day tour of Albany as a part of the state-wide observance of National 4-H Club Week.

Roger Hoornbeek, 16, of High Falls, leading young participant in the 4-H Holstein project, is one of those making the trip. He is a student at Kingston High School, where he is a member of the Future Farmers of America under Raphael Klein; and he is a member of the Kripplebush 4-H Club, of which Robert Kelder is leader.

The other Ulster county representative at Capital Day is Miss Hilda Sauer, 17, of Kyserike. Also active in the Holstein project, Miss Sauer has been a leader in homemaking department work and is assistant leader of her club under Mrs. J. Sanford Cross. She was chosen as Hudson Valley Apple Pie Queen at the January meeting of the New York State Horticultural Society in Kingston.

Wadlin to Be Host

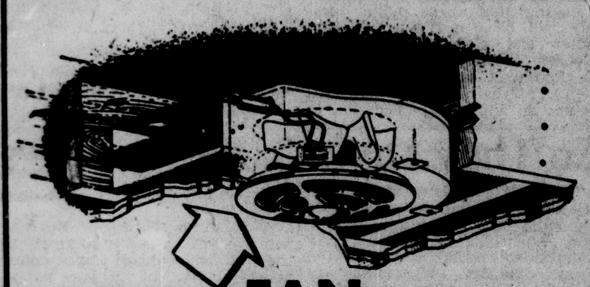

They are making the trip with the Rockland county delegates. Tuesday morning, the two Ulster county representatives have been invited to breakfast with Assemblyman John Wadlin of this district.

Delegates from most counties of the state will participate in the event. Included on the schedule are tours of public buildings, a visit to the state legislature in session and a meeting with Governor Thomas E. Dewey.

National 4-H Club Week has been designated by President Truman as the week of March 3 to 11. Theme of the week's observance is: "Working together for world understanding."

In New York state, 52,258 boys and girls were enrolled in 4-H Club work during 1950. Ages of members range from 10 to 21.

Anti-Aggression Army Plan Before U.N. Today

United Nations, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—Formation of an international anti-agression army gets underway at the United Nations today.

The 14-nation Collective Measures Committee is scheduled to meet 3 p. m. to begin planning the international force authorized by the General Assembly last fall.

Purpose of the legion is to put military power against aggression in the hands of the General Assembly, where the Soviet Union has no veto.

It is the result of the lessons about Russian obstruction learned during U. N. waging of the Korean war.

The resolution was denounced by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky as "illegal" and "bizarre" but was passed 52-2 on Nov. 3 with only the Soviet bloc voting against it.

The committee planning the army includes Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Britain, Burma, Canada, Egypt, France, Mexico, The Philippines, Turkey, The U. S., Venezuela and Yugoslavia.

Bush Says Nation Could Kill Soviets With Atomic Bomb

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Dr. Vannevar Bush, one of the co-developers of the atomic bomb, says this country "without question" could "destroy Russia" with A-bombs if she started a war in Europe.

"We could destroy not only the key centers from which her armies would be supplied, but also political centers and the communications of her armies on the march," Bush said on a mutual network broadcast last night.

"Initially equipped with weapons and supplies, those armies might keep rolling for a time, but there would be no Russia behind them as we know it today.

"The answer to this is that the armies will not roll. No all-out war is in sight for the immediate future unless they or we make some serious error indeed."

Spoke for Committee

Bush, now president of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, is a former chairman of the nation's research and development board. He spoke for the Committee on the Present Danger, a group of prominent citizens urging a strong defense for this country in cooperation with other free nations.

Bush said that while this country now could destroy Russia with bombs, it cannot count indefinitely on strategic bombing and therefore ground forces must be built up in Europe "to hold back the hordes while we strike by other means."

He declared that war will not occur "if Russia knows that she cannot go beyond certain boundaries without provoking a war."

Bridges Show February Gain

Travel over the three Hudson river bridges under jurisdiction of the New York State Bridge Authority was 16.14 per cent higher in February this year than for the same month last year, the authority reported today.

The bridges carried 285,080 vehicles last month and 245,463 in February, 1950, a gain of 39,617.

The Rip Van Winkle span near Catskill showed a percentage gain of 17.72. It carried 51,126 vehicles last month and 43,427 in 1950, a gain of 7,699.

Next highest in percentage gain was the Bear Mountain bridge with 16.71. It carried 59,501 vehicles last month and 50,982 in February, 1950, for a gain of 8,519.

The Mid-Hudson bridge with a percentage gain of 15.49 carried 174,453 vehicles last month and 151,054 in 1950 for a gain of 23,399.

The authority was unable to state at this time when the Kingston-Rhinecliff ferry would resume service, but indicated it planned to start the ferry as early as possible.

Regional Office Gives Boundaries

New York, March 3 (AP)—The Office of Price Stabilization today announced the geographical boundary for its district office in the New York city region.

The office will serve the eastern portion of New York state, including the counties of St. Lawrence, Hamilton, Fulton, Montgomery, Schoharie, Greene, Ulster, Sullivan, Orange, Rockland, Westchester, Bronx, New York, Richmond, Albany, Clinton, Columbia, Dutchess, Essex, Franklin, Kings, Nassau, Putnam, Queens, Rensselaer, Saratoga, Schenectady, Suffolk, Warren, and Washington.

New Blizzard Threatens Midwest

(By The Associated Press)

A new blizzard which threatens to be a "whopper" is bearing down on the northern middlewest today.

But there is some chance—and it's only a chance—that the intense cold will be pushed northward into Canada before it reaches the Mississippi valley or Great Lakes region.

Federal forecaster H. S. Kenny at Chicago said, however, the final direction of the cold wave cannot be determined until it is well east of the Rocky Mountain region, probably by Tuesday morning.

He explained that an intense low pressure area or warm air mass also is moving slowly eastward along with and at the south edge of the cold air. It is possible, Kenny said, that when the two masses hit the high great plains, the low pressure will dominate and push the cold northward into Canada.

Raging in Montana

But the blizzard now raging in Montana, is one of the worst of the winter. Temperatures have skidded to as low as 18 below zero at Cutbank, Mont., and the state was being lashed by winds up to 45 miles an hour with heavy blowing and drifting snow. At many points visibility had been cut to one block or less.

By Tuesday morning, the cold will have spread throughout the Dakotas, and into Wyoming, Nebraska and Kansas, Kenny said.

Temperatures generally were rising over parts of the middlewest and southern Rocky Mountain states today with the weather mostly fair. There was rainfall in the middle Atlantic states and California, while rain or snow was reported in Washington, Oregon and Idaho. The snow at Seattle measured two inches.

Central and northern New York were whipped yesterday by a wind and sleet storm which toppled trees and poles and snapped power and communication lines. Limited visibility and low ceilings forced rerouting of 32 domestic flights from LaGuardia airport in New York city.

Visit With Dewey Arranged for 4-H Members in Albany

Two Ulster county teen-agers, chosen for their outstanding 4-H Club work, left this morning on a two-day tour of Albany as a part of the state-wide observance of National 4-H Club Week.

Roger Hoornbeek, 16, of High Falls, leading young participant in the 4-H Holstein project, is one of those making the trip. He is a student at Kingston High School, where he is a member of the Future Farmers of America under Raphael Klein; and he is a member of the Kripplebush 4-H Club, of which Robert Kelder is leader.

The other Ulster county representative at Capital Day is Miss Hilda Sauer, 17, of Kyserike. Also active in the Holstein project, Miss Sauer has been a leader in homemaking department work and is assistant leader of her club under Mrs. J. Sanford Cross. She was chosen as Hudson Valley Apple Pie Queen at the January meeting of the New York State Horticultural Society in Kingston.

Wadlin to Be Host

They are making the trip with the Rockland county delegates. Tuesday morning, the two Ulster county representatives have been invited to breakfast with Assemblyman John Wadlin of this district.

Delegates from most counties of the state will participate in the event. Included on the schedule are tours of public buildings, a visit to the state legislature in session and a meeting with Governor Thomas E. Dewey.

National 4-H Club Week has been designated by President Truman as the week of March 3 to 11. Theme of the week's observance is: "Working together for world understanding."

In New York state, 52,258 boys and girls were enrolled in 4-H Club work during 1950. Ages of members range from 10 to 21.

Anti-Aggression Army Plan Before U.N. Today

United Nations, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—Formation of an international anti-agression army gets underway at the United Nations today.

The 14-nation Collective Measures Committee is scheduled to meet 3 p. m. to begin planning the international force authorized by the General Assembly last fall.

Purpose of the legion is to put military power against aggression in the hands of the General Assembly, where the Soviet Union has no veto.

It is the result of the lessons about Russian obstruction learned during U. N. waging of the Korean war.

The resolution was denounced by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky as "illegal" and "bizarre" but was passed 52-2 on Nov. 3 with only the Soviet bloc voting against it.

The committee planning the army includes Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Britain, Burma, Canada, Egypt, France, Mexico, The Philippines, Turkey, The U. S., Venezuela and Yugoslavia.

Urges Relief for India

Washington, March 5 (AP)—A $190,000,000 famine relief program for India should be approved by Congress to help that nation resist Communism, the House Foreign Affairs Committee said last night. Its report on the administration-backed bill to supply India with 2,000,000 tons of grain said India is an important symbol in the Far East, where "the Soviet Union is exerting every conceivable pressure."

WE MUST CONVINCE GERMANS

When General Eisenhower gave the nation his report on European defense, he passed over the problem of German rearmament, saying it was one for the politicians.

Some weeks have gone by since then, and the politicians don't seem to be addressing themselves to this task. It's not just a matter of our needing German military strength in a European defense force. It's that we can't afford to have the Germans be "neutral" or turn toward the Russians.

For years now the Russians and their stooges in East Germany have been holding out to West Germans the glittering lures of national unity, neutrality and peace. In recent months the appeals have been stepped up.

The Bonn government and other West German politicians have spurned these offers as deceptive, and they will probably go on rejecting them. But that shouldn't be allowed to cover the fact that the German people are extremely receptive to such talk.

The appeal of unity to a divided nation is obvious. And to a people who see themselves in the front line of any war between West and East, neutrality and peace are likewise powerful magnets.

A U. S. official in Germany described the effect of this Communist propaganda on those in the western zones: "It is like a fog seeping into a poorly constructed house. You shut the door and close the windows, but it comes in through the cracks in the walls. Unfortunately there are plenty of cracks in the house we have built in Western Germany."

Whatever they may now be saying publicly, officials of the Bonn regime cannot ignore the attitude of the people who support them. If they are yearning for unity and neutrality, the government will have to reflect the fact in its dealings with both East and West.

A four-power conference affecting Germany would almost certainly find Bonn officials divided on the issue of following Western policy.

There is only one way to win the West Germans to the side of the Atlantic pact nations. They must be convinced that we and every other country in the group will contribute unfailingly to the joint task of resisting Soviet aggression.

When a colossus like Russia is at the eastern gate, people close by need above all to have their confidence bolstered. They want assurance that resistance will mean something more than just winning them a top spot on the Communists' purge list. This holds not only for the Germans but for the French and others.

That confidence can only come from a determination of all the threatened countries to stick together and put up a stiff defense; and from a bold display of leadership on somebody's part.

As Eisenhower declared, the United States, by virtue of its youth, its strength, its freedom from past ravages of war, is ideally suited to exert that leadership. Doing so will supply a prime ingredient in the confidence of Western Europe.

Our officials in Germany cannot convince German leaders of our resolve to stand firm in Europe so long as some American lawmakers of influence talk of leaving Europe to its own devices. These legislators should read the latest dispatches from Germany, wherein they may note the heavy price of niggling delay, doubt and uncertainty.

The moisture-laden fog of Russian propaganda is rotting the timbers of our German house. If we don't shore it up soon, it may fall apart and collapse into rubble.

RETURNING COMMON SENSE

One encouraging sign of improving international relations is in the news from Greece. For the first time since the end of the war, Greece and Yugoslavia have restored train service between the two countries. A short time ago they had restored diplomatic relations.

Undoubtedly the cause of this better feeling is a common dread of Russia. Few large nations and no small ones can afford the luxury of more than one enemy.

Motion picture fans who wonder what ever happened to all the old films need worry no longer. They were saved for the television stations.

High school days were wonderful, most men can recall. Then a fellow could get along by shaving once a week.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

PREPARATIONS FOR HOT WAR

Wickham Steed is one of the truly great figures in our profession. He is a British journalist of the Old School who had served as the London Times correspondent in many parts of Europe, became its foreign editor and was afterwards its editor.

In a recent article in "The Contemporary Review," he has this to say:

". . . The whole Communist conception of relations with the non-Communist world is one of 'cold' or 'hot' warfare. Meek answers to its hate-inspired vituperation do not turn away wrath; they induce contempt and are ascribed to fear . . . persistent failure to understand its true purpose might even hasten a change from 'cold' to 'hot' war in Europe. The preservation of peace does not lie that way. The Communist preparations for the 'peace conference,' planned for Sheffield and held at Warsaw last November, are a case in point. They were designed as a prelude to 'hot' war in Korea.

"These preparations began at the Moscow 'Peace Congress' in the autumn of 1949. Within a few weeks 'peace committees' sprang up in this country and elsewhere. In them the number of trained and trustworthy accomplices of the Kremlin was kept low as compared with 'fellow travellers' and dupes, while a worthy and, perhaps, unsuspecting president or chairman was recruited as a mask or a decoy. Last January, in a university city, the chairman of one of these toadstool bodies imprudently opened a public controversy which convinced me, and others, that something queer was afoot. Yet I confess I did not see what was afoot until North Korean aggression in the summer gave these 'peace committees' their opportunity to denounce the United States and the United Nations as 'imperialist warmongers.' The purpose of the 'peace' movement was thus revealed. It was to lessen resistance to Kremlinist strategy."

It is of value to provide the testimony of this experienced journalist whose career of observation was begun in Berlin in 1896. More than half a century in this profession sharpens the senses. It is for this reason that such an observer as Karl von Wiegand is more often correct in his diagnosis of the course of events than many of the bright young men who play at outguessing themselves without knowledge or experience.

The danger to our country of these various peace committees and peace movements at the present time lies in the source of their inspiration. It is not peace that they really want, but abject acceptance of the empire-building of the Kremlin. There are some, of course, who innocently parrot the lofty sentiments which clothe the appeals to treachery, but many others so fear the inevitability of Russian success that they would as soon be slaves of Stalin as spend the remainder of their lives struggling and sacrificing for freedom.

Once a business man explained Marxism to me as a movement for land distribution; he even believed that if land were equitably distributed, more people would be able to buy his product!

Recently, in one of those rather intellectual discussions, I raised this point: Suppose, in due course, the Russians manage to produce 100,000,000 tons of steel annually, would it prove that communism is right? And I must say that that question rather stumped some, because to them communism involves a struggle between private enterprise and nationalization of the ownership of production, distribution and exchange.

If that is all that communism means, then we need not get too excited about it because the trend in that direction is almost universal, including our own country. Wickham Steed answers that eloquently:

". . . The liberal tradition . . . upholds the right of individuals to know, to think, to believe, to speak and to act within the framework of just laws freely made. Positively, it accepts differences as contributing to richer life than uniformity. Negatively, it repudiates the hegelian concept of freedom as willing conformity to the dictates of an absolute state deified as 'God's movement on earth.' . . ."

Surely, the struggle is more serious than who owns what. It is over the question of what is the nature of man. Is he to be a free creature, exercising free will, free choice, at his own risk and for his own benefit, or is he a creature to be used by those who have the physical power to use him—that is, shall all of us becomes slaves to those who can use the state to master us?

That is what it is all about.

IMPORTANCE OF PROTEINS

I met one of my old schoolmates recently and he asked me how he looked. I told him he looked well, if not better, than when he was a youngster. He gave me a triumphant smile and said, "Well, I'm a vegetarian!"

I asked him if he drank milk, but I received no answer.

Milk is as much an animal food as meat and from the standpoint of protein (now considered our most valuable food) milk is richer in protein than meat itself.

Protein foods are the source of what is known as the amino acids which are needed for growth, repair, reproduction, and, what is equally important, needed for the juices used in the various body processes of stomach, liver, kidney, heart, blood-vessels.

While most of us think of animal proteins as the only proteins, we are learning from outstanding nutritionists that vegetable proteins are also needed in an all-round diet.

In any natural diet, both animal and vegetable foods with their mixed protein content contribute all those essential or needed amino acids, except lysine, which vitamin must be in the diet of the growing child.

In the British Lancet, Dr. D. F. Cuthbertson states that it is now known that repair of tissue where proteins are needed is only possible where all the required acids are available together in the right proportion at the same time. In addition to these proteins the carbohydrates (bread, sugar, potatoes) must be used daily as carbohydrates, in addition to supplying energy, help burn up the proteins, thus making full use of the valuable protein eaten.

It is a remarkable thing that adults have learned to eat about the right proportion of proteins, 14 to 15 per cent of their total intake, but unfortunately many children do not eat enough of them. Also our teen-agers, adolescents, because they can often choose their own diet, do not eat enough proteins and are satisfied with starch foods which, while giving plenty of energy, do not supply the building material or repair material needed at this age.

Last of the Species

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Instanbul—Musings of an American loose along the highways and byways of Turkey—Most people don't remember it but Turkey once came within a hairsbreadth of slipping into the Soviet orbit. This was after World War I, when Europe spurned the liberator of Turkey, Mustapha Kemal, and Stalin wooed him. . . . All you have to do is walk through the ornate palaces of the Ottoman Empire to see how easy it would have been for Turkey to have gone Communist, for communism comes from extremes—extremes of poverty and wealth. You're not likely to find Norway going Communist because Norwegians have found a middle ground, but in Turkey under the sultans there was the same kind of luxurious living and the same kind of extremes of suffering which existed under czarist Russia.

While Russia went to the violence and bloodshed of communism, however, Turkey, led by its modern hero, Kemal Ataturk—Americans call him Attaboy Turk—escaped with a moderate state socialism.

I Remember Turkey — It has been just 30 years since I was in Turkey. At that time I was a young relief worker in the Balkans and Turkey was occupied by French and British troops. Turkish women then wore veils and it was worth your life to see a woman face to face. Today Turkish women not only have discarded the veils but have become judges and have the same wage rate as men—something they don't have in the U. S. A. . . . Furthermore, it's no longer a sin for a Turkish woman to have gold fillings in her teeth, as was previously banned by the Mohammedan religion, or to call in a doctor when she's sick.

These are some of the things that President Ataturk abolished when he broke the stranglehold of Momammedan priests on Turkey.

George Marshall President of U. S. A.—Some Americans have worried over whether Europe really gave us credit for the Marshall Plan. Turkey is one country where we don't need to worry. Up in northern Turkey a coal miner was asked whether he knew President Truman. He replied he did not and added that he thought Marshall was president of the U. S. A. . . . The Marshall Plan has been given the widest publicity and has done a good job. The ways of buying tractors and organizing farm cooperatives under the Marshall Plan have been explained on the radio until almost every village understands American aid to Turkey.

Turkish Congress—Turkey has gone in for Democracy of the vigorous American brand. I sat in the balcony listening to the debate and, with few exceptions, it sounded like our Senate debate. One was that almost every member of Parliament was in his seat, listening. There was no rattling of newspapers or rude conversations, as in our House and Senate. Another difference was that the presiding officer wore white tie and tails. Furthermore, Turks really work at parliamentary government, beginning their debates at 10 a. m. and continuing until 2 a. m., unlike our Congress which adjourns at 4 p. m.

The Washington, D. C. of Turkey—One of the smartest things President Ataturk did was remove the Turkish capital from the fleshpot and palaces of Istanbul, just as our founding fathers placed our capital not in New York or Philadelphit but in Washington. Just as the Australians placed their new capital in Canberra, so the new Turkish Republic put its capital in the brand new city of ankara. . . . Here in Istanbul, the civilization of a thousand years has built a city of contrasts—cobblestone streets and modern movie theatres, bazaars where sunlight seldom penetrates and aircooled department stores—all alongside the Bosporus, so peaceful, so placid and so beautiful, yet for which so many thousands of people have given their lives in contrast. . . . Ankara is slightly dull and slightly stuffy but the Turkish Parliament has no diversions other than its work at making democracy live.

Americans in Turkey — There now are about 3,000 Americans in Ankara, most of them doing unique jobs. One is that of Col. Francois D'Elescue of the U. S. Army, who is teaching the Turks guerrilla-warfare tactics. The fighting Turks are supposed to be pretty good guerillas themselves, but D'Elescue is giving them new training as a result of Korea. . . . One American who causes the Turks to raise their eyebrows is U. S. Ambassador George Wadsworth, who plays bridge most of the night and sleeps much of the day. Wadsworth startled Turkish society last month by appearing at a fancy dress ball wearing a fez. This caused many Turks almost to fall over in a faint, for the fez has been banned as a symbol of the past and for a long time it was against the law for any Turk to wear a fez. . . . In contrast, the British ambassador, Sir Noel Charles, had the sense of humor to attend the fancy dress ball dressed as a valet—the famous valet who sold all the secrets of the British Embassy during the war to German Ambassador Franz Von Papen. . . . Von Papen was the German who tried to blow up the International Bridge between Canada and the U. S. and the Welland Canal during World War I. In World War II he was stationed at Istanbul as Nazi ambassador and his wife was approached by a valet to the British ambassador offering to sell highly important secrets. As a result the valet was paid $1,000,000 by the Germans and he produced a photofilm of the minutes of the Tereran and Yalta conferences—The best leak the Nazis ever had of allied war plans. The text the valet delivered turned out to be bona fide, but the money Germans paid him turned out to be counterfeit.

Call to Prayer in Turkey—Five times daily in Mohammedan Turkey, hodjas climb the tall, graceful minarets and call the people to prayer. The most important issue now debated in Turkey is whether the hodjas should call to prayer in Turkish or Arabic. . . . This may not sound important but it was Ataturk who wisely divorced religion from the state and decreed that prayers be spoken in Turkish which the people understood and not in Arabic which they don't understand. . . . However, Ataturk's political party lost the election last May and the new Democratic party has permitted the hodjas to go back to Arabic calls to prayer. Also the Koran is now read in Arabic over the radio. This may mean a step backward for Turkey.

Principal Issue Between Labor and Wilson Is Seen as Allocation of Manpower

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 5 — Deep under the surface the real issue in the row between the major labor leaders and Charles E. Wilson, director of defense mobilization, is how the manpower of America shall be allocated—who shall go to war and who shall stay behind.

No more delicate question can arise when a nation demands equality of sacrifice. It is important that the true story be unfolded because, uncorrected and allowed to appear as simply a quarrel over wages or over posts where the labor leaders can be "consulted," it looks just like the same old nasty debate between big business and big labor.

The controversy is in truth over something else. It involves the whole manpower problem on which the American people will want to be fully informed. And of two things the public can be assured—Mr. Wilson isn't going to be intimidated or forced out by the insults and innuendoes of thoughtless labor leaders and Mr. Truman isn't going to be moved by threats of political blackmail such as are being made. Just the other day James B. Carey, secretary treasurer of the CIO, told a union meeting that organized labor may move out of the Democratic party as a consequence of the present mobilization row. This is a strange way to exert pressure in an international crisis.

Mr. Carey happens to be president of the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers and when Mr. Wilson was president of General Electric the two men tangled on labor problems. Mr. Carey carries on his feud at the expense of the country. Other labor leaders go along with him because they see a chance to undermine Mr. Wilson and get labor partisans to rule the draft so that, in effect, local union politicians will interpret the draft rules and influence deferments.

Now the fact is that Charles E. Wilson has severed for all time his connection with General Electric. He is 64 years old and intends to spend the rest of his life in public service. When he demands that the labor leaders either sever their connections and get off union payrolls or select someone who is not tied up with unions to take a top place in the advisory committee he is merely asking for objectivity in government. When Mr. Wilson sits at his desk today he is a representative and spokesman of the government of the United States. When he selected members of the all-important manpower Advisory Committee, he picked to head it someone who was not tied up with either business or the unions—a college president who had made a record in personnel work under the late President Roosevelt as a member of the Civil Service Commission—Arthur Flemming.

Labor partisans assail Mr. Wilson as planning compulsory service of some kind but there is no intention to change the workings of the various operating agencies of the government which deal with manpower. The purpose of the new committee is advisory—to formulate principles for manpower selection fair to everybody. It's too delicate a problem to be handed over to the labor group or business group or any other special group. Mr. Carey does not help the cause of labor nor does he tell the truth when he says that "big business" got a blank check "which gave them complete control over America's domestic economy" and that this was "their price for support of the administration's mobilization effort."

This kind of smearing isn't worthy of any labor leader who professes to be directing labor's policies in time of war. It inevitably provokes dissension and distrust.

But who is this Charles E. Wilson on whom the labor leaders have suddenly centered their attack? He was liberal enough to be chosen vice chairman of the war production board during World War 2 by the late President Roosevelt. He was liberal enough to be chosen by President Truman to head up the National Commission on Civil Rights which minced no words in dealing with the discrimination in America against minority groups. He was liberal enough to be one of the closest friends and advisers that the late President Roosevelt had and his friendship with Mr. Truman is just as intimate.

Mr. Wilson is nobody's tool—neither of business nor of any other group. He is a man of managerial ability who knows the fundamentals of large-scale production and who at the same time is fair and impartial and liberal. But those labor-union leaders who are just as reactionary and indifferent to the public interest today as many big business men were a quarter of a century ago don't want anybody who is fair. They want a partisan and they would drag the defense program into politics and slow down the production effort rather than admit that in an emergency the president of the United States is entitled to select for such an important task as defense mobilization director the best man he can find. Mr. Truman has selected someone who isn't a politician or a demagogue but a man of experience in World War 2 who is willing to give to his country the remaining years of life through disinterested public service. Now labor politicians want to drive him out. This is the kind of battle that special privilege groups cannot be permitted to win.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The same mail that brought me a lecture from the Gazette of Charleston, W. Va., rejecting my belief that our Korean War is a criminal folly brought also a tearsheet from the Chicago Daily News showing that 3,347 readers voted two to one that we should get out "as quickly as possible."

I never rely on popular opinion for comfort or vindication. That is democracy, which I abhor. However, the Gazette is an organ of the ruling Democratic machine. It should respect this two-to-one vote to get out. I roll my own opinions. It makes no difference how many others think our unionism is good or that it can be cured of its evils. Millions of people can be just as wrong as one. And all those are wrong.

The people are not competent to decide the issue of war or peace. That is why the founding fathers rejected democracy and ordained that our states should establish republican governments. In the republic, the voters elect agents or trustees to manage the government for them. There is an understanding that these public servants will be men of superior character and altruistic conscience. George Washington was ideal. F. D. Roosevelt and Truman would represent the other extreme. This is not an appropriate occasion to review all the facts which condemn them as bad men.

Truman was best described by Barney Baruch as "a rude, uncouth, ignorant man." His chivalry, in writing a letter full of criminal implications to a journalist who euphemistically expressed a professional opinion that the President's daughter sang like a screech-owl, is seen to be counterfeit when this outburst is compared to his own rudeness to Mrs. Strom Thurmond in full view of thousands of citizens at his inaugural orgies. A gentleman would have been incapable of the premeditated offense to Mrs. Thurmond.

The best possible face that we can put on these matters is to speculate that President Truman each time had put himself in the bag.

Indeed, the temptation is legitimate to ask one's self whether he was sober when he suddenly made the decision to throw a few companes of riflemen into the Korean War. He had no specific authority from the people of the United States, but I do not hold that in such crisis a President should put the question to a referendum. That, again, would be democracy. But this was touched off by a snap judgment and, for all that we are permitted to know to the contrary, President Truman made his

When General Eisenhower gave the nation his report on European defense, he passed over the problem of German rearmament, saying it was one for the politicians.

Some weeks have gone by since then, and the politicians don't seem to be addressing themselves to this task. It's not just a matter of our needing German military strength in a European defense force. It's that we can't afford to have the Germans be "neutral" or turn toward the Russians.

For years now the Russians and their stooges in East Germany have been holding out to West Germans the glittering lures of national unity, neutrality and peace. In recent months the appeals have been stepped up.

The Bonn government and other West German politicians have spurned these offers as deceptive, and they will probably go on rejecting them. But that shouldn't be allowed to cover the fact that the German people are extremely receptive to such talk.

The appeal of unity to a divided nation is obvious. And to a people who see themselves in the front line of any war between West and East, neutrality and peace are likewise powerful magnets.

A U. S. official in Germany described the effect of this Communist propaganda on those in the western zones: "It is like a fog seeping into a poorly constructed house. You shut the door and close the windows, but it comes in through the cracks in the walls. Unfortunately there are plenty of cracks in the house we have built in Western Germany."

Whatever they may now be saying publicly, officials of the Bonn regime cannot ignore the attitude of the people who support them. If they are yearning for unity and neutrality, the government will have to reflect the fact in its dealings with both East and West.

A four-power conference affecting Germany would almost certainly find Bonn officials divided on the issue of following Western policy.

There is only one way to win the West Germans to the side of the Atlantic pact nations. They must be convinced that we and every other country in the group will contribute unfailingly to the joint task of resisting Soviet aggression.

When a colossus like Russia is at the eastern gate, people close by need above all to have their confidence bolstered. They want assurance that resistance will mean something more than just winning them a top spot on the Communists' purge list. This holds not only for the Germans but for the French and others.

That confidence can only come from a determination of all the threatened countries to stick together and put up a stiff defense; and from a bold display of leadership on somebody's part.

As Eisenhower declared, the United States, by virtue of its youth, its strength, its freedom from past ravages of war, is ideally suited to exert that leadership. Doing so will supply a prime ingredient in the confidence of Western Europe.

Our officials in Germany cannot convince German leaders of our resolve to stand firm in Europe so long as some American lawmakers of influence talk of leaving Europe to its own devices. These legislators should read the latest dispatches from Germany, wherein they may note the heavy price of niggling delay, doubt and uncertainty.

The moisture-laden fog of Russian propaganda is rotting the timbers of our German house. If we don't shore it up soon, it may fall apart and collapse into rubble.

RETURNING COMMON SENSE

One encouraging sign of improving international relations is in the news from Greece. For the first time since the end of the war, Greece and Yugoslavia have restored train seryice between the two countries. A short time ago they had restored diplomatic relations.

Undoubtedly the cause of this better feeling is a common dread of Russia. Few large nations and no small ones can afford the luxury of more than one enemy.

Motion picture fans who wonder what ever happened to all the old films need worry no longer. They were saved for the television stations.

High school days were wonderful, most men can recall. Then a fellow could get along by shaving once a week.

'These Days'

PREPARATIONS FOR HOT WAR

Wickham Steed is one of the truly great figures in our profession. He is a British journalist of the Old School who had served as the London Times correspondent in many parts of Europe, became its foreign editor and was afterwards its editor.

In a recent article in "The Contemporary Review," he has this to say:

". . . The whole Communist conception of relations with the non-Communist world is one of 'cold' or 'hot' warfare. Meek answers to its hate-inspired vituperation do not turn away wrath; they induce contempt and are ascribed to fear . . . persistent failure to understand its true purpose might even hasten a change from 'cold' to 'hot' war in Europe. The preservation of peace does not lie that way. The Communist preparations for the 'peace conference,' planned for Sheffield and held at Warsaw last November, are a case in point. They were designed as a prelude to 'hot' war in Korea.

"These preparations began at the Moscow 'Peace Congress' in the autumn of 1949. Within a few weeks 'peace committees' sprang up in this country and elsewhere. In them the number of trained and trustworthy accomplices of the Kremlin was kept low as compared with 'fellow travellers' and dupes, while a worthy and, perhaps, unsuspecting president or chairman was recruited as a mask or a decoy. Last January, in a university city, the chairman of one of these toadstool bodies imprudently opened a public controversy which convinced me, and others, that something queer was afoot. Yet I confess I did not see what was afoot until North Korean aggression in the summer gave these 'peace committees' their opportunity to denounce the United States and the United Nations as 'imperialist warmongers.' The purpose of the 'peace' movement was thus revealed. It was to lessen resistance to Kremlinist strategy."

It is of value to provide the testimony of this experienced journalist whose career of observation was begun in Berlin in 1896. More than half a century in this profession sharpens the senses. It is for this reason that such an observer as Karl von Wiegand is more often correct in his diagnosis of the course of events than many of the bright young men who play at outguessing themselves without knowledge or experience.

The danger to our country of these various peace committees and peace movements at the present time lies in the source of their inspiration. It is not peace that they really want, but abject acceptance of the empire-building of the Kremlin. There are some, of course, who innocently parrot the lofty sentiments which clothe the appeals to treachery, but many others so fear the inevitability of Russian success that they would as soon be slaves of Stalin as spend the remainder of their lives struggling and sacrificing for freedom.

Once a business man explained Marxism to me as a movement for land distribution; he even believed that if land were equitably distributed, more people would be able to buy his product!

Recently, in one of those rather intellectual discussions, I raised this point: Suppose, in due course, the Russians manage to produce 100,000,000 tons of steel annually, would it prove that communism is right? And I must say that that question rather stumped some, because to them communism involves a struggle between private enterprise and nationalization of the ownership of production, distribution and exchange.

If that is all that communism means, then we need not get too excited about it because the trend in that direction is almost universal, including our own country. Wickham Steed answers that eloquently:

". . . The liberal tradition . . . upholds the right of individuals to know, to think, to believe, to speak and to act within the framework of just laws freely made. Positively, it accepts differences as contributing to richer life than uniformity. Negatively, it repudiates the hegelian concept of freedom as willing conformity to the dictates of an absolute state deified as 'God's movement on earth.' . . ."

Surely, the struggle is more serious than who owns what. It is over the question of what is the nature of man. Is he to be a free creature, exercising free will, free choice, at his own risk and for his own benefit, or is he a creature to be used by those who have the physical power to use him—that is, shall all of us becomes slaves to those who can use the state to master us?

That is what it is all about.

IMPORTANCE OF PROTEINS

I met one of my old schoolmates recently and he asked me how he looked. I told him he looked well, if not better, than when he was a youngster. He gave me a triumphant smile and said, "Well, I'm a vegetarian!"

I asked him if he drank milk, but I received no answer.

Milk is as much an animal food as meat and from the standpoint of protein (now considered our most valuable food) milk is richer in protein than meat itself.

Protein foods are the source of what is known as the amino acids which are needed for growth, repair, reproduction, and, what is equally important, needed for the juices used in the various body processes of stomach, liver, kidney, heart, blood-vessels.

While most of us think of animal proteins as the only proteins, we are learning from outstanding nutritionists that vegetable proteins are also needed in an all-round diet.

In any natural diet, both animal and vegetable foods with their mixed protein content contribute all those essential or needed amino acids, except lysine, which vitamin must be in the diet of the growing child.

In the British Lancet, Dr. D. F. Cuthbertson states that it is now known that repair of tissue where proteins are needed is only possible where all the required acids are available together in the right proportion at the same time. In addition to these proteins the carbohydrates (bread, sugar, potatoes) must be used daily as carbohydrates, in addition to supplying energy, help burn up the proteins, thus making full use of the valuable protein eaten.

It is a remarkable thing that adults have learned to eat about the right proportion of proteins, 14 to 15 per cent of their total intake, but unfortunately many children do not eat enough of them. Also our teen-agers, adolescents, because they can often choose their own diet, do not eat enough proteins and are satisfied with starch foods which, while giving plenty of energy, do not supply the building material or repair material needed at this age.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Instanbul—Musings of an American loose along the highways and byways of Turkey—Most people don't remember it but Turkey once came within a hairsbreadth of slipping into the Soviet orbit. This was after World War I, when Europe spurned the liberator of Turkey, Mustapha Kemal, and Stalin wooed him. . . . All you have to do is walk through the ornate palaces of the Ottoman Empire to see how easy it would have been for Turkey to have gone Communist, for communism comes from extremes—extremes of poverty and wealth. You're not likely to find Norway going Communist because Norwegians have found a middle ground, but in Turkey under the sultans there was the same kind of luxurious living and the same kind of extremes of suffering which existed under czarist Russia.

While Russia went to the violence and bloodshed of communism, however, Turkey, led by its modern hero, Kemal Ataturk—Americans call him Attaboy Turk—escaped with a moderate state socialism.

I Remember Turkey — It has been just 30 years since I was in Turkey. At that time I was a young relief worker in the Balkans and Turkey was occupied by French and British troops. Turkish women then wore veils and it was worth your life to see a woman face to face. Today Turkish women not only have discarded the veils but have become judges and have the same wage rate as men—something they don't have in the U. S. A. . . . Furthermore, it's no longer a sin for a Turkish woman to have gold fillings in her teeth, as was previously banned by the Mohammedan religion, or to call in a doctor when she's sick.

These are some of the things that President Ataturk abolished when he broke the stranglehold of Momammedan priests on Turkey.

George Marshall President of U. S. A.—Some Americans have worried over whether Europe really gave us credit for the Marshall Plan. Turkey is one country where we don't need to worry. Ankara is slightly dull and slightly stuffy but the Turkish Parliament has no diversions other than its work at making democracy live.

Americans in Turkey — There now are about 3,000 Americans in Ankara, most of them doing unique jobs. One is that of Col. Francois D'Elescue of the U. S. The fighting Turks are supposed to be pretty good guerillas themselves, but D'Elescue is giving them new training as a result of Korea. . . . The most important issue now debated in Turkey is whether the hodjas should call to prayer in Turkish or Arabic. . . . This may not sound important but it was Ataturk who wisely divorced religion from the state and decreed that prayers be spoken in Turkish which the people understood and not in Arabic which they don't understand. . . . However, Ataturk's political party lost the election last May and the new Democratic party has permitted the hodjas to go back to Arabic calls to prayer. Also the Koran is now read in Arabic over the radio. This may mean a step backward for Turkey.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 5 — Deep under the surface the real issue in the row between the major labor leaders and Charles E. Wilson, director of defense mobilization, is how the manpower of America shall be allocated—who shall go to war and who shall stay behind.

No more delicate question can arise when a nation demands equality of sacrifice. It is important that the true story be unfolded because, uncorrected and allowed to appear as simply a quarrel over wages or over posts where the labor leaders can be "consulted," it looks just like the same old nasty debate between big business and big labor.

The controversy is in truth over something else. It involves the whole manpower problem on which the American people will want to be fully informed. And of two things the public can be assured—Mr. Wilson isn't going to be intimidated or forced out by the insults and innuendoes of thoughtless labor leaders and Mr. Truman isn't going to be moved by threats of political blackmail such as are being made. Just the other day James B. Carey, secretary treasurer of the CIO, told a union meeting that organized labor may move out of the Democratic party as a consequence of the present mobilization row. This is a strange way to exert pressure in an international crisis.

Mr. Carey happens to be president of the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers and when Mr. Wilson was president of General Electric the two men tangled on labor problems. Mr. Carey carries on his feud at the expense of the country. Other labor leaders go along with him because they see a chance to undermine Mr. Wilson and get labor partisans to rule the draft so that, in effect, local union politicians will interpret the draft rules and influence deferments.

Now the fact is that Charles E. Wilson has severed for all time his connection with General Electric. He is 64 years old and intends to spend the rest of his life in public service. When he demands that the labor leaders either sever their connections and get off union payrolls or select someone who is not tied up with unions to take a top place in the advisory committee he is merely asking for objectivity in government. When Mr. Wilson sits at his desk today he is a representative and spokesman of the government of the United States. When he selected members of the all-important manpower Advisory Committee, he picked to head it someone who was not tied up with either business or the unions—a college president who had made a record in personnel work under the late President Roosevelt as a member of the Civil Service Commission—Arthur Flemming.

Labor partisans assail Mr. Wilson as planning compulsory service of some kind but there is no intention to change the workings of the various operating agencies of the government which deal with manpower. The purpose of the new committee is advisory—to formulate principles for manpower selection fair to everybody. It's too delicate a problem to be handed over to the labor group or business group or any other special group. Mr. Carey does not help the cause of labor nor does he tell the truth when he says that "big business" got a blank check "which gave them complete control over America's domestic economy" and that this was "their price for support of the administration's mobilization effort."

This kind of smearing isn't worthy of any labor leader who professes to be directing labor's policies in time of war. It inevitably provokes dissension and distrust.

But who is this Charles E. Wilson on whom the labor leaders have suddenly centered their attack? He was liberal enough to be chosen vice chairman of the war production board during World War 2 by the late President Roosevelt. He was liberal enough to be chosen by President Truman to head up the National Commission on Civil Rights which minced no words in dealing with the discrimination in America against minority groups. He was liberal enough to be one of the closest friends and advisers that the late President Roosevelt had and his friendship with Mr. Truman is just as intimate.

Mr. Wilson is nobody's tool—neither of business nor of any other group. He is a man of managerial ability who knows the fundamentals of large-scale production and who at the same time is fair and impartial and liberal. But those labor-union leaders who are just as reactionary and indifferent to the public interest today as many big business men were a quarter of a century ago don't want anybody who is fair. They want a partisan and they would drag the defense program into politics and slow down the production effort rather than admit that in an emergency the president of the United States is entitled to select for such an important task as defense mobilization director the best man he can find. Mr. Truman has selected someone who isn't a politician or a demagogue but a man of experience in World War 2 who is willing to give to his country the remaining years of life through disinterested public service. Now labor politicians want to drive him out. This is the kind of battle that special privilege groups cannot be permitted to win.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The same mail that brought me a lecture from the Gazette of Charleston, W. Va., rejecting my belief that our Korean War is a criminal folly brought also a tearsheet from the Chicago Daily News showing that 3,347 readers voted two to one that we should get out "as quickly as possible."

I never rely on popular opinion for comfort or vindication. That is democracy, which I abhor. However, the Gazette is an organ of the ruling Democratic machine. It should respect this two-to-one vote to get out. I roll my own opinions. It makes no difference how many others think our unionism is good or that it can be cured of its evils. Millions of people can be just as wrong as one. And all those are wrong.

The people are not competent to decide the issue of war or peace. That is why the founding fathers rejected democracy and ordained that our states should establish republican governments. In the republic, the voters elect agents or trustees to manage the government for them. There is an understanding that these public servants will be men of superior character and altruistic conscience. George Washington was ideal. F. D. Roosevelt and Truman would represent the other extreme. This is not an appropriate occasion to review all the facts which condemn them as bad men.

Truman was best described by Barney Baruch as "a rude, uncouth, ignorant man." His chivalry, in writing a letter full of criminal implications to a journalist who euphemistically expressed a professional opinion that the President's daughter sang like a screech-owl, is seen to be counterfeit when this outburst is compared to his own rudeness to Mrs. Strom Thurmond in full view of thousands of citizens at his inaugural orgies. A gentleman would have been incapable of the premeditated offense to Mrs. Thurmond.

The best possible face that we can put on these matters is to speculate that President Truman each time had put himself in the bag.

Indeed, the temptation is legitimate to ask one's self whether he was sober when he suddenly made the decision to throw a few companes of riflemen into the Korean War. He had no specific authority from the people of the United States, but I do not hold that in such crisis a President should put the question to a referendum. That, again, would be democracy. But this was touched off by a snap judgment and, for all that we are permitted to know to the contrary, President Truman made his

When General Eisenhower gave the nation his report on European defense, he passed over the problem of German rearmament, saying it was one for the politicians.

Some weeks have gone by since then, and the politicians don't seem to be addressing themselves to this task. It's not just a matter of our needing German military strength in a European defense force. It's that we can't afford to have the Germans be "neutral" or turn toward the Russians.

For years now the Russians and their stooges in East Germany have been holding out to West Germans the glittering lures of national unity, neutrality and peace. In recent months the appeals have been stepped up.

The Bonn government and other West German politicians have spurned these offers as deceptive, and they will probably go on rejecting them. But that shouldn't be allowed to cover the fact that the German people are extremely receptive to such talk.

The appeal of unity to a divided nation is obvious. And to a people who see themselves in the front line of any war between West and East, neutrality and peace are likewise powerful magnets.

A U. S. official in Germany described the effect of this Communist propaganda on those in the western zones: "It is like a fog seeping into a poorly constructed house. You shut the door and close the windows, but it comes in through the cracks in the walls. Unfortunately there are plenty of cracks in the house we have built in Western Germany."

Whatever they may now be saying publicly, officials of the Bonn regime cannot ignore the attitude of the people who support them. If they are yearning for unity and neutrality, the government will have to reflect the fact in its dealings with both East and West.

A four-power conference affecting Germany would almost certainly find Bonn officials divided on the issue of following Western policy.

There is only one way to win the West Germans to the side of the Atlantic pact nations. They must be convinced that we and every other country in the group will contribute unfailingly to the joint task of resisting Soviet aggression.

When a colossus like Russia is at the eastern gate, people close by need above all to have their confidence bolstered. They want assurance that resistance will mean something more than just winning them a top spot on the Communists' purge list. This holds not only for the Germans but for the French and others.

That confidence can only come from a determination of all the threatened countries to stick together and put up a stiff defense; and from a bold display of leadership on somebody's part.

As Eisenhower declared, the United States, by virtue of its youth, its strength, its freedom from past ravages of war, is ideally suited to exert that leadership. Doing so will supply a prime ingredient in the confidence of Western Europe.

Our officials in Germany cannot convince German leaders of our resolve to stand firm in Europe so long as some American lawmakers of influence talk of leaving Europe to its own devices. These legislators should read the latest dispatches from Germany, wherein they may note the heavy price of niggling delay, doubt and uncertainty.

The moisture-laden fog of Russian propaganda is rotting the timbers of our German house. If we don't shore it up soon, it may fall apart and collapse into rubble.

RETURNING COMMON SENSE

One encouraging sign of improving international relations is in the news from Greece. For the first time since the end of the war, Greece and Yugoslavia have restored train service between the two countries. A short time ago they had restored diplomatic relations.

Undoubtedly the cause of this better feeling is a common dread of Russia. Few large nations and no small ones can afford the luxury of more than one enemy.

Motion picture fans who wonder what ever happened to all the old films need worry no longer. They were saved for the television stations.

High school days were wonderful, most men can recall. Then a fellow could get along by shaving once a week.

'These Days'

PREPARATIONS FOR HOT WAR

Wickham Steed is one of the truly great figures in our profession. He is a British journalist of the Old School who had served as the London Times correspondent in many parts of Europe, became its foreign editor and was afterwards its editor.

In a recent article in "The Contemporary Review," he has this to say:

". . . The whole Communist conception of relations with the non-Communist world is one of 'cold' or 'hot' warfare. Meek answers to its hate-inspired vituperation do not turn away wrath; they induce contempt and are ascribed to fear . . . persistent failure to understand its true purpose might even hasten a change from 'cold' to 'hot' war in Europe. The preservation of peace does not lie that way. The Communist preparations for the 'peace conference,' planned for Sheffield and held at Warsaw last November, are a case in point. They were designed as a prelude to 'hot' war in Korea.

"These preparations began at the Moscow 'Peace Congress' in the autumn of 1949. Within a few weeks 'peace committees' sprang up in this country and elsewhere. In them the number of trained and trustworthy accomplices of the Kremlin was kept low as compared with 'fellow travellers' and dupes, while a worthy and, perhaps, unsuspecting president or chairman was recruited as a mask or a decoy. Last January, in a university city, the chairman of one of these toadstool bodies imprudently opened a public controversy which convinced me, and others, that something queer was afoot. Yet I confess I did not see what was afoot until North Korean aggression in the summer gave these 'peace committees' their opportunity to denounce the United States and the United Nations as 'imperialist warmongers.' The purpose of the 'peace' movement was thus revealed. It was to lessen resistance to Kremlinist strategy."

It is of value to provide the testimony of this experienced journalist whose career of observation was begun in Berlin in 1896. More than half a century in this profession sharpens the senses. It is for this reason that such an observer as Karl von Wiegand is more often correct in his diagnosis of the course of events than many of the bright young men who play at outguessing themselves without knowledge or experience.

The danger to our country of these various peace committees and peace movements at the present time lies in the source of their inspiration. It is not peace that they really want, but abject acceptance of the empire-building of the Kremlin. There are some, of course, who innocently parrot the lofty sentiments which clothe the appeals to treachery, but many others so fear the inevitability of Russian success that they would as soon be slaves of Stalin as spend the remainder of their lives struggling and sacrificing for freedom.

Once a business man explained Marxism to me as a movement for land distribution; he even believed that if land were equitably distributed, more people would be able to buy his product!

Recently, in one of those rather intellectual discussions, I raised this point: Suppose, in due course, the Russians manage to produce 100,000,000 tons of steel annually, would it prove that communism is right? And I must say that that question rather stumped some, because to them communism involves a struggle between private enterprise and nationalization of the ownership of production, distribution and exchange.

If that is all that communism means, then we need not get too excited about it because the trend in that direction is almost universal, including our own country. Wickham Steed answers that eloquently:

". . . The liberal tradition . . . upholds the right of individuals to know, to think, to believe, to speak and to act within the framework of just laws freely made. Positively, it accepts differences as contributing to richer life than uniformity. Negatively, it repudiates the hegelian concept of freedom as willing conformity to the dictates of an absolute state deified as 'God's movement on earth.' . . ."

Surely, the struggle is more serious than who owns what. It is over the question of what is the nature of man. Is he to be a free creature, exercising free will, free choice, at his own risk and for his own benefit, or is he a creature to be used by those who have the physical power to use him—that is, shall all of us becomes slaves to those who can use the state to master us?

That is what it is all about.

IMPORTANCE OF PROTEINS

I met one of my old schoolmates recently and he asked me how he looked. I told him he looked well, if not better, than when he was a youngster. He gave me a triumphant smile and said, "Well, I'm a vegetarian!"

I asked him if he drank milk, but I received no answer.

Milk is as much an animal food as meat and from the standpoint of protein (now considered our most valuable food) milk is richer in protein than meat itself.

Protein foods are the source of what is known as the amino acids which are needed for growth, repair, reproduction, and, what is equally important, needed for the juices used in the various body processes of stomach, liver, kidney, heart, blood-vessels.

While most of us think of animal proteins as the only proteins, we are learning from outstanding nutritionists that vegetable proteins are also needed in an all-round diet.

In any natural diet, both animal and vegetable foods with their mixed protein content contribute all those essential or needed amino acids, except lysine, which vitamin must be in the diet of the growing child.

In the British Lancet, Dr. D. F. Cuthbertson states that it is now known that repair of tissue where proteins are needed is only possible where all the required acids are available together in the right proportion at the same time. In addition to these proteins the carbohydrates (bread, sugar, potatoes) must be used daily as carbohydrates, in addition to supplying energy, help burn up the proteins, thus making full use of the valuable protein eaten.

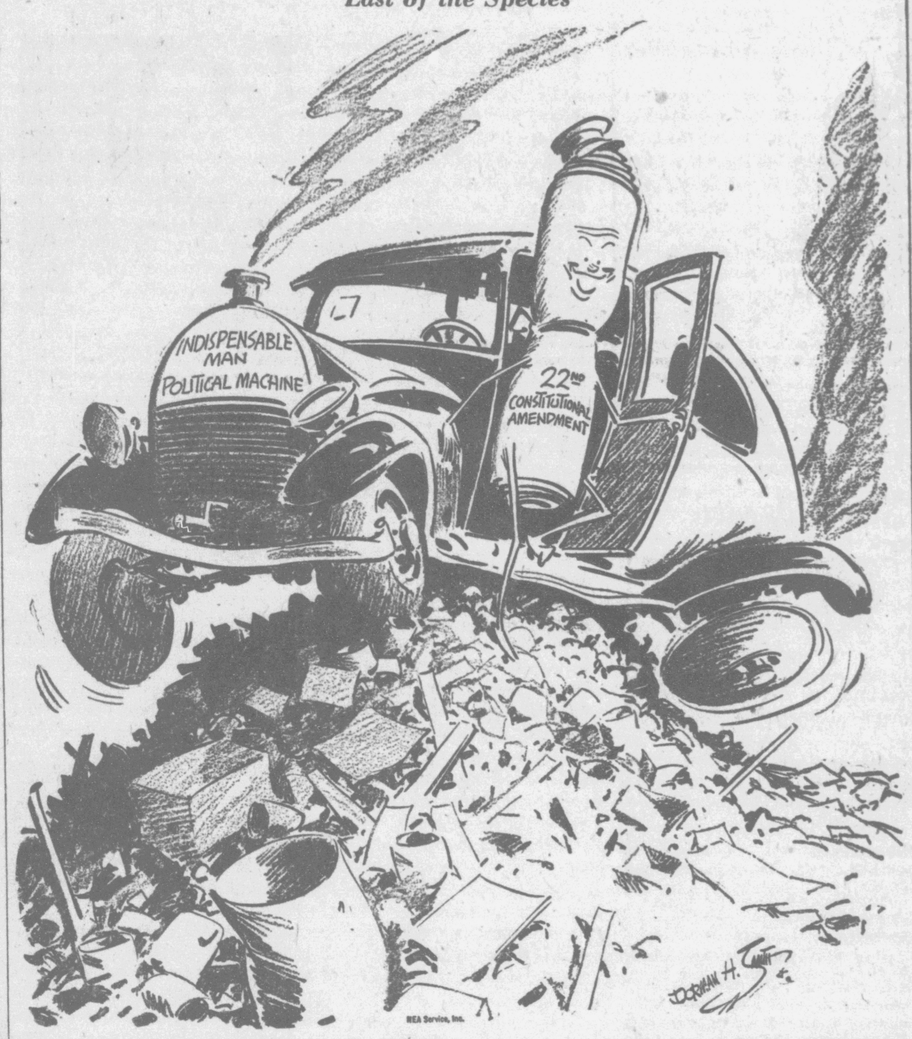

It is a remarkable thing that adults have learned to eat about the right proportion of proteins, 14 to 15 per cent of their total intake, but unfortunately many children do not eat enough of them. Also our teen-agers, adolescents, because they can often choose their own diet, do not eat enough proteins and are satisfied with starch foods which, while giving plenty of energy, do not supply the building material or repair material needed at this age.

Last of the Species

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Instanbul—Musings of an American loose along the highways and byways of Turkey—Most people don't remember it but Turkey once came within a hairsbreadth of slipping into the Soviet orbit. This was after World War I, when Europe spurned the liberator of Turkey, Mustapha Kemal, and Stalin wooed him. . . . All you have to do is walk through the ornate palaces of the Ottoman Empire to see how easy it would have been for Turkey to have gone Communist, for communism comes from extremes—extremes of poverty and wealth. You're not likely to find Norway going Communist because Norwegians have found a middle ground, but in Turkey under the sultans there was the same kind of luxurious living and the same kind of extremes of suffering which existed under czarist Russia.

While Russia went to the violence and bloodshed of communism, however, Turkey, led by its modern hero, Kemal Ataturk—Americans call him Attaboy Turk—escaped with a moderate state socialism.

I Remember Turkey — It has been just 30 years since I was in Turkey. At that time I was a young relief worker in the Balkans and Turkey was occupied by French and British troops. Turkish women then wore veils and it was worth your life to see a woman face to face. Today Turkish women not only have discarded the veils but have become judges and have the same wage rate as men—something they don't have in the U. S. A. . . . Furthermore, it's no longer a sin for a Turkish woman to have gold fillings in her teeth, as was previously banned by the Mohammedan religion, or to call in a doctor when she's sick.

These are some of the things that President Ataturk abolished when he broke the stranglehold of Momammedan priests on Turkey.

George Marshall President of U. S. A.—Some Americans have worried over whether Europe really gave us credit for the Marshall Plan. Turkey is one country where we don't need to worry. Up in northern Turkey a coal miner was asked whether he knew President Truman. He replied he did not and added that he thought Marshall was president of the U. S. A. . . . The Marshall Plan has been given the widest publicity and has done a good job. The ways of buying tractors and organizing farm cooperatives under the Marshall Plan have been explained on the radio until almost every village understands American aid to Turkey.

Turkish Congress—Turkey has gone in for Democracy of the vigorous American brand. I sat in the balcony listening to the debate and, with few exceptions, it sounded like our Senate debate. One was that almost every member of Parliament was in his seat, listening. There was no rattling of newspapers or rude conversaions, as in our House and Senate. Another difference was that the presiding officer wore white tie and tails. Furthermore, Turks really work at parliamentary government, beginning their debates at 10 a. m. and continuing until 2 a. m., unlike our Congress which adjourns at 4 p. m.

The Washington, D. C. of Turkey—One of the smartest things President Ataturk did was remove the Turkish capital from the fleshpot and palaces of Istanbul, just as our founding fathers placed our capital not in New York or Philadelphit but in Washington. Just as the Australians placed their new capital in Canberra, so the new Turkish Republic put its capital in the brand new city of ankara. . . . Here in Istanbul, the civilization of a thousand years has built a city of contrasts—cobblestone streets and modern movie theatres, bazaars where sunlight seldom penetrates and aircooled department stores—all alongside the Bosporus, so peaceful, so placid and so beautiful, yet for which so many thousands of people have given their lives in contrast. . . . Ankara is slightly dull and slightly stuffy but the Turkish Parliament has no diversions other than its work at making democracy live.

Americans in Turkey — There now are about 3,000 Americans in Ankara, most of them doing unique jobs. One is that of Col. Francois D'Elescue of the U. S. Army, who is teaching the Turks guerrilla-warfare tactics. The fighting Turks are supposed to be pretty good guerillas themselves, but D'Elescue is giving them new training as a result of Korea. . . . One American who causes the Turks to raise their eyebrows is U. S. Ambassador George Wadsworth, who plays bridge most of the night and sleeps much of the day. Wadsworth startled Turkish society last month by appearing at a fancy dress ball wearing a fez. This caused many Turks almost to fall over in a faint, for the fez has been banned as a symbol of the past and for a long time it was against the law for any Turk to wear a fez. . . . In contrast, the British ambassador, Sir Noel Charles, had the sense of humor to attend the fancy dress ball dressed as a valet—the famous valet who sold all the secrets of the British Embassy during the war to German Ambassador Franz Von Papen. . . . Von Papen was the German who tried to blow up the International Bridge between Canada and the U. S. and the Welland Canal during World War I. In World War II he was stationed at Istanbul as Nazi ambassador and his wife was approached by a valet to the British ambassador offering to sell highly important secrets. As a result the valet was paid $1,000,000 by the Germans and he produced a photofilm of the minutes of the Tereran and Yalta conferences—The best leak the Nazis ever had of allied war plans. The text the valet delivered turned out to be bona fide, but the money Germans paid him turned out to be counterfeit.

Call to Prayer in Turkey—Five times daily in Mohammedan Turkey, hodjas climb the tall, graceful minarets and call the people to prayer. The most important issue now debated in Turkey is whether the hodjas should call to prayer in Turkish or Arabic. . . . This may not sound important but it was Ataturk who wisely divorced religion from the state and decreed that prayers be spoken in Turkish which the people understood and not in Arabic which they don't understand. . . . However, Ataturk's political party lost the election last May and the new Democratic party has permitted the hodjas to go back to Arabic calls to prayer. Also the Koran is now read in Arabic over the radio. This may mean a step backward for Turkey.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 5 — Deep under the surface the real issue in the row between the major labor leaders and Charles E. Wilson, director of defense mobilization, is how the manpower of America shall be allocated—who shall go to war and who shall stay behind.

No more delicate question can arise when a nation demands equality of sacrifice. It is important that the true story be unfolded because, uncorrected and allowed to appear as simply a quarrel over wages or over posts where the labor leaders can be "consulted," it looks just like the same old nasty debate between big business and big labor.

The controversy is in truth over something else. It involves the whole manpower problem on which the American people will want to be fully informed. And of two things the public can be assured—Mr. Wilson isn't going to be intimidated or forced out by the insults and innuendoes of thoughtless labor leaders and Mr. Truman isn't going to be moved by threats of political blackmail such as are being made. Just the other day James B. Carey, secretary treasurer of the CIO, told a union meeting that organized labor may move out of the Democratic party as a consequence of the present mobilization row. This is a strange way to exert pressure in an international crisis.

Mr. Carey happens to be president of the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers and when Mr. Wilson was president of General Electric the two men tangled on labor problems. Mr. Carey carries on his feud at the expense of the country. Other labor leaders go along with him because they see a chance to undermine Mr. Wilson and get labor partisans to rule the draft so that, in effect, local union politicians will interpret the draft rules and influence deferments.

Now the fact is that Charles E. Wilson has severed for all time his connection with General Electric. He is 64 years old and intends to spend the rest of his life in public service. When he demands that the labor leaders either sever their connections and get off union payrolls or select someone who is not tied up with unions to take a top place in the advisory committee he is merely asking for objectivity in government. When Mr. Wilson sits at his desk today he is a representative and spokesman of the government of the United States. When he selected members of the all-important manpower Advisory Committee, he picked to head it someone who was not tied up with either business or the unions—a college president who had made a record in personnel work under the late President Roosevelt as a member of the Civil Service Commission—Arthur Flemming.

Labor partisans assail Mr. Wilson as planning compulsory service of some kind but there is no intention to change the workings of the various operating agencies of the government which deal with manpower. The purpose of the new committee is advisory—to formulate principles for manpower selection fair to everybody. It's too delicate a problem to be handed over to the labor group or business group or any other special group. Mr. Carey does not help the cause of labor nor does he tell the truth when he says that "big business" got a blank check "which gave them complete control over America's domestic economy" and that this was "their price for support of the administration's mobilization effort."

This kind of smearing isn't worthy of any labor leader who professes to be directing labor's policies in time of war. It inevitably provokes dissension and distrust.

But who is this Charles E. Wilson on whom the labor leaders have suddenly centered their attack? He was liberal enough to be chosen vice chairman of the war production board during World War 2 by the late President Roosevelt. He was liberal enough to be chosen by President Truman to head up the National Commission on Civil Rights which minced no words in dealing with the discrimination in America against minority groups. He was liberal enough to be one of the closest friends and advisers that the late President Roosevelt had and his friendship with Mr. Truman is just as intimate.

Mr. Wilson is nobody's tool—neither of business nor of any other group. He is a man of managerial ability who knows the fundamentals of large-scale production and who at the same time is fair and impartial and liberal. But those labor-union leaders who are just as reactionary and indifferent to the public interest today as many big business men were a quarter of a century ago don't want anybody who is fair. They want a partisan and they would drag the defense program into politics and slow down the production effort rather than admit that in an emergency the president of the United States is entitled to select for such an important task as defense mobilization director the best man he can find. Mr. Truman has selected someone who isn't a politician or a demagogue but a man of experience in World War 2 who is willing to give to his country the remaining years of life through disinterested public service. Now labor politicians want to drive him out. This is the kind of battle that special privilege groups cannot be permitted to win.

The same mail that brought me a lecture from the Gazette of Charleston, W. Va., rejecting my belief that our Korean War is a criminal folly brought also a tearsheet from the Chicago Daily News showing that 3,347 readers voted two to one that we should get out "as quickly as possible."

I never rely on popular opinion for comfort or vindication. That is democracy, which I abhor. However, the Gazette is an organ of the ruling Democratic machine. It should respect this two-to-one vote to get out. I roll my own opinions. It makes no difference how many others think our unionism is good or that it can be cured of its evils. Millions of people can be just as wrong as one. And all those are wrong.

The people are not competent to decide the issue of war or peace. That is why the founding fathers rejected democracy and ordained that our states should establish republican governments. In the republic, the voters elect agents or trustees to manage the government for them. There is an understanding that these public servants will be men of superior character and altruistic conscience. George Washington was ideal. F. D. Roosevelt and Truman would represent the other extreme. This is not an appropriate occasion to review all the facts which condemn them as bad men.

Truman was best described by Barney Baruch as "a rude, uncouth, ignorant man." His chivalry, in writing a letter full of criminal implications to a journalist who euphemistically expressed a professional opinion that the President's daughter sang like a screech-owl, is seen to be counterfeit when this outburst is compared to his own rudeness to Mrs. Strom Thurmond in full view of thousands of citizens at his inaugural orgies. A gentleman would have been incapable of the premeditated offense to Mrs. Thurmond.

The best possible face that we can put on these matters is to speculate that President Truman each time had put himself in the bag.

Indeed, the temptation is legitimate to ask one's self whether he was sober when he suddenly made the decision to throw a few companes of riflemen into the Korean War. He had no specific authority from the people of the United States, but I do not hold that in such crisis a President should put the question to a referendum. That, again, would be democracy. But this was touched off by a snap judgment and, for all that we are permitted to know to the contrary, President Truman made his

Tax Declared Invalid

Albany, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—The proposed federal tax on state and municipal bond interest is unconstitutional in the opinion of New York state's attorney general. Nathaniel L. Goldstein said yesterday that the planned levy also would violate the immunity of states from federal interference in performing "their essential functions." He said he would file a brief with the House Ways and Means Committee, which is conducting hearings in Washington on the proposal by Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder.

Rapid Relief

Relief funds voluntarily contributed to Chicago after the great fire of 1871 were enough to provide temporary shelter for 40,000 persons, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Before the agony and crucifixion of Jesus, there was a brief, bright interval of triumph. Multitudes strewed palm branches in His path when He entered Jerusalem on the day now observed as Palm Sunday, the beginning of Holy Week.

Jesus proceeded to the temple where He overthrew the tables of the moneychangers—"My house shall be called the house of prayer; but ye have made it a den of thieves."

The blind and the lame crowded to the temple. When the chief priests and scribes saw how He healed them, and heard public praise of Him, they were deeply displeased.

own decision. Thus one man pitched this great nation into a tragedy from which now, we are told, it is impossible to extricate our army because the South Koreans would get wind of it, join the enemy and take us in the rear.

I had said that our people had no belly for this war and that we were victims of a madness of the "horribly corrupt Democratic machine which has its center of insanity in Washington."

The gazette said it published my article because its editorial page must achieve balance of thought in fairness to all. That is unfaithful doctrine. An editor has no duty to publish statements which he reasonably believes to be false nor opinions which he has reason to suspect of ulterior motive or which, in his judgment, propagate fallacy. On the contrary, he has a duty to edit. This paper publishes the "column" which is sold under the name of Drew Pearson, although Pearson admittedly does not always write it. The editor is on warning that Pearson is a malicious, intentional, habitual liar, and that he often has served the interests of the Communists, who necessarily are traitors, without tipping his hand. Knowing that, he nevertheless reflects confidence in Pearson by publishing his material.

The Gazette puts me in the company of the Reds, who also want us to get out of Korea. But, in fairness, it admits that I have been a Red-baiter for a long time.

"We have given him credit where credit is due," it says, "but we fail to follow his reasoning in this instance."

If the Gazette believes that Red-baiting is a creditable activity, I fail to follow its reasoning in printing the Pearson material, in view of the substantiated record of his covert propaganda to get army commissions for Communists without letting the Gazette suspect that they were Communist, and in belittling the Amerasia case from the very pump.

Pearson knew what he was doing in the Amerasia case. I didn't know what he was up to at the time and I doubt that the editor of the Gazette knew that Pearson was slipping something over on him and using his paper to deceive his readers in the interest of a gang of traitors and spies holding positions of trust. The Amerasia case has not been solved yet. The Democratic administration has surpressed most of the truth, the original fix was a corrupt plot which led right into the White House.

The war in Korea, which was not authorized by Congress according to our constitutional method, is leading the United States inevitably into of world war which will be fatal to our liberties and our form of government. We should not have gone into Korea. The blood of the 50,000 American men who already have been killed, wounded or lost into a captivity too terrible to conjure, is on the hands of a few reckless incompetent men.

Suppose we had not gone in. The Communists would have gained South Korea, that is all. Now, even though we gain it back after this awful sacrifice by young men and the slaughter of most of two recent West Point classes, we will have to stay there and keep on defending the imbecilic fiction of the 38th Parallel as long as Stalin wants to keep us there.

Another editor, Bill Matthews, of the Arizona Star, recently wrote that he would do his best to organize a rebellion against a total war. That goes for me. And the term "isolationist," which the Gazette uses as an epithet against me, is an honorific. Isolationist? Me? God, yes!

Will Get Hearing

New York, March 5 (AP)—Artist Laszlo Pinter waited in jail today for a hearing April 2 on a charge that he fatally stabbed his military cadet stepson during a family quarrel. The 40-year-old Pinter was arraigned in Felony Court yesterday on a homicide charge. He still wore a woman's coat that helped police capture him Saturday after a night-long search. The stepson, Leonard Allen Fleming, 17, was slain Friday night after intervening in an argument between Pinter and his estranged wife, Christine, 40, police said. Mrs. Pinter, the boy's mother, suffered minor knife wounds.

Fixed Own Funeral Pyre

Greenwood, B. C., March 5 (AP)—The ashes of a logger who prepared his own funeral pyre were found Saturday near a logging camp. Police identified the man as Werner Preetzman, about 55. Police said loggers found several notes left by Preetzman saying they would find "only my rifle barrel." From the cold ashes in which Preetzman's remains were discovered, searchers poked out a rifle barrel.

Search Is Dropped

Clayton, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—Officials of the United States and Canada have discontinued a search for a New York city man, believed to have drowned in the St. Lawrence river. Edward Q. McEvoy, 50, of the Bronx, a New York Times' pressman, was last reported seen Feb. 23, when he was attempting to cross the ice-covered river on skis from Clayton to Sugar Island, near the Canadian shore.

Treated Water Supplies

Editor, The Freeman

After five years of experimenting with treating water it has been proved that the children of Nawburgh who had the worst teeth now have better teeth than the children of Kingston who had the best teeth. I think it high time that the parents of Kingston's children demand that this city's water supply be treated also.

It is a shame to see children six years of age with their permanent molars already half decayed. What about the future health of these children? Are they unimportant because they are Kingstonians?

The children of various country districts are receiving free dental treatments to ward off cavities—but Kingston's children get nothing. Why?

I am naturally interested because I spend much time in Kingston, have many nieces and nephews here as well as friends who have small children and I know they are wondering why they have to sit by and watch their children's teeth decay when every other city in the State of New York is going to benefit by having treated water supplies.

requested Gov. Dewey to set a date when he would receive us, either at Albany or at his Pawling home, so that we could discuss our views more fully.

"In your reply you made no reference at all to this request. We have no assurance that the governor even read our letter."

The jurors' letter, signed by Herz, said that if Dewey could not see them immediately, a date should be set for an open hearing on the Gordon bill calling for an investigation of the state's divorce set-up.

The bill, introduced last month by Assemblywoman Janet Hill Gordon, Chenango county Republican, is to be discussed by the Assembly's ways and means committee in a closed session this week.

In their original letter to Dewey, the jurors said the evidence raid was Mrs. Gehr's only means to obtain a divorce. The state law allows divorce only on the ground of adultery.

"Her husband, Herbert, wakened in alarm at 2 a. m. and, believing marauders were invading his home, grabbed his rifle, fired through two screen doors and killed her," the jurors wrote. "• • • We were convinced that he never aimed at, nor intended to kill her • • •."

The jurors added that the present law is "deplorably antiquated and at times unmoral."

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Citing figures, a State Department official said yesterday Moscow is losing its fight to take over western Europe by "boring from within." Homer M. He said the last several years have brought a reduction in Communist party membership ranging from 30 per cent in France to 84 per cent in Luxembourg.

Three questions to ask about any automatic drive —

In the selection of almost any new car today, one of the main considerations is . . . automatic drive. Just ask these three questions and you'll be sure of getting the most advanced automatic drive of them all . . .

Does it end clutch-pushing and gear-shifting? If the anwser is "No," then it isn't as simple and smooth and safe as a modern automatic drive should be. (In Packard Ultramatic, there's no clutch-pushing—and no gear-shifting anywhere.)

Can I rock it in snow, sand or mud? If the answer is "No," then it isn't as flexible as a modern automatic drive should be. (With Packard Ultramatic Drive, you can change instantly from Forward to Reverse, without clashing.)

Does it cruise in solid, direct drive? If the answer is "No," then it isn't as efficient as a modern automatic drive should be. (Packard Ultramatic Drive lets you cruise in solid, direct drive at all cruising speeds. Result: no gas-wasting slippage, no continuous "racing engine sensation," greater responsiveness.)

On these three counts—and on every count—the most advanced of all the modern automatic drives is Packard's exclusive Ultramatic Drive.

Come in—take the wheel! Within a single city block, Packard Ultramatic Drive can prove its superiority over any other automatic drive you've ever known!

Three questions to ask about any automatic drive —

In the selection of almost any new car today, one of the main considerations is . . . automatic drive. Just ask these three questions and you'll be sure of getting the most advanced automatic drive of them all . . .

Does it end clutch-pushing and gear-shifting? If the anwser is "No," then it isn't as simple and smooth and safe as a modern automatic drive should be. (In Packard Ultramatic, there's no clutch-pushing—and no gear-shifting anywhere.)

Can I rock it in snow, sand or mud? If the answer is "No," then it isn't as flexible as a modern automatic drive should be. (With Packard Ultramatic Drive, you can change instantly from Forward to Reverse, without clashing.)

Does it cruise in solid, direct drive? If the answer is "No," then it isn't as efficient as a modern automatic drive should be. (Packard Ultramatic Drive lets you cruise in solid, direct drive at all cruising speeds. Result: no gas-wasting slippage, no continuous "racing engine sensation," greater responsiveness.)

On these three counts—and on every count—the most advanced of all the modern automatic drives is Packard's exclusive Ultramatic Drive.

Tax Declared Invalid

Albany, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—The proposed federal tax on state and municipal bond interest is unconstitutional in the opinion of New York state's attorney general. Nathaniel L. Goldstein said yesterday that the planned levy also would violate the immunity of states from federal interference in performing "their essential functions." He said he would file a brief with the House Ways and Means Committee, which is conducting hearings in Washington on the proposal by Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder.

Rapid Relief

Relief funds voluntarily contributed to Chicago after the great fire of 1871 were enough to provide temporary shelter for 40,000 persons, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

THE WAY TO CALVARY

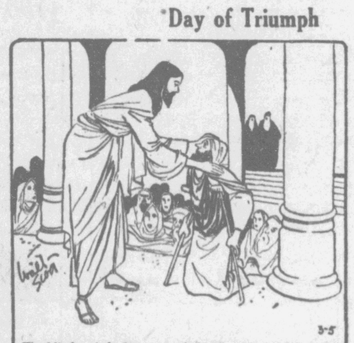

Before the agony and crucifixion of Jesus, there was a brief, bright interval of triumph. Multitudes strewed palm branches in His path when He entered Jerusalem on the day now observed as Palm Sunday, the beginning of Holy Week.

COPR. 1951 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

Jesus proceeded to the temple where He overthrew the tables of the moneychangers—"My house shall be called the house of prayer; but ye have made it a den of thieves."

Day of Triumph

The blind and the lame crowded to the temple. When the chief priests and scribes saw how He healed them, and heard public praise of Him, they were deeply displeased.

own decision. Thus one man pitched this great nation into a tragedy from which now, we are told, it is impossible to extricate our army because the South Koreans would get wind of it, join the enemy and take us in the rear.

I had said that our people had no belly for this war and that we were victims of a madness of the "horribly corrupt Democratic machine which has its center of insanity in Washington."

The gazette said it published my article because its editorial page must achieve balance of thought in fairness to all. That is unfaithful doctrine. An editor has no duty to publish statements which he reasonably believes to be false nor opinions which he has reason to suspect of ulterior motive or which, in his judgment, propagate fallacy. On the contrary, he has a duty to edit. This paper publishes the "column" which is sold under the name of Drew Pearson, although Pearson admittedly does not always write it. The editor is on warning that Pearson is a malicious, intentional, habitual liar, and that he often has served the interests of the Communists, who necessarily are traitors, without tipping his hand. Knowing that, he nevertheless reflects confidence in Pearson by publishing his material.

The Gazette puts me in the company of the Reds, who also want us to get out of Korea. But, in fairness, it admits that I have been a Red-baiter for a long time.

"We have given him credit where credit is due," it says, "but we fail to follow his reasoning in this instance."

If the Gazette believes that Red-baiting is a creditable activity, I fail to follow its reasoning in printing the Pearson material, in view of the substantiated record of his covert propaganda to get army commissions for Communists without letting the Gazette suspect that they were Communist, and in belittling the Amerasia case from the very pump.

Pearson knew what he was doing in the Amerasia case. I didn't know what he was up to at the time and I doubt that the editor of the Gazette knew that Pearson was slipping something over on him and using his paper to deceive his readers in the interest of a gang of traitors and spies holding positions of trust. The Amerasia case has not been solved yet. The Democratic administration has surpressed most of the truth, the original fix was a corrupt plot which led right into the White House.

The war in Korea, which was not authorized by Congress according to our constitutional method, is leading the United States inevitably into of world war which will be fatal to our liberties and our form of government. We should not have gone into Korea. The blood of the 50,000 American men who already have been killed, wounded or lost into a captivity too terrible to conjure, is on the hands of a few reckless incompetent men.

Suppose we had not gone in. The Communists would have gained South Korea, that is all. Now, even though we gain it back after this awful sacrifice by young men and the slaughter of most of two recent West Point classes, we will have to stay there and keep on defending the imbecilic fiction of the 38th Parallel as long as Stalin wants to keep us there.

Another editor, Bill Matthews, of the Arizona Star, recently wrote that he would do his best to organize a rebellion against a total war. That goes for me. And the term "isolationist," which the Gazette uses as an epithet against me, is an honorific. Isolationist? Me? God, yes!

Will Get Hearing

New York, March 5 (AP)—Artist Laszlo Pinter waited in jail today for a hearing April 2 on a charge that he fatally stabbed his military cadet stepson during a family quarrel. The 40-year-old Pinter was arraigned in Felony Court yesterday on a homicide charge. He still wore a woman's coat that helped police capture him Saturday after a night-long search. The stepson, Leonard Allen Fleming, 17, was slain Friday night after intervening in an argument between Pinter and his estranged wife, Christine, 40, police said. Mrs. Pinter, the boy's mother, suffered minor knife wounds.

Fixed Own Funeral Pyre

Greenwood, B. C., March 5 (AP)—The ashes of a logger who prepared his own funeral pyre were found Saturday near a logging camp. Police identified the man as Werner Preetzman, about 55. Police said loggers found several notes left by Preetzman saying they would find "only my rifle barrel." From the cold ashes in which Preetzman's remains were discovered, searchers poked out a rifle barrel.

Search Is Dropped

Clayton, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—Officials of the United States and Canada have discontinued a search for a New York city man, believed to have drowned in the St. Lawrence river. Edward Q. McEvoy, 50, of the Bronx, a New York Times' pressman, was last reported seen Feb. 23, when he was attempting to cross the ice-covered river on skis from Clayton to Sugar Island, near the Canadian shore.

News of Our Own Service Folks

To Re-Enter Service

Woodstock, March 1 — George Hartt, Woodstock, who saw active service in World War 2 for five and a half years, will leave March 8 to re-enter the service at Fort Hood, Tex.

Hartt, who has been in the reserve, served in the last war first in the signal intelligence company as a technical sergeant. In 1943 he went to O.C.S. at Fort Monmouth, N. J., and received his second lieutenant's commission. He was assigned to the air force at Northern Field, Tenn., in the Third Air Force. After a year, he was sent overseas and served in General Eisenhower's headquarters in the European Theatre of Operations. While overseas, he received his captain's commission, and divided his time between England, France and Belgium. He was on his way to Japan when the war ended.

A farewell party was given for Hartt last week by members of his family.

Attending Course

Captain M. Donald Lane, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Donald Lane, 36 Mountain View avenue, is attending the regular course at the Maxwell Air Force Base in Alabama, it was announced today by Col. Leslie G. Mulzer, commandant.

Captain Lane served in the Pacific during World War 2 and last served at El Toro, Calif.

The regular course is of three and one-half months duration and is offered by the Air Command Staff School three times each year. Its mission is to provide selected officers with an effective and progressive approach to command and staff duties with air force groups and wings.

Treated Water Supplies

Editor, The Freeman

After five years of experimenting with treating water it has been proved that the children of Nawburgh who had the worst teeth now have better teeth than the children of Kingston who had the best teeth. I think it high time that the parents of Kingston's children demand that this city's water supply be treated also.

It is a shame to see children six years of age with their permanent molars already half decayed. What about the future health of these children? Are they unimportant because they are Kingstonians?

The children of various country districts are receiving free dental treatments to ward off cavities—but Kingston's children get nothing. Why?

I am naturally interested because I spend much time in Kingston, have many nieces and nephews here as well as friends who have small children and I know they are wondering why they have to sit by and watch their children's teeth decay when every other city in the State of New York is going to benefit by having treated water supplies.

Sincerely yours,
MRS. FRANCIS T. O'BRIEN

Putnam Jurors

requested Gov. Dewey to set a date when he would receive us, either at Albany or at his Pawling home, so that we could discuss our views more fully.

"In your reply you made no reference at all to this request. We have no assurance that the governor even read our letter."

The jurors' letter, signed by Herz, said that if Dewey could not see them immediately, a date should be set for an open hearing on the Gordon bill calling for an investigation of the state's divorce set-up.

The bill, introduced last month by Assemblywoman Janet Hill Gordon, Chenango county Republican, is to be discussed by the Assembly's ways and means committee in a closed session this week.

In their original letter to Dewey, the jurors said the evidence raid was Mrs. Gehr's only means to obtain a divorce. The state law allows divorce only on the ground of adultery.

"Her husband, Herbert, wakened in alarm at 2 a. m. and, believing marauders were invading his home, grabbed his rifle, fired through two screen doors and killed her," the jurors wrote. "* * * We were convinced that he never aimed at, nor intended to kill her * * *."

The jurors added that the present law is "deplorably antiquated and at times unmoral."

New Korean Casualties

Washington, March 5 (AP)—The Defense Department today identified 385 additional casualties of the war in Korea. The 242nd list issued since the start of hostilities named 85 killed, 261 wounded, five missing in action and 34 injured in accidents.

Says Moscow Losing Fight

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Citing figures, a State Department official said yesterday Moscow is losing its fight to take over western Europe by "boring from within." Homer M. Byington, Jr., director of the department's Office of Western European Affairs, gave the figures on the NBC television program, "battle report." He said the last several years have brought a reduction in Communist party membership ranging from 30 per cent in France to 84 per cent in Luxembourg.

Connelly Reviews Red Cross Orgin For Fund Workers

Attorney Vincent G. Connelly, Ulster county chairman for the 1951 Red Cross campaign, recently reviewed some of the background and work of the Red Cross to a group of workers at Red Cross headquarters on Clinton avenue. He said:

"The American Red Cross is a voluntary organization of the American people, chartered by Congress to perform various humanitarian services at home and abroad, in war and peace.

Started in 1864

"The Red Cross movement originated in Europe in 1864, when 16 governments convened in Geneva to consider conventions providing for the care of the sick and wounded of armies in time of war. Eighteen years later our government ratified this treaty and the American Red Cross was organized. The leaders of the newly established society immediately broadened its purpose to include caring for the injured and providing relief in major disasters.

"Under its charter from Congress given in 1905, the American Red Cross is obligated to: Furnish volunteer aid to the sick and wounded of armies in time of war; act in matters of voluntary relief and as a medium of communication between the people of the United States and their army and navy; carry on a system of national and international relief in time of peace and mitigate the sufferings caused by pestilence, famine, fire, floods and other calamities and to devise and carry out means for preventing such catastrophes.

Support Is Voluntary

"The Red Cross is supported entirely by voluntary contributions of individuals and organizations. It receives no financial support from the government. Its work is carried forward by thousands of volunteer workers in cooperation with a small trained professional staff. Volunteers are the lifeblood of the Red Cross and the ratio of volunteers to paid staff is about 100 to 1.

"There are various programs and services of the American Red cross designed to meet its national obligations. Through its vast network of chapters, the resources of the entire organization are available in emergencies to every community of the nation.

Aids Disaster Victims

"In its disaster service, the Red Cross provides food, clothing, shelter, medical and nursing care during the first phase of the emergency, and long term aid, such as extended medical care, repairing or rebuilding homes, replacing home furnishings, farm equipment, livestock and poultry. The Red Cross disaster service operated in the Town of Shandaken in our own county after the floods of last November.

"In its service to the armed forces, field directors stationed at military posts and military hospitals, at home and abroad, and a nationwide chain of Red Cross chapters help servicemen solve personal problems that cause them distress. Financial help is given through loans or outright grants on the basis of need. Medically approved recreation, personal services and comfort articles are provided for thousands of patients in military hospitals.

Assistance to Veterans

"The Red Cross also has a service to all veterans. It provides help in personal and family problems; financial assistance for disabled benefits pending receipt of government benefits; assistance in developing and presenting claims to the Veterans Administration. Field directors and trained chapter volunteers help hospital staffs in medical, recreational and welfare programs.

"In its health and safety program, the Red Cross, provides, without cost, a broad program of instruction and consulative service in first aid and accident prevention, swimming and lifesaving, food and nutrition, home nursing, and preparation of nurses aides for services in hospitals and clinics. Adequate nursing care is assured for disasters and epidemics, and nurses are enrolled for service in other community health projects.

"About the most important service of the Red Cross today is the collection of blood plasma for our troops in Korea. The Red Cross has been selected by the government because of the fact that it has roots in every American community to collect blood plasma not only for all military needs but also for civilian defense.

"With the increasingly perilous world situation the Red Cross must be mobilized and ready. The quota for this year's campaign is 20 per cent more than that of last year, and only by a generous response will Ulster county reach its quota of some $37,000," he concluded.

Lo the Poor Indian!

By FRANK TRIPP

Sagoyewatha was his Indian name; Red Jacket, the white man called him. He was chief of the Wolf Tribe of the Senecas; was born near Geneva, N. Y., and lived 1751-1830. As an old man he was answering a missionary who wished to preach among his people. He said:

"Friend and Brother—It is the will of the Great Spirit that we should meet together this day. He orders all things and has given us a fine day for our council. For all things we thank the Great Spirit and him only.

"Brother, listen to what we say. There was a time when our forefathers owned this great land. The Great Spirit had made it for the use of Indians. He had created the buffalo, deer and other animals for food. He had made the bear and beaver. Their skins served us for clothing. He had scattered them over the earth and taught us how to take them. He had caused the earth to produce corn for bread. All this he had done for his red children, because he loved them.

"But an evil day came upon us. Your forefathers crossed the great water and landed on this island. They told us they had fled from their own country for fear of wicked men and had come here to enjoy their religion. They asked for a small seat (land). We took pity on them and granted their request and they sat down among us. We gave them corn and meat; they gave us poison in return.

"MORE CAME among us. Yet we did not fear them. We took them to be friends. They called us brothers. We believed them and gave them larger seat. At length their numbers greatly increased. They wanted more land. They wanted our country. Our eyes were opened and our minds became uneasy.

"Wars took place. Indians were hired to fight against Indians and many of our people were destroyed. They also brought strong liquor among us. It was strong and powerful and has slain thousands.

"Brother—Our seats were once large and yours were small. You have now become a great people and we have scarcely a place left to spread our blankets. You have got our country but are not satisfied; you want to force your religion among us.

"Brother, continue to listen. You say that you are sent to instruct us how to worship the Great Spirit agreeably to his mind. We only know what you tell us. How shall we know when to believe, being so often deceived by the white people? You say there is but one way to worship and serve the Great Spirit. If there is but one religion why do you white people differ so much about it?

"BROTHER—We do not understand these things. We also have a religion which was given to our forefathers and handed down to their children. It teaches us to be thankful for what we receive, to love each other and to be united. We never quarrel about religion.

"Brother — The Great Spirit made us all. Since he made so great a difference between us in other things, why may we not conclude that he has given us a different religion according to our understanding? The Great Spirit does right; he knows what is best for his children. We are satisfied. We do not wish to destroy your religion. We only wish to enjoy our own.

"Brother—We are told that you have been preaching to the white people in this place. We know these people. We will wait a little while and see what effect your preaching has upon them. If we find it does them good, makes them honest and less disposed to cheat Indians, we will then consider again of what you have said."

So saying, Red Jacket concluded: "We take you by the hand and hope the Great Spirit will protect you on your journey and return you safe to your friends."

Report to Metropolitan Policyholders for 1950

ANOTHER YEAR OF OUTSTANDING SERVICE

THERE COULD BE no better summary of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's activities and achievements during 1950 than the following message with which President Charles G. Taylor, Jr. opens the Company's Annual Report to Policyholders.

"You have every reason to be pleased with the results of the operation of Metropolitan in 1950.

"The major test of a Life insurance company's value to the public is in the payment of benefits to policyholders and beneficiaries and in the increase of the insurance protection which the company affords them. New high records in each respect were made in 1950.

"Metropolitan has been able to maintain this year, with minor modifications, the prevailing dividend scales. The Company has also made appropriate additions to surplus funds and contingency reserves held for the protection of policyholders. This means that, with very few exceptions, individual policyholders' dividends will be equal to, or greater than, the dividends paid last year. It is gratifying to report that, notwithstanding increased costs due to inflationary trends which have affected every business and every individual, Metropolitan has thus continued its low cost record."

Whether or not you are a policyholder in the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, you will find the 1950 "Annual Report to Policyholders" interesting and informative. If you would like to have this booklet, simply fill in and mail the coupon below. A copy will be sent to you without charge.

Connelly Reviews Red Cross Orgin For Fund Workers

Attorney Vincent G. Connelly, Ulster county chairman for the 1951 Red Cross campaign, recently reviewed some of the background and work of the Red Cross to a group of workers at Red Cross headquarters on Clinton avenue. He said:

"The American Red Cross is a voluntary organization of the American people, chartered by Congress to perform various humanitarian services at home and abroad, in war and peace.

Started in 1864

"The Red Cross movement originated in Europe in 1864, when 16 governments convened in Geneva to consider conventions providing for the care of the sick and wounded of armies in time of war. Eighteen years later our government ratified this treaty and the American Red Cross was organized. The leaders of the newly established society immediately broadened its purpose to include caring for the injured and providing relief in major disasters.

"Under its charter from Congress given in 1905, the American Red Cross is obligated to: Furnish volunteer aid to the sick and wounded of armies in time of war; act in matters of voluntary relief and as a medium of communication between the people of the United States and their army and navy; carry on a system of national and international relief in time of peace and mitigate the sufferings caused by pestilence, famine, fire, floods and other calamities and to devise and carry out means for preventing such catastrophes.

Support Is Voluntary

"The Red Cross is supported entirely by voluntary contributions of individuals and organizations. It receives no financial support from the government. Its work is carried forward by thousands of volunteer workers in cooperation with a small trained professional staff. Volunteers are the lifeblood of the Red Cross and the ratio of volunteers to paid staff is about 100 to 1.

"There are various programs and services of the American Red cross designed to meet its national obligations. Through its vast network of chapters, the resources of the entire organization are available in emergencies to every community of the nation.

Aids Disaster Victims

"In its disaster service, the Red Cross provides food, clothing, shelter, medical and nursing care during the first phase of the emergency, and long term aid, such as extended medical care, repairing or rebuilding homes, replacing home furnishings, farm equipment, livestock and poultry. The Red Cross disaster service operated in the Town of Shandaken in our own county after the floods of last November.

"In its service to the armed forces, field directors stationed at military posts and military hospitals, at home and abroad, and a nationwide chain of Red Cross chapters help servicemen solve personal problems that cause them distress. Financial help is given through loans or outright grants on the basis of need. Medically approved recreation, personal services and comfort articles are provided for thousands of patients in military hospitals.

Assistance to Veterans

"The Red Cross also has a service to all veterans. It provides help in personal and family problems; financial assistance for disabled benefits pending receipt of government benefits; assistance in developing and presenting claims to the Veterans Administration. Field directors and trained chapter volunteers help hospital staffs in medical, recreational and welfare programs.

"In its health and safety program, the Red Cross provides, without cost, a broad program of instruction and consulative service in first aid and accident prevention, swimming and lifesaving, food and nutrition, home nursing, and preparation of nurses aides for services in hospitals and clinics. Adequate nursing care is assured for disasters and epidemics, and nurses are enrolled for service in other community health projects.

"About the most important service of the Red Cross today is the collection of blood plasma for our troops in Korea. The Red Cross has been selected by the government because of the fact that it has roots in every American community to collect blood plasma not only for all military needs but also for civilian defense.

"With the increasingly perilous world situation the Red Cross must be mobilized and ready. The quota for this year's campaign is 20 per cent more than that of last year, and only by a generous response will Ulster county reach its quota of some $37,000," he concluded.

Lo the Poor Indian!

By FRANK TRIPP

Sagoyewatha was his Indian name; Red Jacket, the white man called him. He was chief of the Wolf Tribe of the Senecas; was born near Geneva, N. Y., and lived 1751-1830. As an old man he was answering a missionary who wished to preach among his people. He said:

"Friend and Brother—It is the will of the Great Spirit that we should meet together this day. He orders all things and has given us a fine day for our council. For all things we thank the Great Spirit and him only.

"Brother, listen to what we say. There was a time when our forefathers owned this great land. The Great Spirit had made it for the use of Indians. He had created the buffalo, deer and other animals for food. He had made the bear and beaver. Their skins served us for clothing. He had scattered them over the earth and taught us how to take them. He had caused the earth to produce corn for bread. All this he had done for his red children, because he loved them.

"But an evil day came upon us. Your forefathers crossed the great water and landed on this island. They told us they had fled from their own country for fear of wicked men and had come here to enjoy their religion. They asked for a small seat (land). We took pity on them and granted their request and they sat down among us. We gave them corn and meat; they gave us poison in return.

"MORE CAME among us. Yet we did not fear them. We took them to be friends. They called us brothers. We believed them and gave them larger seat. At length their numbers greatly increased. They wanted more land. They wanted our country. Our eyes were opened and our minds became uneasy.

"Wars took place. Indians were hired to fight against Indians and many of our people were destroyed. They also brought strong liquor among us. It was strong and powerful and has slain thousands.

"Brother—Our seats were once large and yours were small. You have now become a great people and we have scarcely a place left to spread our blankets. You have got our country but are not satisfied; you want to force your religion among us.

"Brother, continue to listen. You say that you are sent to instruct us how to worship the Great Spirit agreeably to his mind. We only know what you tell us. How shall we know when to believe, being so often deceived by the white people? You say there is but one way to worship and serve the Great Spirit. If there is but one religion why do you white people differ so much about it?

"BROTHER—We do not understand these things. We also have a religion which was given to our forefathers and handed down to their children. It teaches us to be thankful for what we receive, to love each other and to be united. We never quarrel about religion.

"Brother — The Great Spirit made us all. Since he made so great a difference between us in other things, why may we not conclude that he has given us a different religion according to our understanding? The Great Spirit does right; he knows what is best for his children. We are satisfied. We do not wish to destroy your religion. We only wish to enjoy our own.

"Brother—We are told that you have been preaching to the white people in this place. We know these people. We will wait a little while and see what effect your preaching has upon them. If we find it does them good, makes them honest and less disposed to cheat Indians, we will then consider again of what you have said."

So saying, Red Jacket concluded: "We take you by the hand and hope the Great Spirit will protect you on your journey and return you safe to your friends."

Strike Called Off

New York, March 5 (AP)—The CIO International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) yesterday called off a threatened strike against the General Electric Company. No date had been set for the walkout. A union spokesman said the strike was averted because of the modification of the government wage freeze order, permitting certain cost-of-living wage increases. The salary boosts apply if contracts containing escalator clauses were written before the freeze.

Assistance to Veterans

"The Red Cross also has a service to all veterans. It provides help in personal and family problems; financial assistance for disabled benefits pending receipt of government benefits; assistance in developing and presenting claims to the Veterans Administration. Field directors and trained chapter volunteers help hospital staffs in medical, recreational and welfare programs.

"In its health and safety program, the Red Cross, provides, without cost, a broad program of instruction and consulative service in first aid and accident prevention, swimming and lifesaving, food and nutrition, home nursing, and preparation of nurses aides for services in hospitals and clinics. Adequate nursing care is assured for disasters and epidemics, and nurses are enrolled for service in other community health projects.

"About the most important service of the Red Cross today is the collection of blood plasma for our troops in Korea. The Red Cross has been selected by the government because of the fact that it has roots in every American community to collect blood plasma not only for all military needs but also for civilian defense.

"With the increasingly perilous world situation the Red Cross must be mobilized and ready. The quota for this year's campaign is 20 per cent more than that of last year, and only by a generous response will Ulster county reach its quota of some $37,000," he concluded.

Lo the Poor Indian!

By FRANK TRIPP

Sagoyewatha was his Indian name; Red Jacket, the white man called him. He was chief of the Wolf Tribe of the Senecas; was born near Geneva, N. Y., and lived 1751-1830. As an old man he was answering a missionary who wished to preach among his people. He said:

"Friend and Brother—It is the will of the Great Spirit that we should meet together this day. He orders all things and has given us a fine day for our council. For all things we thank the Great Spirit and him only.

"Brother, listen to what we say. There was a time when our forefathers owned this great land. The Great Spirit had made it for the use of Indians. He had created the buffalo, deer and other animals for food. He had made the bear and beaver. Their skins served us for clothing. He had scattered them over the earth and taught us how to take them. He had caused the earth to produce corn for bread. All this he had done for his red children, because he loved them.

"But an evil day came upon us. Your forefathers crossed the great water and landed on this island. They told us they had fled from their own country for fear of wicked men and had come here to enjoy their religion. They asked for a small seat (land). We took pity on them and granted their request and they sat down among us. We gave them corn and meat; they gave us poison in return.

"MORE CAME among us. Yet we did not fear them. We took them to be friends. They called us brothers. We believed them and gave them larger seat. At length their numbers greatly increased. They wanted more land. They wanted our country. Our eyes were opened and our minds became uneasy.

"Wars took place. Indians were hired to fight against Indians and many of our people were destroyed. They also brought strong liquor among us. It was strong and powerful and has slain thousands.

"Brother—Our seats were once large and yours were small. You have now become a great people and we have scarcely a place left to spread our blankets. You have got our country but are not satisfied; you want to force your religion among us.

"Brother, continue to listen. You say that you are sent to instruct us how to worship the Great Spirit agreeably to his mind. We only know what you tell us. How shall we know when to believe, being so often deceived by the white people? You say there is but one way to worship and serve the Great Spirit. If there is but one religion why do you white people differ so much about it?

"BROTHER—We do not understand these things. We also have a religion which was given to our forefathers and handed down to their children. It teaches us to be thankful for what we receive, to love each other and to be united. We never quarrel about religion.

"Brother — The Great Spirit made us all. Since he made so great a difference between us in other things, why may we not conclude that he has given us a different religion according to our understanding? The Great Spirit does right; he knows what is best for his children. We are satisfied. We do not wish to destroy your religion. We only wish to enjoy our own.

"Brother—We are told that you have been preaching to the white people in this place. We know these people. We will wait a little while and see what effect your preaching has upon them. If we find it does them good, makes them honest and less disposed to cheat Indians, we will then consider again of what you have said."

So saying, Red Jacket concluded: "We take you by the hand and hope the Great Spirit will protect you on your journey and return you safe to your friends."

Strike Called Off

New York, March 5 (AP)—The CIO International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) yesterday called off a threatened strike against the General Electric Company. No date had been set for the walkout. A union spokesman said the strike was averted because of the modification of the government wage freeze order, permitting certain cost-of-living wage increases. The salary boosts apply if contracts containing escalator clauses were written before the freeze.

Report to Metropolitan Policyholders for 1950

ANOTHER YEAR OF OUTSTANDING SERVICE

THERE COULD BE no better summary of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's activities and achievements during 1950 than the following message with which President Charles G. Taylor, Jr. opens the Company's Annual Report to Policyholders.

"You have every reason to be pleased with the results of the operation of Metropolitan in 1950.

"The major test of a Life insurance company's value to the public is in the payment of benefits to policyholders and beneficiaries and in the increase of the insurance protection which the company affords them. New high records in each respect were made in 1950.

"Metropolitan has been able to maintain this year, with minor modifications, the prevailing dividend scales. The Company has also made appropriate additions to surplus funds and contingency reserves held for the protection of policyholders. This means that, with very few exceptions, individual policyholders' dividends will be equal to, or greater than, the dividends paid last year. It is gratifying to report that, notwithstanding increased costs due to inflationary trends which have affected every business and every individual, Metropolitan has thus continued its low cost record."

Whether or not you are a policyholder in the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, you will find the 1950 "Annual Report to Policyholders" interesting and informative. If you would like to have this booklet, simply fill in and mail the coupon below. A copy will be sent to you without charge.

Col. Gordon Reel Discusses Hudson River History at D.A.R. Meeting on Thursday

Guest speaker Col. Gordon Reel, who was introduced by Mrs. Maynard Mizel, gave an informal account at the Thursday meeting of Wiltwyck Chapter, D.A.R., of the historical background and beauties of the Hudson river. Although he had known several other large rivers intimately, he said, none of them could compare with the beauty and majesty of the Hudson.

Delving into the Hudson's history, the speaker told the group that the earliest mention of the river was by an Italian in the early 16th century and traced much colonial history connected with the river.

Solo Selections

Following Colonel Reel, Mrs. Ralph Harper, introduced and accompanied by Mrs. C. Franklin Pierce, sang "A Spirit Flower," by Louis Campbell-Tipton; "When I Have Sung My Songs," by Ernest Charles; and "Thine Alone," from "Eileen," by Victor Herbert.

Mrs. Adam Porter, regent, presided at the business meeting, and spoke of the new storm windows on the chapter house. It was announced that Mrs. Ethel Sweet has been accepted for membership in the chapter, and that donations were made to the local Red Cross chapter, to the national chairman of the D.A.R. Museum in Washington, and to the state chairman of the Junior American Citizens.

Meanwhile on Friday a nationalization court was held in the Ulster County Court House, when Mrs. Claude Palen, Americanism chairman, presented an American flag to each of the 30 new citizens.

Miss Idella Hyde announced that 154 citizenship manuals have been distributed this year to the churches, schools, and factories. Mrs. Alwin Feuerstein has made 22 articles of babies' clothing, and Mrs. Arthur D. Monell has collected approximately 20 other items to send to Indian babies on the Tascara Reservation at Sanborn.

Vote Presentation

The Chapter voted to present Mrs. Emily Crane Chadbourne, president of the Senate House Museum, with the February issue of the D.A.R. magazine, which has as its frontispiece a reproduction of "George Washington's Last Interview with His Mother . . . . April 1789" painted by William Herry Powell. The painting hangs in the Senate House Museum.

Mrs. Harry Rigby, chairman of national defense, read an article on the opposition and an excerpt from Herbert Hoover's speech in which he said "America is the last bulwark against communism, and it must be kept strong."

Mrs. Porter, a member of the 300th Anniversary Celebration of Kingston Committee, announced she has pledged Wiltwyck Chapter's support, and Mrs. R. R. Empringham requested all members to save soap and milk coupons for the C.A.R.'s use.

Chairmen Introduced

Mrs. C. L. Dumm, general chairman of the seventh annual colonial bazaar and card party, to be held March 14, introduced the chairmen of the various booths. Mrs. G. N. Wood announced that her committee had made approximately 40 aprons, with many more expected. Mrs. Arthur Quimby reported that she will have a large choice of packages from all over the country. Other assurances came from Mrs. Herman Schwenk and Mrs. William Hookey, co-chairmen of the food booth. The C.A.R. will have a candy table, and Mrs. W. Dean Hays a bargain table of books. Mrs. R. R. Gross, and Mrs. Clair Sheaffer will preside at a "Betsey Ross Tea" to which all friends of the chapter are invited. The card games, with Mrs. Mizel's committee in charge, will begin at 1:30 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. with Mrs. C. Terwilliger, and Mrs. W. Dale Swartzmiller serving dessert. Reservations should be made with Mrs. Mizel at 2666.

Mrs. Porter announced that Mrs. William Pouch, honorary president general, N.S.D.A.R., will be the guest at the Junior Committee's April 2 meeting, and of the C.A.R. April 3. All chapter members are invited to attend the dinner for Mrs. Pouch April 2.

The next regular meeting will be a spring luncheon held at the chapter house April 5. Mrs. Kenneth G. Maybe of Albany, state chairman of national defense, will be the guest speaker.

Hostesses for the tea which followed the meeting were the Mmes. John D. Groves, R. H. D. Boerker, and G. N. Wood. Mrs. Mizel poured.

Study in Emotion

Ex-Maverick Group Presents Startling Arena Production, 'Dark of the Moon'

A wonderfully weird tale, a set of circumstances that belie belief, an experience in the supernatural, with all its overtones of mixed faith and futility are the qualities which best typify the Loft Players' ambitious undertaking, "Dark of the Moon." The nine-scene, arena-style production, scheduled to run through March 10, is the players' first theatre venture in their new Greenwich Village home, "Circle in the Square."

To the uninitiated, an arena-style production is, in itself, an experience. Here, in an informal atmosphere of padded couches, red lacquered chairs, and low benches, the audience, for the most part as young, intense, and earnest as the actors, imperceptibly merge with dialogue and action.

Pleasant Surprise

For those who saw the Loft Players during their more embryonic days at the Maverick Theatre last summer, "Dark of the Moon" is a pleasant surprise. It is a difficult play, and it is handled uncommonly well.

The action, set in the Kentucky hill country, is carried out by an illiterate, superstitious people, who hold equal faith in witches and the "powers of darkness," Christ and "the redeeming blood of the Lamb." Technically, the play embodies straight theatrics, choregraphy, individual and group singing. The arena approach, which dissolves most of the problems of backdrop, set, and props, imposes an added and difficult responsibility on the actors. Single-handed they must create an illusion; must draw the audience to themselves until the audience is a part of the hill people, watching the tragic, symbolic ballad of "Barbry Allen" unfold. It could have been a terrible failure. In reality, it is a happy success.

Appealing Newcomer

James Ray, a newcomer to the group, manages, as the witch boy John, to create and dissemble all the loneliness and hunger of the human heart, showing clearly, because he was not always a man, those things humanity only dimly perceives. Barbara Allen, whose tragedy is both his damnation and release, is played with a wanton beauty, and very real sympathy, by Mary Ann Weller.

It is a large cast, and each fulfills his or her part admirably. There is the lean, lank parson, (Jason Wingreen) spewing brimstone and damnation in his long-legged wake, and Miriam Green, a Maverick favorite last summer, as Barbara's heartbroken and kindly mother. There are the seductive, serpentine witches (Jane Manors, Dorothy Du Brow). There are, in fact, 20 capable young people, contributing their best.

Unforgettable Experience

Taken all in all, "Dark of the Moon" is one of those unforgettable experiences, from the time a patron enters the picture-hung lobby, (an arresting group show of etchings from Stanley William Hayte's Atelier 17 to be shown in Paris and London later in the spring), until the leading actors have taken their final bow.

Next summer the Loft Players hope to return to this area for a four week, mid-summer stand. And they intend to bring arena-style theatre with them.

"All we need," Aileen Cramer says, "is an arena-shaped field, and an old circus tent. We certainly hope we find them."

Those interested in the theatre, and more particularly the experimental theatre, should hope so too. —P. B.

Col. Gordon Reel Discusses Hudson River History at D.A.R. Meeting on Thursday

Guest speaker Col. Gordon Reel, who was introduced by Mrs. Maynard Mizel, gave an informal account at the Thursday meeting of Wiltwyck Chapter, D.A.R., of the historical background and beauties of the Hudson river. Although he had known several other large rivers intimately, he said, none of them could compare with the beauty and majesty of the Hudson.

Delving into the Hudson's history, the speaker told the group that the earliest mention of the river was by an Italian in the early 16th century and traced much colonial history connected with the river.

Solo Selections

Following Colonel Reel, Mrs. Ralph Harper, introduced and accompanied by Mrs. C. Franklin Pierce, sang "A Spirit Flower," by Louis Campbell-Tipton; "When I Have Sung My Songs," by Ernest Charles; and "Thine Alone," from "Eileen," by Victor Herbert.

Mrs. Adam Porter, regent, presided at the business meeting, and spoke of the new storm windows on the chapter house. It was announced that Mrs. Ethel Sweet has been accepted for membership in the chapter, and that donations were made to the local Red Cross chapter, to the national chairman of the D.A.R. Museum in Washington, and to the state chairman of the Junior American Citizens.

Meanwhile on Friday a nationalization court was held in the Ulster County Court House, when Mrs. Claude Palen, Americanism chairman, presented an American flag to each of the 30 new citizens.

Miss Idella Hyde announced that 154 citizenship manuals have been distributed this year to the churches, schools, and factories. Mrs. Alwin Feuerstein has made 22 articles of babies' clothing, and Mrs. Arthur D. Monell has collected approximately 20 other items to send to Indian babies on the Tascara Reservation at Sanborn.

Vote Presentation

The Chapter voted to present Mrs. Emily Crane Chadbourne, president of the Senate House Museum, with the February issue of the D.A.R. magazine, which has as its frontispiece a reproduction of "George Washington's Last Interview with His Mother . . . . April 1789" painted by William Henry Powell. The painting hangs in the Senate House Museum.

Mrs. Harry Rigby, chairman of national defense, read an article on the opposition of federal aid for education and an excerpt from Herbert Hoover's speech in which he said "America is the last bulwark against communism, and it must be kept strong."

Mrs. Porter, a member of the 300th Anniversary Celebration of Kingston Committee, announced she has pledged Wiltwyck Chapter's support, and Mrs. R. R. Empringham requested all members to save soap and milk coupons for the C.A.R.'s use.

Chairmen Introduced

Mrs. C. L. Dumm, general chairman of the seventh annual colonial bazaar and card party, to be held March 14, introduced the chairmen of the various booths. Mrs. G. N. Wood announced that her committee had made approximately 40 aprons, with many more expected. Mrs. Arthur Quimby reported that she will have a large choice of packages from all over the country. Other assurances came from Mrs. Herman Schwenk and Mrs. William Hookey, co-chairmen of the food booth. The C.A.R. will have a candy table, and Mrs. W. Dean Hays a bargain table of books. Mrs. R. R. Gross, and Mrs. Clair Sheaffer will preside at a "Betsey Ross Tea" to which all friends of the chapter are invited. The card games, with Mrs. Mizel's committee in charge, will begin at 1:30 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. with Mrs. C. Terwilliger, and Mrs. W. Dale Swartzmiller serving dessert. Reservations should be made with Mrs. Mizel at 2666.

Mrs. Porter announced that Mrs. William Pouch, honorary president general, N.S.D.A.R., will be the guest at the Junior Committee's April 2 meeting, and of the C.A.R. April 3. All chapter members are invited to attend the dinner for Mrs. Pouch April 2.

The next regular meeting will be a spring luncheon held at the chapter house April 5. Mrs. Kenneth G. Maybe of Albany, state chairman of national defense, will be the guest speaker.

Hostesses for the tea which followed the meeting were the Mmes. John D. Groves, R. H. D. Boerker, and G. N. Wood. Mrs. Mizel poured.

Study in Emotion

Ex-Maverick Group Presents Startling Arena Production, 'Dark of the Moon'

A wonderfully weird tale, a set of circumstances that belie belief, an experience in the supernatural, with all its overtones of mixed faith and futility are the qualities which best typify the Loft Players' ambitious undertaking, "Dark of the Moon." The nine-scene, arena-style production, scheduled to run through March 10, is the players' first theatre venture in their new Greenwich Village home, "Circle in the Square."

To the uninitiated, an arena-style production is, in itself, an experience. Here, in an informal atmosphere of padded couches, red lacquered chairs, and low benches, the audience, for the most part as young, intense, and earnest as the actors, imperceptibly merge with dialogue and action.

Pleasant Surprise

For those who saw the Loft Players during their more embryonic days at the Maverick Theatre last summer, "Dark of the Moon" is a pleasant surprise. It is a difficult play, and it is handled uncommonly well.

The action, set in the Kentucky hill country, is carried out by an illiterate, superstitious people, who hold equal faith in witches and the "powers of darkness," Christ and "the redeeming blood of the Lamb." Technically, the play embodies straight theatrics, choregraphy, individual and group singing. The arena approach, which dissolves most of the problems of backdrop, set, and props, imposes an added and difficult responsibility on the actors. Single-handed they must create an illusion; must draw the audience to themselves until the audience is a part of the hill people, watching the tragic, symbolic ballad of "Barbry Allen" unfold. It could have been a terrible failure. In reality, it is a happy success.

Appealing Newcomer

James Ray, a newcomer to the group, manages, as the witch boy John, to create and dissemble all the loneliness and hunger of the human heart, showing clearly, because he was not always a man, those things humanity only dimly perceives. Barbara Allen, whose tragedy is both his damnation and release, is played with a wanton beauty, and very real sympathy, by Mary Ann Weller.

It is a large cast, and each fulfills his or her part admirably. There is the lean, lank parson, (Jason Wingreen) spewing brimstone and damnation in his long-legged wake, and Miriam Green, a Maverick favorite last summer, as Barbara's heartbroken and kindly mother. There are the seductive, serpentine witches (Jane Manors, Dorothy Du Brow). There are, in fact, 20 capable young people, contributing their best.

Unforgettable Experience

Taken all in all, "Dark of the Moon" is one of those unforgettable experiences, from the time a patron enters the picture-hung lobby, (an arresting group show of etchings from Stanley William Hayte's Atelier 17 to be shown in Paris and London later in the spring), until the leading actors have taken their final bow.

Next summer the Loft Players hope to return to this area for a four week, mid-summer stand. And they intend to bring arena-style theatre with them.

"All we need," Aileen Cramer says, "is an arena-shaped field, and an old circus tent. We certainly hope we find them."

Those interested in the theatre, and more particularly the experimental theatre, should hope so too. —P. B.

Skiers Do Well

Placing among the first 11 in both down-hill racing and slalom, Martha Davenport and Nancy Bogart, representing the girls in the Lake Placid winter carnival skiing event, gave an excellent showing of the K.H.S. skiing students.

Among 20 schools competing in Class A was K.H.S. Lake Placid came in first in the boys down-hill roll. Will Rogers of Kingston came in 16th and Bill Davenport 25th.

In the 39 girls for the down-hill course, Lake Placid came in first. Local girls including Martha Davenport and Nancy Bogert placed fifth and 11th respectively.

In the boys' Class A slalom which is a skillful display of control skiing, Port Leydon placed first. Will Rogers and Bill Davenport of Kingston placed 28th and 40th.

In the girls' slalom, Lake Placid was once more the victor but again Davenport and Bogert proved to be true champions when they were among the top 10.

Miss Romona Huard, girls' gym teacher, who accompanied the group, expressed herself pleased not only with Kingston's showing but also by the spirit of friendliness and fine sportsmanship shown by all the schools.

Select Top Students

The group plans to eat in a French restaurant, either the Larre or the Champlain.

The club also hopes to be able to see one of the movies at the Paris Theatre. The films are usually in French with English sub-titles. The dialogue is not too hard as a general rule and some expressions that can be used quite often can be learned by hearing them used rather than by learning them from a book.

Serving on the movie committee are Harry Craft, Barbara Hutton and Cindy Steketee. They have worked in cooperation with the junior officers including Joe Erena, Jean Milliken, Tom Brower, Linda VanDeusen and the class advisers, Miss Martha Barnett and Peter Etienne.

This group is now attempting to determine a time suitable to all for showing the film.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

When I look through the industrial interests of Rondout in 1892 I can understand the rows of good substantial brick buildings in that part of town. Those were the days when the "North River bluestone" was famous throughout the nation as the best flagging stone as yet discovered, according to George F. Bacon who put out a "Descriptive sketch of Rondout and Kingston" at that time. He also wrote that Kingston contained the largest cement factories in the country, turning out no less than a thousand barrels a day. And here again, the product is no less remarkable for quality than for quantity, for Kingston cement was known not only to equal the best, but so generally conceded to be the best as to have become the "standard" by which other cements were judged.

Our Rondout Creek was not only mobbed with various vessels and towered with 60 feet high cones of coal, but extensive yards and docks were needed for repairing of boats and canal-boats. For Rondout was known then as the famous shipping point for brick, lime, ice, and even lumber. During an ordinary favorable year some 1,000,000 tons of these items went through the Rondout Creek. So who can deny, "Those were the good old days in Rondout." The horse cars in those days were drawn by two and sometimes three horses up the steep Rondout hill. It is said in those days, they had no conductors. The drivers collected the fare. In the days Broadway was called Union avenue.

Mr. Bacon writes, "After 'the steep' has been surmounted, one horse is sent to the foot of the hill and the car is drawn by a pair of horses until the stables, (which are not quite half way to Kingston village) are reached. when the two horses are exchanged for one and the car goes more or less speedily onward to the end of the route." And yet in spite of all this, they write that a car passed a given spot nearly every 15 minutes. Those were days when "The Strand" was known for its hotels and large stores.

I remember an old timer telling me, when the driver knew he had a heavy load of people during the horse car age, at about Mill street and Broadway he would blow a whistle. Extra horses were kept in a stable up on Broadway, near where Netburns is today. There the already harnessed horses would be taken down to the horse car and hitched on. I think Mr. Harder, said when he was a boy, sometimes he would ride the horse down. Nobody hurried in those days. Everything was done slowly and deliberately.

It is said, there are many Kingstons in the nation, but only one Rondout. That of course I cannot prove. But history does say the first steamboat entered our Rondout creek from New York in 1826, and the first passenger steamer arrived in 1829. It is said they docked at Twaalfskill, known to us as Wilbur. Rondout was then often called "Kingston Landing."

BRIDES ASK FOR NECESSITIES

A new bride writes: "Why is it most people think that wedding gifts have to be of silver, glass and china; tables, and ornaments? For example: Here I am, just as my sister was several years ago when she was married, without a toaster, coffee maker, mixer, etc. But we abound in silver candlesticks, cigarette boxes and flower bowls! The lamps and tables will never fit into our kind of house the way it looks now. Of course, we can exchange some of these things but there's always the risk of hurting some people. On behalf of the modern bride who is her own cook and is living in postage-stamp quarters, won't you draw this to your readers' attention?"

I am very glad to print this letter as a suggestion since it is undoubtedly true that in giving a wedding present we are all inclined to give those very items of which the writer of this letter has received so many. Remember, however, that none of us should feel hurt when the present we give a bride is exchanged because she has received many others for the same purpose.

Signing Articles

Dear Mrs. Post: What name should a married woman sign to an article which is to be printed in a local paper for the woman's club? Should it be Mary Smith or Mrs. Mary Smith or Mrs. John Smith?

Answer: The article should be signed Mary Smith. If the person is better known to the local public as Mrs. John Smith then this name may properly be enclosed in parenthesis under the signature.

Oldtimers Become Newcomers

Dear Mrs. Post: When oldtimers become newcomers then what rule applies? We're going to a new community in a sense, because we lived there a year or so ten years ago. We occasionally have gone there since to visit but didn't see many people at those times.

Answer: You may let those whom you knew before know that you are back in town. Or you may perfectly well go to see them, instead of waiting for them to come to see you!

How should friends be seated in you car when invited for a drive? Should the gentlemen remove his hat in the elevator? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but answers to the above questions will be found in Mrs. Post's leaflet E-15. Among 20 schools competing in Class A was K.H.S. Lake Placid came in first in the boys down-hill roll. Will Rogers of Kingston came in 16th and Bill Davenport 25th.

In the 39 girls for the down-hill course, Lake Placid came in first. Local girls including Martha Davenport and Nancy Bogert placed fifth and 11th respectively.

In the boys' Class A slalom which is a skillful display of control skiing, Port Leydon placed first. Will Rogers and Bill Davenport of Kingston placed 28th and 40th.

Select Top Students

The group plans to eat in a French restaurant, either the Larre or the Champlain.

The club also hopes to be able to see one of the movies at the Paris Theatre. The films are usually in French with English sub-titles. The dialogue is not too hard as a general rule and some expressions that can be used quite often can be learned by hearing them used rather than by learning them from a book.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

When I look through the industrial interests of Rondout in 1892 I can understand the rows of good substantial brick buildings in that part of town. Those were the days when the "North River bluestone" was famous throughout the nation as the best flagging stone as yet discovered, according to George F. Bacon who put out a "Descriptive sketch of Rondout and Kingston" at that time. He also wrote that Kingston contained the largest cement factories in the country, turning out no less than a thousand barrels a day. And here again, the product is no less remarkable for quality than for quantity, for Kingston cement was known not only to equal the best, but so generally conceded to be the best as to have become the "standard" by which other cements were judged.

Our Rondout Creek was not only mobbed with various vessels and towered with 60 feet high cones of coal, but extensive yards and docks were needed for repairing of boats and canal-boats. For Rondout was known then as the famous shipping point for brick, lime, ice, and even lumber. During an ordinary favorable year some 1,000,000 tons of these items went through the Rondout Creek. So who can deny, "Those were the good old days in Rondout." The horse cars in those days were drawn by two and sometimes three horses up the steep Rondout hill. It is said in those days, they had no conductors. The drivers collected the fare. In the days Broadway was called Union avenue.

Mr. Bacon writes, "After 'the steep' has been surmounted, one horse is sent to the foot of the hill and the car is drawn by a pair of horses until the stables, (which are not quite half way to Kingston village) are reached, when the two horses are exchanged for one and the car goes more or less speedily onward to the end of the route." And yet in spite of all this, they write that a car passed a given spot nearly every 15 minutes. Those were days when "The Strand" was known for its hotels and large stores.

I remember an old timer telling me, when the driver knew he had a heavy load of people during the horse car age, at about Mill street and Broadway he would blow a whistle. Extra horses were kept in a stable up on Broadway, near where Netburns is today. There the already harnessed horses would be taken down to the horse car and hitched on. I think Mr. Harder, said when he was a boy, sometimes he would ride the horse down. Nobody hurried in those days. Everything was done slowly and deliberately.

It is said, there are many Kingstons in the nation, but only one Rondout. That of course I cannot prove. But history does say the first steamboat entered our Rondout creek from New York in 1826, and the first passenger steamer arrived in 1829. It is said they docked at Twaalfskill, known to us as Wilbur. Rondout was then often called "Kingston Landing."

The group plans to eat in a French restaurant, either the Larre or the Champlain.

The club also hopes to be able to see one of the movies at the Paris Theatre. The films are usually in French with English sub-titles. The dialogue is not too hard as a general rule and some expressions that can be used quite often can be learned by hearing them used rather than by learning them from a book.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

When I look through the industrial interests of Rondout in 1892 I can understand the rows of good substantial brick buildings in that part of town. Those were the days when the "North River bluestone" was famous throughout the nation as the best flagging stone as yet discovered, according to George F. Bacon who put out a "Descriptive sketch of Rondout and Kingston" at that time. He also wrote that Kingston contained the largest cement factories in the country, turning out no less than a thousand barrels a day. And here again, the product is no less remarkable for quality than for quantity, for Kingston cement was known not only to equal the best, but so generally conceded to be the best as to have become the "standard" by which other cements were judged.

Our Rondout Creek was not only mobbed with various vessels and towered with 60 feet high cones of coal, but extensive yards and docks were needed for repairing of boats and canal-boats. For Rondout was known then as the famous shipping point for brick, lime, ice, and even lumber. During an ordinary favorable year some 1,000,000 tons of these items went through the Rondout Creek. So who can deny, "Those were the good old days in Rondout." The horse cars in those days were drawn by two and sometimes three horses up the steep Rondout hill. It is said in those days, they had no conductors. The drivers collected the fare. In the days Broadway was called Union avenue.

Mr. Bacon writes, "After 'the steep' has been surmounted, one horse is sent to the foot of the hill and the car is drawn by a pair of horses until the stables, (which are not quite half way to Kingston village) are reached, when the two horses are exchanged for one and the car goes more or less speedily onward to the end of the route." And yet in spite of all this, they write that a car passed a given spot nearly every 15 minutes. Those were days when "The Strand" was known for its hotels and large stores.

I remember an old timer telling me, when the driver knew he had a heavy load of people during the horse car age, at about Mill street and Broadway he would blow a whistle. Extra horses were kept in a stable up on Broadway, near where Netburns is today. There the already harnessed horses would be taken down to the horse car and hitched on. I think Mr. Harder, said when he was a boy, sometimes he would ride the horse down. Nobody hurried in those days. Everything was done slowly and deliberately.

It is said, there are many Kingstons in the nation, but only one Rondout. That of course I cannot prove. But history does say the first steamboat entered our Rondout creek from New York in 1826, and the first passenger steamer arrived in 1829. It is said they docked at Twaalfskill, known to us as Wilbur. Rondout was then often called "Kingston Landing."

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

BRIDES ASK FOR NECESSITIES

A new bride writes: "Why is it most people think that wedding gifts have to be of silver, glass and china; tables, and ornaments? For example: Here I am, just as my sister was several years ago when she was married, without a toaster, coffee maker, mixer, etc. But we abound in silver candlesticks, cigarette boxes and flower bowls! The lamps and tables will never fit into our kind of house the way it looks now. Of course, we can exchange some of these things but there's always the risk of hurting some people. On behalf of the modern bride who is her own cook and is living in postage-stamp quarters, won't you draw this to your readers' attention?"

I am very glad to print this letter as a suggestion since it is undoubtedly true that in giving a wedding present we are all inclined to give those very items of which the writer of this letter has received so many. Remember, however, that none of us should feel hurt when the present we give a bride is exchanged because she has received many others for the same purpose.

Signing Articles

Dear Mrs. Post: What name should a married woman sign to an article which is to be printed in a local paper for the woman's club? Should it be Mary Smith or Mrs. Mary Smith or Mrs. John Smith?

Answer: The article should be signed Mary Smith. If the person is better known to the local public as Mrs. John Smith then this name may properly be enclosed in parenthesis under the signature.

Oldtimers Become Newcomers

Dear Mrs. Post: When oldtimers become newcomers then what rule applies? We're going to a new community in a sense, because we lived there a year or so ten years ago. We occasionally have gone there since to visit but didn't see many people at those times.

Answer: You may let those whom you knew before know that you are back in town. Or you may perfectly well go to see them, instead of waiting for them to come to see you!

How should friends be seated in you car when invited for a drive? Should the gentleman remove his hat in the elevator? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but answers to the above questions will be found in Mrs. Post's leaflet E-15. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Trailways Set New Hudson Valley League Seasonal Record With 3227

Broskie Smashes 289; Roll 1066, 1060, 1101

Adirondack Trailways set two new seasonal records and threatened an all-time mark in a sensational strike spree against the league-leading Newburgh's Cy's Diner, Saturday night in a Hudson Valley League match at the Bowlodrome.

Led by Harold Broskie, who shot a new high single of 289, the Trailways reeled off game totals of 1066, 1060 and 1101 for a new team standard of 3227. The former high of 3185 was held by Cy's Diner and Broskie's 289 eclipsed the previous record of 278 held by Lou Dipipi of Port Jervis.

With Fred Rice and Johnny Ferraro working on strikes in the last box of the match, the Trailway keglers had an excellent chance to shatter the all-time high of 3254 held by the Middletown State Hospital. But the veteral stalwarts both ran into wide open splits.

Broskie and Rice both flirted with 290 singles. In the first game, Rice opened with a spare, tossed five strikes in a row, then ran into a 10-pin tap which he blew. He then proceeded to strike out. Broskie's 289 solo was hampered by 10-pin taps at the start and finish.

High series honors went to Broskie with 192-203-289—684; Hammerin' Hank Kemmerer turned in the hat trick with 207-236-217-660; Johnny Ferraro had 231-228-216-675 and Johnny Schatzel 222-594.

The league leaders rolled 2775 with Nick Leoce's 213-211-620 setting the pace.

Roll 3070 Series

Following the Cy's Diner match, the Trailways took on the Beacon Main Cycles in a Mid-Hudson Classic match and knocked off 3073 to give them a 1050 game average for six sets Saturday night. They posted 962, 1049 and 1062.

Again four of the Trailways were over the "600" mark, Broskie leading with 651 on 191, 235, 235. Joe Schrowang shot 204-202-602; Fred Rice 210-225-618 and Johnny Ferraro 233-220-647. Hickman's 222-599 led the Main Cycles.

Despite Joe Schrowang's 651, with 205-214-232, and Dick Howard's 236-188-224-648, the Elston Sports keglers dropped two games to New Paltz at the Bowlodrome. Ralph Schroeder shot 215-208-611 for the Paltz quantet.

Middletown Bennetts upended Miron Lumber, 2-1, in a low scoring duel on the Bowlatorium planks in a match devoid of "600" triples. Frank Spada and Charlie Manfro each had 556 for the losers, while Smith's 202-199 sparked the winners.

Columbia Wins Ivy Pennant

New York, March 5 (AP)—Columbia's basketball team can close the regular season with a perfect record by beating Princeton Wednesday on the latter's floor.

The surprising Lions clinched the Ivy League championship and an NCAA tournament spot by downing Pennsylvania Saturday night, 63-58.

This was Columbia's 21st straight victory of the season and its 30th without a defeat over a two-year span. The Lions achieved it despite an ankle injury to Capt. John Azary, who nevertheless limped through the entire game, and a fine performance by Penn's sophomore star, Ernie Beck. Beck, the loop's leading scorer, flipped in 25 points.

Columbia will open its bid for the NCAA title March 20 in New York's Madison Square Garden against the Big Ten champion, either Illinois or Indiana.

Cornell clinched second place in the league standings Saturday by squeezing past Princeton, 53-52. Harvard tied Yale for fifth by beating Yale in an overtime game at New Haven, 59-55.

Columbia has an 11-0 league record, Cornell 9-2.

St. Louis, La Salle Accept NIT Bids; NYU Violets in Line for Invitation

Columbia Set For NCAA Tourney

New York, March 5 (AP)—With the regular college basketball season virtually ended, tournament time approached today with the lines being drawn for the National Invitation and NCAA jousts—the major attractions.

Aside from the fact that Kentucky, rated the nation's No. 1 team for weeks, was handed a stunning upset Saturday by Vanderbilt in the Southeastern Conference tournament finals, most of the league races were following the expected script.

The field for the National Invitation affair, which gets under way Saturday at Madison Square Garden, is almost filled, but 10 places remain in the 16-team NCAA tournament.

Selection of St. Louis (21-7) and La Salle of Philadelphia (22-6) boosted to 10 the number of teams in the N.I.T. two more are to be chosen, probably today, and the names of Oklahoma A.&.M., Cincinnati and New York University were being mentioned.

Columbia NCAA

In the NCAA tournament, which blossoms forth later with three sectional tournaments at New York, Raleigh, N. C., and Kansas City, the picture still is clouded. Six teams, all winners of their respective conference titles, are in the fold. They are Kentucky, Columbia, Arizona, Brigham Young, Kansas State and North Carolina State.

But, four more conference championships must be determined, and the selection committee has to choose six other "at large" or independent teams. There is plenty of time. Play starts at Raleigh and New York March 20, and at Kansas City March 21. The finals will be at Minneapolis, March 27.

Kentucky, blasted by Vanderbilt, 61-57, nevertheless goes into the NCAA affair at Raleigh by virtue of having won the South Eastern Conference title in regular play. It left Kentucky with a 27-2 record.

Charles Choice Over Walcott

Detroit, March 5 (AP)—There's no question about who's the popular favorite in the Ezzard Charles-Joe Walcott fight here Wednesday.

Jersey Joe, shadow-shifty exdockhand making his fourth bid for the heavyweight title, rates the popular nod over champion Charles.

Charles, however, is sure to go into the ring the odds-on betting favorite, principally on the basis of superior boxing skill.

But his earnest, workmanlike attitude loses out to the superior appeal of the aging Walcott, who came out of obscurity to try for the title.

The fight, despite a low top of $12 per seat, is expected to attract a record $85,000 gate at Detroit's Olympia Stadium.

The two fighters wind up their training today.

WILT FINALLY TURNS THE TABLES

Fred Wilt of the New York A.C., who so often in the past has been the runner-up to Don Gehrmann in their mile duels, finally pounds across the finish line ahead of his rival to win the Columbian Mile, feature of the Knights of Columbus Games at Madison Square Garden, N. Y. Gehrmann's loss was his first in 40 consecutive mile runs. Wilt's winning time was 4:08.4.

"That must have been the best city bowling tournament ever run in Kingston," the man told us.

"It had to be," we replied. "Two of the biggest chronic squawkers in local bowling never got a chance to let off their annual tirades."

"Who are they?" the man inquired.

"We won't tell you unless you find out for yourself," was the rejoinder, "but if you can name them we'll give you two tickets to any Madison Square Garden performance."

The offer holds good for any bowler. The guy who names the two on the first shot can qualify for those tickets.

● Flotsam and Jetsam:

Canadian-American League setting a high standard for managerial selections in 1951. Owen Sheetz, former minor and major league pitcher and coach of the Louisville Colonels for the past three years, will be at Oneonta. Clarence "Buck" Eachison, who piloted the Mahanoy City Bluebirds in the 1947-48 North Atlantic League, succeeds Emil Gall at Rome, while Al Barillari, the stormy petrel of the Colonial League for three seasons, has anchored at Gloversville. Pittsfield has signed Dick Carter. All of which means that Kingston will have to come up with a "name" player to keep its social standing in the Can-Am loop. Chico Gerard, the playful Puerto Rican, who had another big season in the winter league, is still on the Pittsfield reserve list. Oneonta already has 19 men on its roster and will start training at Ocala, Florida, on March 26. Pittsfield will train at Darlington, S. C. The Massachusetts entry will have a working agreement with the Philadelphia Phillies, who have sent contracts to 31 players eligible for the Pittsfield club. How about half of those coming to Kingston?

● Of Men and Mice:

Charlie Bove, the late pocket billiar star of Port Ewen, figured in a couple of anecdotes that Nick Kaslich recalled on his 30th anniversary and for which we lacked space in Saturday's column.

Bove was a master of the delaying tactics, a deliberate exasperating master, who made a shambles of the nerves of opponents. Julius Tellier, a fidgety, temperamental performer in his heyday, came a cropper against Bove during a tight match one night.

Bove fiddled and faddled, while Tellier sputtered and sizzled. When the old master figured Tellier had just about reached the bursting point, he leaned over and said:

"Is anything wrong?"

"Yes," Tellier exploded, "you're playing --- --- ------ slow!"

Whereupon Bove, needing some chalk for his cue, ignored the two sticks always kept at the championship table, walked halfway across the room to pick up a stray bit of chalk. He calmly and deliberately "chalked up" as they say in the trade, strode back to the table and resumed play.

By this time Tellier had developed a peptic ulcer.

Tony Gentile once devised a scheme to circumvent Bove's dilatory play. He arrived at the Kaslich Palor for a tournament match loaded down with magazines and newspapers. He figured he could catch up on some badly neglected reading while Bove was playing at his shot-a-minute pace. But he, too, wound up eating crow. By the time Bove was through with his first rack, Gentile had abandoned the literature and was rehearsing his sub rosa vocabulary.

No story about the Kaslich Parlor would be complete without a few words about Steve Kaslich, brother of the billiard operator. So far as we are concerned, Steve was the original "camera eye."

He had an uncanny power of memorizing the position of every ball on the table during a particular high run. It was fascinating to hear him describe the bail-by-ball progress of the run, where such-and-such a ball rested when the cueist fouled up and a flock of other small items that escape the eye of the average observer. He kept that inexhaustible source of billiard savvy under his hat. He never took it off.

It's nice to see international co-operation at the sports level in the Pan-Am games. Perhaps the UN would have better luck if it forgot about speeches and resolutions and started a third major league.

Training Camp News in Brief

Same Old Story

Vero Beach, Fla., March 5 (AP)—Same old Rex Barney. The wild man of the Brooklyn Dodgers' pitching staff worked three innings in an intra-squad game yesterday—and granted six walks, heaved four wild pitches and was charged with the loss.

Did it bother this strong right-hander?

Nope.

"I'm not discouraged by those wild pitches," Barney said later, "because I threw some mighty good pitches, too. My curve was working well and my change-up was good. My fast ball was wild, but I'm sure that I'll lick it."

Hopp Confident

Phoenix, Ariz., March 5 (AP)—You'd think a ballplayer 34 years old would start worrying about his job. Not Johnny Hopp, the rugged Nebraskan the New York Yankees obtained from Pittsburgh late last season.

"I don't know what they have in the way of youngsters around here," he said after a workout, "but I feel, despite my age, I can do better than any of 'em. I'll be around playing first or the outfield."

Hartung Sparkles

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 5 (AP)—Clint Hartung, the pitcher-outfielder, is stealing the thunder from the New York Giants' heavy hitters.

Leo Durocher doesn't know where to play the Hondo, Tex., hurricane. On the mound, he's a .500 pitcher at best. In the outfield, he has a notorious reputation for playing singles into triples, and so on.

But Hartung's bat has been smoking in the Giants' intra-squad games. Yesterday he walloped a towering home run that sent the outfielders scurrying among the palm trees in leftcenter field. Last week, he uncorked another tremendous homer.

Stubborn Tigers

Lakeland, Fla., March 5 (AP)—Detroit Tiger General Manager Billy Evans went into conference today with his two holdout star outfielders—Hoot Evers and Vic Wertz.

Evans, arriving here yesterday, told newsmen both players had been offered more than $20,000. But it's reported that Wertz is after $26,000 and Evers a higher figure.

"Naturally, I am dissapointed that they are holding out," Evans said. "I hope we can reach an agreement in the shortest time possible, but there is a limit to all salaries."

Argentine Leads Pan Am Games

Buenos Aires, March 5 (AP)—The first Pan American games marks Latin America's coming of age in sports, says Jim Kelly, coach of the United States track team, and from now on the big athletic carnival should produce the best of competition.

So far it's much too keen for the 128-man team the United States sent down here, and as a result of unofficial points in all sports, Argentina went into the seventh day of competition leading with 657 points. The U. S. was second with 510.

"For a real boost to sport all through Latin America, the games couldn't have turned out better," said Kelly, veteran University of Minnesota coach.

Kelly has no alibis for the team he brought, but can't help but wish he had some of the indoor track stars such as Fred Wilt and, Don Gehrmann.

The interest in athletics here was shown yesterday by 75,000 persons in River Platte Stadium for track and field while side sports arenas were jammed, including 10,000 for swimming.

After Argentina and the U. S. in the point totals came Mexico with 158, Brazil 153, Chile 120, Cuba 78, Peru 67, Trinidad 26, Colombia 14, Guatemala 13, Jamaica 12, Venezuela 12, Panama 11, Ecuador 8, Haiti 7, Paraguay 3, El Salvador 2.

Newburgh Star Wins Skate Title

Lake Placid, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—Alex Goguen, 29, of Pittsfield, Mass., won the Senior Men's title in the third annual Lake Placid indoor skating championships yesterday.

Mary Lynch of Newburgh copped the Senior Women's crown in the two-day meet.

Goguen, who has scored several triumphs this season, was first in the mile, the two-mile and ¼-mile races, and third in the 880. He compiled 100 points, 30 more than his nearest competitor, Joe Walsh of Brooklyn.

Miss Lynch scored 110 points, with firsts in the ¼-mile, the 880-yard, and the 440. She was second in the mile.

Gwen Du Bois of Newburgh and Charlotte Chase of Saranac Lake tied for second with 60 points each.

Other division winners:

Easter Penned For No. 3 Slot

Tucson, Ariz., March 5 (AP)—With the Cleveland Indians' regular roster complete today, Manager Al Lopez is trying out a new batting order which puts Luke Easter in the No. 3 slot.

"From what I've seen so far," Al said, "I believe Easter will be our greatest home run threat this year.

"A club's best left-handed hitter should bat third because he gets to the plate more often and is less likely to hit into a double play and spoil a rally."

Under the plan, Al Rosen and Larry Doby will follow Easter in the fourth and fifth positions. Dale Mitchell leads off as usual, followed by Bob Avila who arrived at the Tribe's spring training camp yesterday after clearing up some difficulties with U. S. immigration officials in Juarez, Mexico.

Bob Kennedy, a second place hitter for most of 1950, will drop to sixth, followed by Ray Boone, Jim Hegan and the pitcher.

Trailways Set New Hudson Valley League Seasonal Record With 3227

Broskie Smashes 289; Roll 1066, 1060, 1101

Adirondack Trailways set two new seasonal records and threatened an all-time mark in a sensational strike spree against the league-leading Newburgh's Cy's Diner, Saturday night in a Hudson Valley League match at the Bowlodrome.

Led by Harold Broskie, who shot a new high single of 289, the Trailways reeled off game totals of 1066, 1060 and 1101 for a new team standard of 3227. The former high of 3185 was held by Cy's Diner and Broskie's 289 eclipsed the previous record of 278 held by Lou Dipipi of Port Jervis.

With Fred Rice and Johnny Ferraro working on strikes in the last box of the match, the Trailway keglers had an excellent chance to shatter the all-time high of 3254 held by the Middletown State Hospital. But the veteral stalwarts both ran into wide open splits.

Broskie and Rice both flirted with 290 singles. In the first game, Rice opened with a spare, tossed five strikes in a row, then ran into a 10-pin tap which he blew. He then proceeded to strike out. Broskie's 289 solo was hampered by 10-pin taps at the start and finish.

High series honors went to Broskie with 192-203-289—684; Hammerin' Hank Kemmerer turned in the hat trick with 207-236-217-660; Johnny Ferraro had 231-228-216-675 and Johnny Schatzel 222-594.

The league leaders rolled 2775 with Nick Leoce's 213-211-620 setting the pace.

Roll 3070 Series

Following the Cy's Diner match, the Trailways took on the Beacon Main Cycles in a Mid-Hudson Classic match and knocked off 3073 to give them a 1050 game average for six sets Saturday night. They posted 962, 1049 and 1062.

Again four of the Trailways were over the "600" mark, Broskie leading with 651 on 191, 235, 235. Joe Schrowang shot 204-202-602; Fred Rice 210-225-618 and Johnny Ferraro 233-220-647. Hickman's 222-599 led the Main Cycles.

Despite Joe Schrowang's 651, with 205-214-232, and Dick Howard's 236-188-224-648, the Elston Sports keglers dropped two games to New Paltz at the Bowlodrome. Ralph Schroeder shot 215-208-611 for the Paltz quantet.

Middletown Bennetts upended Miron Lumber, 2-1, in a low scoring duel on the Bowlatorium planks in a match devoid of "600" triples. Frank Spada and Charlie Manfro each had 556 for the losers, while Smith's 202-199 sparked the winners.

Columbia Wins Ivy Pennant

New York, March 5 (AP)—Columbia's basketball team can close the regular season with a perfect record by beating Princeton Wednesday on the latter's floor.

The surprising Lions clinched the Ivy League championship and an NCAA tournament spot by downing Pennsylvania Saturday night, 63-58.

This was Columbia's 21st straight victory of the season and its 30th without a defeat over a two-year span. The Lions achieved it despite an ankle injury to Capt. John Azary, who nevertheless limped through the entire game, and a fine performance by Penn's sophomore star, Ernie Beck. Beck, the loop's leading scorer, flipped in 25 points.

Columbia will open its bid for the NCAA title March 20 in New York's Madison Square Garden against the Big Ten champion, either Illinois or Indiana.

Cornell clinched second place in the league standings Saturday by squeezing past Princeton, 53-52. Harvard tied Yale for fifth by beating Yale in an overtime game at New Haven, 59-55.

Columbia has an 11-0 league record, Cornell 9-2.

St. Louis, La Salle Accept NIT Bids; NYU Violets in Line for Invitation

Columbia Set For NCAA Tourney

New York, March 5 (AP)—With the regular college basketball season virtually ended, tournament time approached today with the lines being drawn for the National Invitation and NCAA jousts—the major attractions.

Aside from the fact that Kentucky, rated the nation's No. 1 team for weeks, was handed a stunning upset Saturday by Vanderbilt in the Southeastern Conference tournament finals, most of the league races were following the expected script.

The field for the National Invitation affair, which gets under way Saturday at Madison Square Garden, is almost filled, but 10 places remain in the 16-team NCAA tournament.

Selection of St. Louis (21-7) and La Salle of Philadelphia (22-6) boosted to 10 the number of teams in the N.I.T. two more are to be chosen, probably today, and the names of Oklahoma A.&.M., Cincinnati and New York University were being mentioned.

Columbia NCAA

In the NCAA tournament, which blossoms forth later with three sectional tournaments at New York, Raleigh, N. C., and Kansas City, the picture still is clouded. Six teams, all winners of their respective conference titles, are in the fold. They are Kentucky, Columbia, Arizona, Brigham Young, Kansas State and North Carolina State.

But, four more conference championships must be determined, and the selection committee has to choose six other "at large" or independent teams. There is plenty of time. Play starts at Raleigh and New York March 20, and at Kansas City March 21. The finals will be at Minneapolis, March 27.

Kentucky, blasted by Vanderbilt, 61-57, nevertheless goes into the NCAA affair at Raleigh by virtue of having won the South Eastern Conference title in regular play. It left Kentucky with a 27-2 record.

Charles Choice Over Walcott

Detroit, March 5 (AP)—There's no question about who's the popular favorite in the Ezzard Charles-Joe Walcott fight here Wednesday.

Jersey Joe, shadow-shifty ex-dockhand making his fourth bid for the heavyweight title, rates the popular nod over champion Charles.

Charles, however, is sure to go into the ring the odds-on betting favorite, principally on the basis of superior boxing skill.

But his earnest, workmanlike attitude loses out to the superior appeal of the aging Walcott, who came out of obscurity to try for the title.

The fight, despite a low top of $12 per seat, is expected to attract a record $85,000 gate at Detroit's Olympia Stadium.

The two fighters wind up their training today.

WILT FINALLY TURNS THE TABLES

Fred Wilt of the New York A.C., who so often in the past has been the runner-up to Don Gehrmann in their mile duels, finally pounds across the finish line ahead of his rival to win the Columbian Mile, feature of the Knights of Columbus Games at Madison Square Garden, N. Y. Gehrmann's loss was his first in 40 consecutive mile runs. Wilt's winning time was 4:08.4.

"That must have been the best city bowling tournament ever run in Kingston," the man told us.

"It had to be," we replied. "Two of the biggest chronic squawkers in local bowling never got a chance to let off their annual tirades."

"Who are they?" the man inquired.

"We won't tell you unless you find out for yourself," was the rejoinder, "but if you can name them we'll give you two tickets to any Madison Square Garden performance."

The offer holds good for any bowler. The guy who names the two on the first shot can qualify for those tickets.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Canadian-American League setting a high standard for managerial selections in 1951. Owen Sheetz, former minor and major league pitcher and coach of the Louisville Colonels for the past three years, will be at Oneonta. Clarence "Buck" Eachison, who piloted the Mahanoy City Bluebirds in the 1947-48 North Atlantic League, succeeds Emil Gall at Rome, while Al Barillari, the stormy petrel of the Colonial League for three seasons, has anchored at Gloversville. Pittsfield has signed Dick Carter. All of which means that Kingston will have to come up with a "name" player to keep its social standing in the Can-Am loop. Chico Gerard, the playful Puerto Rican, who had another big season in the winter league, is still on the Pittsfield reserve list. Oneonta already has 19 men on its roster and will start training at Ocala, Florida, on March 26. Pittsfield will train at Darlington, S. C. The Massachusetts entry will have a working agreement with the Philadelphia Phillies, who have sent contracts to 31 players eligible for the Pittsfield club. How about half of those coming to Kingston?

• Of Men and Mice:

Charlie Bove, the late pocket billiar star of Port Ewen, figured in a couple of anecdotes that Nick Kaslich recalled on his 30th anniversary and for which we lacked space in Saturday's column.

Bove was a master of the delaying tactics, a deliberate exasperating master, who made a shambles of the nerves of opponents. Julius Tellier, a fidgety, temperamental performer in his heyday, came a cropper against Bove during a tight match one night.

Bove fiddled and faddled, while Tellier sputtered and sizzled. When the old master figured Tellier had just about reached the bursting point, he leaned over and said:

"Is anything wrong?"

"Yes," Tellier exploded, "you're playing --- --- ------ slow!"

Whereupon Bove, needing some chalk for his cue, ignored the two sticks always kept at the championship table, walked halfway across the room to pick up a stray bit of chalk. He calmly and deliberately "chalked up" as they say in the trade, strode back to the table and resumed play.

By this time Tellier had developed a peptic ulcer.

Tony Gentile once devised a scheme to circumvent Bove's dilatory play. He arrived at the Kaslich Palor for a tournament match loaded down with magazines and newspapers. He figured he could catch up on some badly neglected reading while Bove was playing at his shot-a-minute pace. But he, too, wound up eating crow. By the time Bove was through with his first rack, Gentile had abandoned the literature and was rehearsing his sub rosa vocabulary.

No story about the Kaslich Parlor would be complete without a few words about Steve Kaslich, brother of the billiard operator. So far as we are concerned, Steve was the original "camera eye."

He had an uncanny power of memorizing the position of every ball on the table during a particular high run. It was fascinating to hear him describe the bail-by-ball progress of the run, where such-and-such a ball rested when the cueist fouled up and a flock of other small items that escape the eye of the average observer. He kept that inexhaustible source of billiard savvy under his hat. He never took it off.

It's nice to see international co-operation at the sports level in the Pan-Am games. Perhaps the UN would have better luck if it forgot about speeches and resolutions and started a third major league.

Training Camp News in Brief

Same Old Story

Vero Beach, Fla., March 5 (AP)—Same old Rex Barney. The wild man of the Brooklyn Dodgers' pitching staff worked three innings in an intra-squad game yesterday—and granted six walks, heaved four wild pitches and was charged with the loss.

Did it bother this strong right-hander?

Nope.

"I'm not discouraged by those wild pitches," Barney said later, "because I threw some mighty good pitches, too. My curve was working well and my change-up was good. My fast ball was wild, but I'm sure that I'll lick it."

Hopp Confident

Phoenix, Ariz., March 5 (AP) — You'd think a ballplayer 34 years old would start worrying about his job. Not Johnny Hopp, the rugged Nebraskan the New York Yankees obtained from Pittsburgh late last season.

"I don't know what they have in the way of youngsters around here," he said after a workout, "but I feel, despite my age, I can do better than any of 'em. I'll be around playing first or the outfield."

Hartung Sparkles

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 5 (AP)—Clint Hartung, the pitcher-outfielder, is stealing the thunder from the New York Giants' heavy hitters.

Leo Durocher doesn't know where to play the Hondo, Tex., hurricane. On the mound, he's a .500 pitcher at best. In the outfield, he has a notorious reputation for playing singles into triples, and so on.

But Hartung's bat has been smoking in the Giants' intra-squad games. Yesterday he walloped a towering home run that sent the outfielders scurrying among the palm trees in leftcenter field. Last week, he uncorked another tremendous homer.

Stubborn Tigers

Lakeland, Fla., March 5 (AP)—Detroit Tiger General Manager Billy Evans went into conference today with his two holdout star outfielders—Hoot Evers and Vic Wertz.

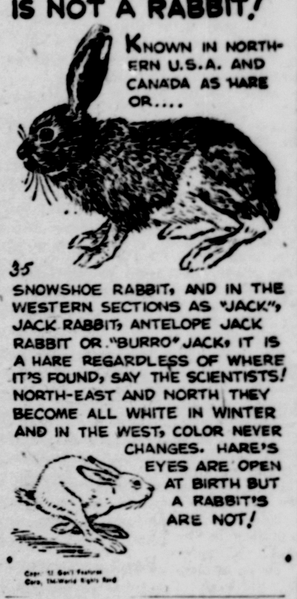

Evans, arriving here yesterday, told newsmen both players had been offered more than $20,000. But it's reported that Wertz is after $26,000 and Evers a higher figure.

"Naturally, I am dissapointed that they are holding out," Evans said. "I hope we can reach an agreement in the shortest time possible, but there is a limit to all salaries."

Argentine Leads Pan Am Games

Buenos Aires, March 5 (AP)—The first Pan American games marks Latin America's coming of age in sports, says Jim Kelly, coach of the United States track team, and from now on the big athletic carnival should produce the best of competition.

So far it's much too keen for the 128-man team the United States sent down here, and as a result of unofficial points in all sports, Argentina went into the seventh day of competition leading with 657 points. The U. S. was second with 510.

"For a real boost to sport all through Latin America, the games couldn't have turned out better," said Kelly, veteran University of Minnesota coach.

Kelly has no alibis for the team he brought, but can't help but wish he had some of the indoor track stars such as Fred Wilt and Don Gehrmann.

The interest in athletics here was shown yesterday by 75,000 persons in River Platte Stadium for track and field while side sports arenas were jammed, including 10,000 for swimming.

After Argentina and the U. S. in the point totals came Mexico with 158, Brazil 153, Chile 120, Cuba 78, Peru 67, Trinidad 26, Colombia 14, Guatemala 13, Jamaica 12, Venezuela 12, Panama 11, Ecuador 8, Haiti 7, Paraguay 3, El Salvador 2.

Newburgh Star Wins Skate Title

Lake Placid, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—Alex Goguen, 29, of Pittsfield, Mass., won the Senior Men's title in the third annual Lake Placid indoor skating championships yesterday.

Mary Lynch of Newburgh copped the Senior Women's crown in the two-day meet.

Goguen, who has scored several triumphs this season, was first in the mile, the two-mile and ¼-mile races, and third in the 880. He compiled 100 points, 30 more than his nearest competitor, Joe Walsh of Brooklyn.

Miss Lynch scored 110 points, with firsts in the ¼-mile, the 880-yard, and the 440. She was second in the mile.

Gwen Du Bois of Newburgh and Charlotte Chase of Saranac Lake tied for second with 60 points each.

Other division winners:

Easter Penned For No. 3 Slot

Tucson, Ariz., March 5 (AP)—With the Cleveland Indians' regular roster complete today, Manager Al Lopez is trying out a new batting order which puts Luke Easter in the No. 3 slot.

"From what I've seen so far," Al said, "I believe Easter will be our greatest home run threat this year.

"A club's best left-handed hitter should bat third because he gets to the plate more often and is less likely to hit into a double play and spoil a rally."

Under the plan, Al Rosen and Larry Doby will follow Easter in the fourth and fifth positions. Dale Mitchell leads off as usual, followed by Bob Avila who arrived at the Tribe's spring training camp yesterday after clearing up some difficulties with U. S. immigration officials in Juarez, Mexico.

Bob Kennedy, a second place hitter for most of 1950, will drop to sixth, followed by Ray Boone, Jim Hegan and the pitcher.

Trailways Set New Hudson Valley League Seasonal Record With 3227

Broskie Smashes 289; Roll 1066, 1060, 1101

Adirondack Trailways set two new seasonal records and threatened an all-time mark in a sensational strike spree against the league-leading Newburgh's Cy's Diner, Saturday night in a Hudson Valley League match at the Bowlodrome.

Led by Harold Broskie, who shot a new high single of 289, the Trailways reeled off game totals of 1066, 1060 and 1101 for a new team standard of 3227. The former high of 3185 was held by Cy's Diner and Broskie's 289 eclipsed the previous record of 278 held by Lou Dipipi of Port Jervis.

With Fred Rice and Johnny Ferraro working on strikes in the last box of the match, the Trailway keglers had an excellent chance to shatter the all-time high of 3254 held by the Middletown State Hospital. But the veteral stalwarts both ran into wide open splits.

Broskie and Rice both flirted with 290 singles. In the first game, Rice opened with a spare, tossed five strikes in a row, then ran into a 10-pin tap which he blew. He then proceeded to strike out. Broskie's 289 solo was hampered by 10-pin taps at the start and finish.

High series honors went to Broskie with 192-203-289—684; Hammerin' Hank Kemmerer turned in the hat trick with 207-236-217-660; Johnny Ferraro had 231-228-216-675 and Johnny Schatzel 222-594.

The league leaders rolled 2775 with Nick Leoce's 213-211-620 setting the pace.

Roll 3070 Series

Following the Cy's Diner match, the Trailways took on the Beacon Main Cycles in a Mid-Hudson Classic match and knocked off 3073 to give them a 1050 game average for six sets Saturday night. They posted 962, 1049 and 1062.

Again four of the Trailways were over the "600" mark, Broskie leading with 651 on 191, 235, 235. Joe Schrowang shot 204-262-602; Fred Rice 210-225-618 and Johnny Ferraro 233-220-647. Hickman's 222-599 led the Main Cycles.

Despite Joe Schrowang's 651, with 205-214-232, and Dick Howard's 236-188-224-648, the Elston Sports keglers dropped two games to New Paltz at the Bowlodrome. Ralph Schroeder shot 215-208-611 for the Paltz quantet.

Middletown Bennetts upended Miron Lumber, 2-1, in a low scoring duel on the Bowlatorium planks in a match devoid of "600" triples. Frank Spada and Charlie Manfro each had 556 for the losers, while Smith's 202-199 sparked the winners.

Columbia Wins Ivy Pennant

New York, March 5 (AP)—Columbia's basketball team can close the regular season with a perfect record by beating Princeton Wednesday on the latter's floor.

The surprising Lions clinched the Ivy League championship and an NCAA tournament spot by downing Pennsylvania Saturday night, 63-58.

This was Columbia's 21st straight victory of the season and its 30th without a defeat over a two-year span. The Lions achieved it despite an ankle injury to Capt. John Azary, who nevertheless limped through the entire game, and a fine performance by Penn's sophomore star, Ernie Beck. Beck, the loop's leading scorer, flipped in 25 points.

Columbia will open its bid for the NCAA title March 20 in New York's Madison Square Garden against the Big Ten champion, either Illinois or Indiana.

Cornell clinched second place in the league standings Saturday by squeezing past Princeton, 53-52. Harvard tied Yale for fifth by beating Yale in an overtime game at New Haven, 59-55.

Columbia has an 11-0 league record, Cornell 9-2.

St. Louis, La Salle Accept NIT Bids; NYU Violets in Line for Invitation

Columbia Set For NCAA Tourney

New York, March 5 (AP)—With the regular college basketball season virtually ended, tournament time approached today with the lines being drawn for the National Invitation and NCAA jousts—the major attractions.

Aside from the fact that Kentucky, rated the nation's No. 1 team for weeks, was handed a stunning upset Saturday by Vanderbilt in the Southeastern Conference tournament finals, most of the league races were following the expected script.

The field for the National Invitation affair, which gets under way Saturday at Madison Square Garden, is almost filled, but 10 places remain in the 16-team NCAA tournament.

Selection of St. Louis (21-7) and La Salle of Philadelphia (22-6) boosted to 10 the number of teams in the N.I.T. two more are to be chosen, probably today, and the names of Oklahoma A.&.M., Cincinnati and New York University were being mentioned.

Columbia NCAA

In the NCAA tournament, which blossoms forth later with three sectional tournaments at New York, Raleigh, N. C., and Kansas City, the picture still is clouded. Six teams, all winners of their respective conference titles, are in the fold. They are Kentucky, Columbia, Arizona, Brigham Young, Kansas State and North Carolina State.

But, four more conference championships must be determined, and the selection committee has to choose six other "at large" or independent teams. There is plenty of time. Play starts at Raleigh and New York March 20, and at Kansas City March 21. The finals will be at Minneapolis, March 27.

Kentucky, blasted by Vanderbilt, 61-57, nevertheless goes into the NCAA affair at Raleigh by virtue of having won the South Eastern Conference title in regular play. It left Kentucky with a 27-2 record.

Charles Choice Over Walcott

Detroit, March 5 (AP)—There's no question about who's the popular favorite in the Ezzard Charles-Joe Walcott fight here Wednesday.

Jersey Joe, shadow-shifty ex-dockhand making his fourth bid for the heavyweight title, rates the popular nod over champion Charles.

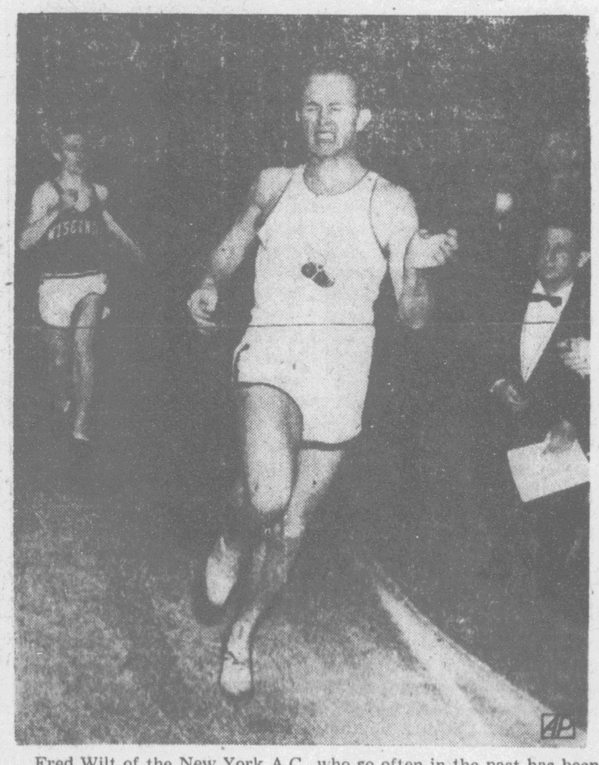

Charles, however, is sure to go into the ring the odds-on betting favorite, principally on the basis of superior boxing skill.

But his earnest, workmanlike attitude loses out to the superior appeal of the aging Walcott, who came out of obscurity to try for the title.

The fight, despite a low top of $12 per seat, is expected to attract a record $85,000 gate at Detroit's Olympia Stadium.

The two fighters wind up their training today.

WILT FINALLY TURNS THE TABLES

Fred Wilt of the New York A.C., who so often in the past has been the runner-up to Don Gehrmann in their mile duels, finally pounds across the finish line ahead of his rival to win the Columbian Mile, feature of the Knights of Columbus Games at Madison Square Garden, N. Y. Gehrmann's loss was his first in 40 consecutive mile runs. Wilt's winning time was 4:08.4.

"That must have been the best city bowling tournament ever run in Kingston," the man told us.

"It had to be," we replied. "Two of the biggest chronic squawkers in local bowling never got a chance to let off their annual tirades."

"Who are they?" the man inquired.

"We won't tell you unless you find out for yourself," was the rejoinder, "but if you can name them we'll give you two tickets to any Madison Square Garden performance."

The offer holds good for any bowler. The guy who names the two on the first shot can qualify for those tickets.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Canadian-American League setting a high standard for managerial selections in 1951. Owen Sheetz, former minor and major league pitcher and coach of the Louisville Colonels for the past three years, will be at Oneonta. Clarence "Buck" Eachlson, who piloted the Mahanoy City Bluebirds in the 1947-48 North Atlantic League, succeeds Emil Gall at Rome, while Al Barillari, the stormy petrel of the Colonial League for three seasons, has anchored at Gloversville. Pittsfield has signed Dick Carter. All of which means that Kingston will have to come up with a "name" player to keep its social standing in the Can-Am loop. Chico Gerard, the playful Puerto Rican, who had another big season in the winter league, is still on the Pittsfield reserve list. Oneonta already has 19 men on its roster and will start training at Ocala, Florida, on March 26. Pittsfield will train at Darlington, S. C. The Massachusetts entry will have a working agreement with the Philadelphia Phillies, who have sent contracts to 31 players eligible for the Pittsfield club. How about half of those coming to Kingston?

• Of Men and Mice:

Charlie Bove, the late pocket billiar star of Port Ewen, figured in a couple of anecdotes that Nick Kaslich recalled on his 30th anniversary and for which we lacked space in Saturday's column.

Bove was a master of the delaying tactics, a deliberate exasperating master, who made a shambles of the nerves of opponents. Julius Tellier, a fidgety, temperamental performer in his heyday, came a cropper against Bove during a tight match one night.

Bove fiddled and faddled, while Tellier sputtered and sizzled. When the old master figured Tellier had just about reached the bursting point, he leaned over and said:

"Is anything wrong?"

"Yes," Tellier exploded, "you're playing --- --- ----- slow!"

Whereupon Bove, needing some chalk for his cue, ignored the two sticks always kept at the championship table, walked halfway across the room to pick up a stray bit of chalk. He calmly and deliberately "chalked up" as they say in the trade, strode back to the table and resumed play.

By this time Tellier had developed a peptic ulcer.

Tony Gentile once devised a scheme to circumvent Bove's dilatory play. He arrived at the Kaslich Palor for a tournament match loaded down with magazines and newspapers. He figured he could catch up on some badly neglected reading while Bove was playing at his shot-a-minute pace. But he, too, wound up eating crow. By the time Bove was through with his first rack, Gentile had abandoned the literature and was rehearsing his sub rosa vocabulary.

No story about the Kaslich Parlor would be complete without a few words about Steve Kaslich, brother of the billiard operator. So far as we are concerned, Steve was the original "camera eye."

He had an uncanny power of memorizing the position of every ball on the table during a particular high run. It was fascinating to hear him describe the bail-by-ball progress of the run, where such-and-such a ball rested when the cueist fouled up and a flock of other small items that escape the eye of the average observer. He kept that inexhaustible source of billiard savvy under his hat. He never took it off.

It's nice to see international co-operation at the sports level in the Pan-Am games. Perhaps the UN would have better luck if it forgot about speeches and resolutions and started a third major league.

Training Camp News in Brief

Same Old Story

Vero Beach, Fla., March 5 (AP)—Same old Rex Barney. The wild man of the Brooklyn Dodgers' pitching staff worked three innings in an intra-squad game yesterday—and granted six walks, heaved four wild pitches and was charged with the loss.

Did it bother this strong right-hander?

Nope.

"I'm not discouraged by those wild pitches," Barney said later, "because I threw some mighty good pitches, too. My curve was working well and my change-up was good. My fast ball was wild, but I'm sure that I'll lick it."

Hopp Confident

Phoenix, Ariz., March 5 (AP)—You'd think a ballplayer 34 years old would start worrying about his job. Not Johnny Hopp, the rugged Nebraskan the New York Yankees obtained from Pittsburgh late last season.

"I don't know what they have in the way of youngsters around here," he said after a workout, "but I feel, despite my age, I can do better than any of 'em. I'll be around playing first or the outfield."

Hartung Sparkles

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 5 (AP)—Clint Hartung, the pitcher-outfielder, is stealing the thunder from the New York Giants' heavy hitters.

Leo Durocher doesn't know where to play the Hondo, Tex., hurricane. On the mound, he's a .500 pitcher at best. In the outfield, he has a notorious reputation for playing singles into triples, and so on.

But Hartung's bat has been smoking in the Giants' intra-squad games. Yesterday he walloped a towering home run that sent the outfielders scurrying among the palm trees in leftcenter field. Last week, he uncorked another tremendous homer.

Stubborn Tigers

Lakeland, Fla., March 5 (AP)—Detroit Tiger General Manager Billy Evans went into conference today with his two holdout star outfielders—Hoot Evers and Vic Wertz.

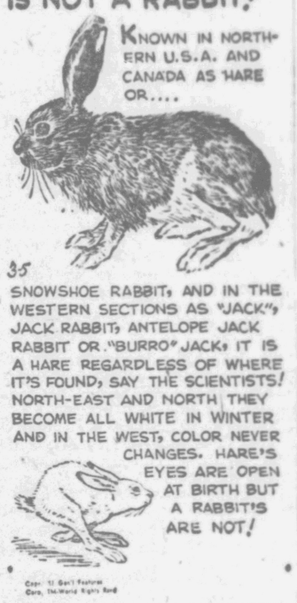

Evans, arriving here yesterday, told newsmen both players had been offered more than $20,000. But it's reported that Wertz is after $26,000 and Evers a higher figure.

"Naturally, I am dissapointed that they are holding out," Evans said. "I hope we can reach an agreement in the shortest time possible, but there is a limit to all salaries."

Argentine Leads Pan Am Games

Buenos Aires, March 5 (AP)—The first Pan American games marks Latin America's coming of age in sports, says Jim Kelly, coach of the United States track team, and from now on the big athletic carnival should produce the best of competition.

So far it's much too keen for the 128-man team the United States sent down here, and as a result of unofficial points in all sports, Argentina went into the seventh day of competition leading with 657 points. The U. S. was second with 510.

"For a real boost to sport all through Latin America, the games couldn't have turned out better," said Kelly, veteran University of Minnesota coach.

Kelly has no alibis for the team he brought, but can't help but wish he had some of the indoor track stars such as Fred Wilt and, Don Gehrmann.

The interest in athletics here was shown yesterday by 75,000 persons in River Platte Stadium for track and field while side sports arenas were jammed, including 10,000 for swimming.

After Argentina and the U. S. in the point totals came Mexico with 158, Brazil 153, Chile 120, Cuba 78, Peru 67, Trinidad 26, Colombia 14, Guatemala 13, Jamaica 12, Venezuela 12, Panama 11, Ecuador 8, Haiti 7, Paraguay 3, El Salvador 2.

Newburgh Star Wins Skate Title

Lake Placid, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—Alex Goguen, 29, of Pittsfield, Mass., won the Senior Men's title in the third annual Lake Placid indoor skating championships yesterday.

Mary Lynch of Newburgh copped the Senior Women's crown in the two-day meet.

Goguen, who has scored several triumphs this season, was first in the mile, the two-mile and ¼-mile races, and third in the 880. He compiled 100 points, 30 more than his nearest competitor, Joe Walsh of Brooklyn.

Miss Lynch scored 110 points, with firsts in the ¼-mile, the 880-yard, and the 440. She was second in the mile.

Gwen Du Bois of Newburgh and Charlotte Chase of Saranac Lake tied for second with 60 points each.

Other division winners:

Easter Penned For No. 3 Slot

Tucson, Ariz., March 5 (AP)—With the Cleveland Indians' regular roster complete today, Manager Al Lopez is trying out a new batting order which puts Luke Easter in the No. 3 slot.

"From what I've seen so far," Al said, "I believe Easter will be our greatest home run threat this year.

"A club's best left-handed hitter should bat third because he gets to the plate more often and is less likely to hit into a double play and spoil a rally."

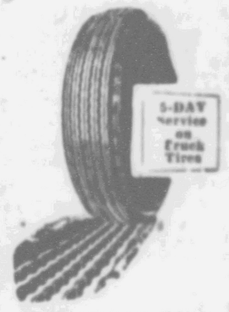

Under the plan, Al Rosen and Larry Doby will follow Easter in the fourth and fifth positions. Dale Mitchell leads off as usual, followed by Bob Avila who arrived at the Tribe's spring training camp yesterday after clearing up some difficulties with U. S. immigration officials in Juarez, Mexico.

Bob Kennedy, a second place hitter for most of 1950, will drop to sixth, followed by Ray Boone, Jim Hegan and the pitcher.

Other scoring was generally high, with "Boots" Leskie posting 233—587; Bill Murray 244—581; Jake Chichelsky 232—566; Sue Heins 231—559 (tops in the distaff department); John Bechtold 205—554; H. He had piled up a 483 double, with 240 and 243, going into the stretch and for the second time in a week needed only a spare in his last frame to move into the Hall of Fame. He finished with 206 and 689.

Seek Tieup of Alleged Coast Bribe Attempt With Eastern Cage 'Fix'

USC Player Reveals $1500 Offer

Los Angeles, March 5 (AP)—Authorities are trying to learn today whether the attempt to bribe a University of Southern California basketball players is connected with the eastern basketball scandal.

In jail in lieu of $50,000 bail is Albert Scroggins, 31, who identifies himself as a former paratrooper and jockeys' agent.

He was arrested Saturday night after Ken Flower, 19-year-old forward on the Trojan team, told his coach, Forrest Twogood, that Scroggins offered him $1,500 to lose a crucial game against the University of California at Los Angeles.

"Scroggins told me we were going to lose anyway, so we might as well lose by 12 points and make some money," Flower, not a first stringer, told officers.

Just before game time, the entire Trojan team was told of the alleged bribe attemp. It apparently aroused the players furiously in a game marred by actual fisticuffs and won, 43-41, to gain a tie with UCLA for the southern division title of the Pacific Coast Conference. A playoff game is scheduled tonight.

Flower told police and university officials that he met Scroggins this way:

The man got talking with him in a hotel where the team was staying prior to the game and asked about purchasing some basketball tickets. Flower went to the latter's room where he was asked if he'd like to make some money.

'Others Fixed'

Scroggins told him he had $1,500 to spend on the "fix," and would give him $500 before the game, and $500 afterwards if USC lost by 12 points, and another $500 to give to another member of the team.

Scroggins said "some of the others are fixed anyhow, so you might as well get yours," Flower quoted him, adding "he told me I'd never find out who the others were."

Flower said he'd think the deal over and immediately notified assistant coach Al Conti, who took the boy to Twogood. Coach Twogood telephoned detectives, who suggested that Flower go through the motions of accepting the bribe.

Flower went to Scroggins' room, but the latter was not there. The basketball player left for the game. Police later arrested Scroggins when he entered his room. He denied complicity in the case.

Detectives said they found a betting marker on which was written from $500 to $2,000 and the names of the competing schools, USC and UCLA.

On the betting marker found in Scroggins' room, detectives said, were written the names "Sica," "Hymie," "Vegas," and "Carl." He claimed the marker was left there by someone else.

Red Cross Blood Program

Whole blood and plasma, flown across the Pacific directly to combat fronts in Korea, have helped save the lives of thousands of wounded servicemen. According to Dr. Richard L. Meiling, director of Medical Services, Department of Defense, the blood program has worked so efficiently that not one bottle was wasted by being outdated. Your contribution to the Red Cross 1951 Fund Campaign will help keep this vital blood program operating at peak efficiency throughout the coming year.

Painting Is Exhibited

Urbana-Champaign, Ill., March 5—Anton Refregier, Woodstock, N. Y., is among 136 artists from throughout the United States represented in the 1951 University of Illinois National Exhibition of Contemporary American Painting which opened yesterday. Title of the Refregier painting is "Picture of My Young Son." The present exhibition is the second University of Illinois show in which this artist's work has been included.

Stobbs Benched; Has Too Much Stuff

Sarasota, Fla., March 5 (AP)—Southpaw Chuck Stobbs is so far advanced that Manager Steve O'Neill has ordered him to sit out the Boston Red Sox workouts until Wednesday.

"The players tell me Stobbs has been throwing curves in batting practice that he was incapable of throwing all last season," O'Neill explained. "I'm not going to permit him to rush himself."

His temporary banishment will be welcomed by such righthanded sluggers as Walt Dropo, Junior Stephens and Bobby Doerr, who have been whiffing most of his lefthanded slants.

Stobbs got away to an equally fast training start last year and then came down with a sore arm that hampered him during all of the regular season.

Brodhead's Deuce Wins for Cadets

A spectacular basket by "Skippy" Broadhead—a one-hander from 25 feet out at the final buzzer—enabled the Y.M.C.A. Cadets to shade Weishaupt's Market, 67-66, in a junior basketball thriller, Saturday at the Y.M.C.A.

Weishaupt's led 21-15 at the quarter, trailed 31-34 at the half, and then regained the lead 54-45 going into the stretch.

With two minutes remaining, the Cadets trailed by five points, when Richard Nagele and Brodhead collaborated for the victory.

Tom Flemmings was high scorer for the Cadets with 17 points, one more than Brodhead. Markle tossed in 12 and Nagele had 11 for the winners.

V.A. Announces Dividend

Washington, March 5 (AP)—A $16,000,000 insurance dividend will be paid to holders of about 440,000 World War One policies, the Veterans Administration announced yesterday. The dividend, representing surplus over death payments and reserves, will boost to about $255,000,000 the total insurance dividend paid to veterans of the First World War. Some veterans hold more than one policy, so the number benefitting will not total 440,000.

Set for Red Arrests

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Director J. Edgar Hoover is reported to have told Congress the FBI is ready to arrest 12,000 first line Communists if war breaks out. Hoover was quoted as having told a Senate appropriations subcommittee in week-end testimony that the Communists now are taking unusual precautions to screen their members against FBI infiltration. Hoover sought a $26,000,000 increase in FBI funds.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

If you have followed these columns recently you know that the Ruminator has placed especial emphasis on the monetary situation—and in particular upon the controversy over the interest rate on long-term bonds.

The reason, as discussed, is that an abnormally low rate of interest on long-term borrowing (ten years and over) is bound to be inflationary because the Federal Reserve System is forced to buy large amounts of government bonds in order to support and hold the market prices of these bonds at and above "par." When the Reserve banks buy bonds it adds to the supply of money and therefore causes monetary inflation. Nothing is more dangerous for our long future than monetary inflation.

It was, therefore, with more than usual interest that this writer read of the announcement Tuesday morning that the President had directed that a "high-level government group" be appointed to investigate and resolve the controversy between the Federal Reserve authorities and the Treasury Department on the interest-rate question and upon other questions of credit controls.

This was a highly significant development because it was only a very short time ago, as you know, that the President called in the Federal Reserve officials and practically "dictated" to them that the present low interest rates be maintained.

For Mr. Truman to have come down off his high horse and to direct that a study be made, after his previous demands, speaks more mouthfuls than appear in the bald announcement.

Moreover, it is significant that Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson is among the group heading the study—which includes Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder, Federal-Reserve Board Chairman Thomas B. McCabe and Leon H. Keyserling, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers. While the group will consist of some members who see no harm in our low interest rates, there are others who will counter with pleas for sound, anti-inflationary money rates.

The important thing is that this question is going to be brought forward and debated. Obviously, it should be openly argued about as it is the greatest problem confronting the nation, aside from the war policy.

The Ruminator, as you may recall, has urged his readers to ask theircongressmen added together their congressmen to look into this matter. Countless writers have been urging action. Everything added together seems to have had results.

One outstanding Democratic senator, Paul Douglas of Illinois, made a strong speech in the Senate a few days ago on the inflationary dangers of cheap money.

It looks very much as if progress will be made.

Let me quote an authority on inflation in this connection. Dr. L. Albert Hahn is a former German banker, economist, and university professor. He came to this country in 1941, after long years of first-hand experience with the German inflations. In an article in the "Freeman" he includes this comment:

"In 1915, the eminent Swedish economist, Wicksell, wrote his famous article 'Raise the Discount Rate.' In that article he cautioned governments against financing war at artificially low interest rates . . . He predicted that the 'savings' to the taxpayer of artificially low interest rates would prove illusory, because inflation would ensue . . . No government heeded Wicksell's warnings in either the first World War or the second . . ."

Further along, Dr. Hahn warned that "no amount of taxation whatever, but only a restriction of the credit supply, can check inflation under present conditions . . . In times of high credit demand, by the government as well as by the private section of the economy, there is only one way of keeping money sound. That is to make it scarce and expensive . . ."

It is comments such as these, that are based upon the hard, cold facts of historical ruinous inflations that we may hope to see brought out and aired to public view. Unfortunately, the public has no conception of and on interest in monetary affairs. Public interest can only be aroused by public discussions carried on by the "top brass" in government. Thus, the Ruminator's present concern and hope that this new group will bring the question out into the bright light for all to see.

Alumni Raise 12 Millions

Ithaca, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—The Cornell University alumni has raised $12,649,000 during a 30-month campaign. The total exceeded the goal by $169,000, John J. Collyer, national chairman of the campaign, said last night. Collyer, president of the B. F. Goodrich Company, said more than 23,000 alumni and other individuals subscribed to the fund, which began July 1, 1948. There were four gifts of $1,000,000 or more, he reported.

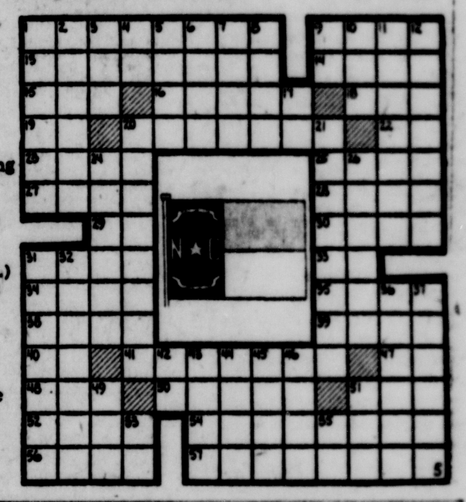

Donald Hopper Bankrupt

New York, March 5 (Special)—A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in United States District Court here Friday by Donald Hopper of 86 Wall street, Kingston, a machinist for Electrol, Inc. He previously, from 1947 to 1950, had been in business at the Ulster-Dutchess Hershey Distributors. Liabilities total $11,528, all in unsecured debts. Assets amounted to $503. Among the creditors are Frank and John Reilly of Lake Katrine, owed $6,985, the Kingston Trust Company, with a note for $2,060, and Minnie Silkworth, 219 Clifton avenue, Kingston, as endorser on the note.

Chrysler again remakes your motoring life!

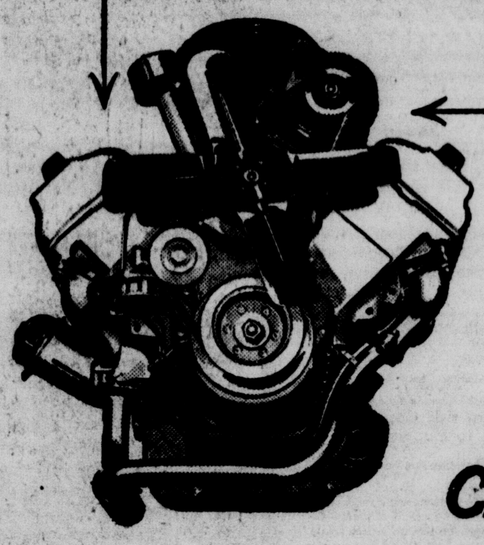

FEEL THE MIGHT OF FirePower...

180 HORSEPOWER

Here you see the secret of FirePower's unmatched ability . . . the new Chrysler Hemispherical Combustion Chamber, heart of the finest motor car engine built today. In this dome-topped, clean-walled area, you see the only ideal combustion chamber in a motor car engine today . . . the only way to develop full combustion, full compression, full work and value from every drop of fuel!

in the handsomest, best-riding new CHRYSLERS ever built!

Not since 1924, when Chrysler introduced the high-compression engine, has there been an engine as basically new as FirePower!

Imagine 180 horsepower . . . in the most efficient and all-round economical motor car engine ever built! With all its matchless road power and performance . . . FirePower gets more work from a gallon of gas than any engine you can drive . . . on regular grade fuel . . . runs almost completely carbon-free . . . will require less attention and upkeep cost than any engine you have ever owned!

But FirePower is only one of the "firsts" in these cars. He had piled up a 483 double, with 240 and 243, going into the stretch and for the second time in a week needed only a spare in his last frame to move into the Hall of Fame. He finished with 206 and 689.

Seek Tieup of Alleged Coast Bribe Attempt With Eastern Cage 'Fix'

USC Player Reveals $1500 Offer

Los Angeles, March 5 (AP)—Authorities are trying to learn today whether the attempt to bribe a University of Southern California basketball players is connected with the eastern basketball scandal.

In jail in lieu of $50,000 bail is Albert Scroggins, 31, who identifies himself as a former paratrooper and jockeys' agent.

He was arrested Saturday night after Ken Flower, 19-year-old forward on the Trojan team, told his coach, Forrest Twogood, that Scroggins offered him $1,500 to lose a crucial game against the University of California at Los Angeles.

"Scroggins told me we were going to lose anyway, so we might as well lose by 12 points and make some money," Flower, not a first stringer, told officers.

Just before game time, the entire Trojan team was told of the alleged bribe attemp. It apparently aroused the players furiously in a game marred by actual fisticuffs and won, 43-41, to gain a tie with UCLA for the southern division title of the Pacific Coast Conference. A playoff game is scheduled tonight.

Flower told police and university officials that he met Scroggins this way:

The man got talking with him in a hotel where the team was staying prior to the game and asked about purchasing some basketball tickets. Flower went to the latter's room where he was asked if he'd like to make some money.

'Others Fixed'

Scroggins told him he had $1,500 to spend on the "fix," and would give him $500 before the game, and $500 afterwards if USC lost by 12 points, and another $500 to give to another member of the team.

Scroggins said "some of the others are fixed anyhow, so you might as well get yours," Flower quoted him, adding "he told me I'd never find out who the others were."

Flower said he'd think the deal over and immediately notified assistant coach Al Conti, who took the boy to Twogood. Coach Twogood telephoned detectives, who suggested that Flower go through the motions of accepting the bribe.

Flower went to Scroggins' room, but the latter was not there. The basketball player left for the game. Police later arrested Scroggins when he entered his room. He denied complicity in the case.

Detectives said they found a betting marker on which was written from $500 to $2,000 and the names of the competing schools, USC and UCLA.

On the betting marker found in Scroggins' room, detectives said, were written the names "Sica," "Hymie," "Vegas," and "Carl." He claimed the marker was left there by someone else.

Joe Sica, Los Angeles, recently indicted on a federal narcotics charge, was a recent witness before the Kefauver Senate Crime Investigating Committee."

Red Cross Blood Program

Whole blood and plasma, flown across the Pacific directly to combat fronts in Korea, have helped save the lives of thousands of wounded servicemen. According to Dr. Richard L. Meiling, director of Medical Services, Department of Defense, the blood program has worked so efficiently that not one bottle was wasted by being outdated. Your contribution to the Red Cross 1951 Fund Campaign will help keep this vital blood program operating at peak efficiency throughout the coming year.

Painting Is Exhibited

Urbana-Champaign, Ill., March 5—Anton Refregier, Woodstock, N. Y., is among 136 artists from throughout the United States represented in the 1951 University of Illinois National Exhibition of Contemporary American Painting which opened yesterday. Title of the Refregier painting is "Picture of My Young Son." The present exhibition is the second University of Illinois show in which this artist's work has been included.

Stobbs Benched; Has Too Much Stuff

Sarasota, Fla., March 5 (AP)—Southpaw Chuck Stobbs is so far advanced that Manager Steve O'Neill has ordered him to sit out the Boston Red Sox workouts until Wednesday.

"The players tell me Stobbs has been throwing curves in batting practice that he was incapable of throwing all last season," O'Neill explained. "I'm not going to permit him to rush himself."

His temporary banishment will be welcomed by such righthanded sluggers as Walt Dropo, Junior Stephens and Bobby Doerr, who have been whiffing most of his lefthanded slants.

Stobbs got away to an equally fast training start last year and then came down with a sore arm that hampered him during all of the regular season.

Brodhead's Deuce Wins for Cadets

A spectacular basket by "Skippy" Broadhead—a one-hander from 25 feet out at the final buzzer—enabled the Y.M.C.A. Cadets to shade Weishaupt's Market, 67-66, in a junior basketball thriller, Saturday at the Y.M.C.A.

Weishaupt's led 21-15 at the quarter, trailed 31-34 at the half, and then regained the lead 54-45 going into the stretch.

With two minutes remaining, the Cadets trailed by five points, when Richard Nagele and Brodhead collaborated for the victory.

Tom Flemmings was high scorer for the Cadets with 17 points, one more than Brodhead. Markle tossed in 12 and Nagele had 11 for the winners.

V.A. Announces Dividend

Washington, March 5 (AP)—A $16,000,000 insurance dividend will be paid to holders of about 440,000 World War One policies, the Veterans Administration announced yesterday. The dividend, representing surplus over death payments and reserves, will boost to about $255,000,000 the total insurance dividend paid to veterans of the First World War. Some veterans hold more than one policy, so the number benefitting will not total 440,000.

Set for Red Arrests

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Director J. Edgar Hoover is reported to have told Congress the FBI is ready to arrest 12,000 first line Communists if war breaks out. Hoover was quoted as having told a Senate appropriations subcommittee in week-end testimony that the Communists now are taking unusual precautions to screen their members against FBI infiltration. Hoover sought a $26,000,000 increase in FBI funds.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

If you have followed these columns recently you know that the Ruminator has placed especial emphasis on the monetary situation—and in particular upon the controversy over the interest rate on long-term bonds.

The reason, as discussed, is that an abnormally low rate of interest on long-term borrowing (ten years and over) is bound to be inflationary because the Federal Reserve System is forced to buy large amounts of government bonds in order to support and hold the market prices of these bonds at and above "par." When the Reserve banks buy bonds it adds to the supply of money and therefore causes monetary inflation. Nothing is more dangerous for our long future than monetary inflation.

It was, therefore, with more than usual interest that this writer read of the announcement Tuesday morning that the President had directed that a "high-level government group" be appointed to investigate and resolve the controversy between the Federal Reserve authorities and the Treasury Department on the interest-rate question and upon other questions of credit controls.

This was a highly significant development because it was only a very short time ago, as you know, that the President called in the Federal Reserve officials and practically "dictated" to them that the present low interest rates be maintained.

For Mr. Truman to have come down off his high horse and to direct that a study be made, after his previous demands, speaks more mouthfuls than appear in the bald announcement.

Moreover, it is significant that Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson is among the group heading the study—which includes Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder, Federal-Reserve Board Chairman Thomas B. McCabe and Leon H. Keyserling, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers. While the group will consist of some members who see no harm in our low interest rates, there are others who will counter with pleas for sound, anti-inflationary money rates.

The important thing is that this question is going to be brought forward and debated. Obviously, it should be openly argued about as it is the greatest problem confronting the nation, aside from the war policy.

The Ruminator, as you may recall, has urged his readers to ask theircongressmen added together their congressmen to look into this matter. Countless writers have been urging action. Everything added together seems to have had results.

One outstanding Democratic senator, Paul Douglas of Illinois, made a strong speech in the Senate a few days ago on the inflationary dangers of cheap money.

It looks very much as if progress will be made.

Let me quote an authority on inflation in this connection. Dr. L. Albert Hahn is a former German banker, economist, and university professor. He came to this country in 1941, after long years of first-hand experience with the German inflations. In an article in the "Freeman" he includes this comment:

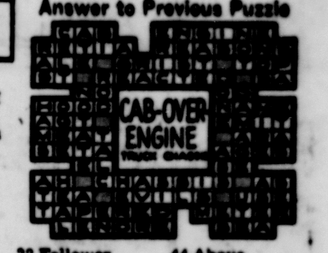

"In 1915, the eminent Swedish economist, Wicksell, wrote his famous article 'Raise the Discount Rate.' In that article he cautioned governments against financing war at artificially low interest rates . . . He predicted that the 'savings' to the taxpayer of artificially low interest rates would prove illusory, because inflation would ensue . . . No government heeded Wicksell's warnings in either the first World War or the second . . ."

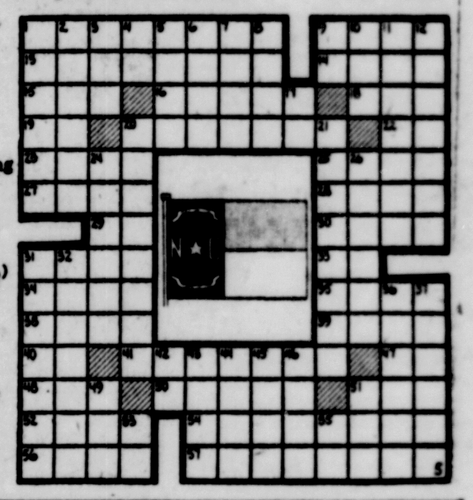

Further along, Dr. Hahn warned that "no amount of taxation whatever, but only a restriction of the credit supply, can check inflation under present conditions . . . In times of high credit demand, by the government as well as by the private section of the economy, there is only one way of keeping money sound. That is to make it scarce and expensive . . ."

It is comments such as these, that are based upon the hard, cold facts of historical ruinous inflations that we may hope to see brought out and aired to public view. Unfortunately, the public has no conception of and on interest in monetary affairs. Public interest can only be aroused by public discussions carried on by the "top brass" in government. Thus, the Ruminator's present concern and hope that this new group will bring the question out into the bright light for all to see.

Alumni Raise 12 Millions

Ithaca, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—The Cornell University alumni has raised $12,649,000 during a 30-month campaign. The total exceeded the goal by $169,000, John J. Collyer, national chairman of the campaign, said last night. Collyer, president of the B. F. Goodrich Company, said more than 23,000 alumni and other individuals subscribed to the fund, which began July 1, 1948. There were four gifts of $1,000,000 or more, he reported.

Donald Hopper Bankrupt

New York, March 5 (Special)—A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in United States District Court here Friday by Donald Hopper of 86 Wall street, Kingston, a machinist for Electrol, Inc. He previously, from 1947 to 1950, had been in business at the Ulster-Dutchess Hershey Distributors. Liabilities total $11,528, all in unsecured debts. Assets amounted to $503. Among the creditors are Frank and John Reilly of Lake Katrine, owed $6,985, the Kingston Trust Company, with a note for $2,060, and Minnie Silkworth, 219 Clifton avenue, Kingston, as endorser on the note.

The newly organized and sanctioned Pinboys League at the Ruzzo Bowlatorium rolled its first games under ABC sanction Saturday, with Ed Haines' 470 leading the four-team loop. He hit for solos of 148, 123 and 199.

Other high scorers for the day were: J. Peyer 467; G. Haines 456; W. Strampton 451; F. Passer 442; N. Naegle 432; R. Paulus 431; P. Sinagra 412.

Other scoring was generally high, with "Boots" Leskie posting 233—587; Bill Murray 244—581; Jake Chichelsky 232—566; Sue Heins 231—559 (tops in the distaff department); John Bechtold 205—554; H. He had piled up a 483 double, with 240 and 243, going into the stretch and for the second time in a week needed only a spare in his last frame to move into the Hall of Fame. He finished with 206 and 689.

Frank Grimaldi was hot on both sides of a 152, with 231 and 235 for 618; "Red" Sangi posted 233—592; Fred Schryver 201-204—580; Jack Houghtaling 216—576; Ken Radel 567; Fred Buchanan 203—558; Orv Van Alstyne 214—535; and William Carr 512. USC Player Reveals $1500 Offer

Los Angeles, March 5 (AP)—Authorities are trying to learn today whether the attempt to bribe a University of Southern California basketball players is connected with the eastern basketball scandal.

In jail in lieu of $50,000 bail is Albert Scroggins, 31, who identifies himself as a former paratrooper and jockeys' agent.

He was arrested Saturday night after Ken Flower, 19-year-old forward on the Trojan team, told his coach, Forrest Twogood, that Scroggins offered him $1,500 to lose a crucial game against the University of California at Los Angeles.

"Scroggins told me we were going to lose anyway, so we might as well lose by 12 points and make some money," Flower, not a first stringer, told officers.

Just before game time, the entire Trojan team was told of the alleged bribe attemp. It apparently aroused the players furiously in a game marred by actual fisticuffs and won, 43-41, to gain a tie with UCLA for the southern division title of the Pacific Coast Conference. A playoff game is scheduled tonight.

Flower told police and university officials that he met Scroggins this way:

The man got talking with him in a hotel where the team was staying prior to the game and asked about purchasing some basketball tickets. Flower went to the latter's room where he was asked if he'd like to make some money.

'Others Fixed'

Scroggins told him he had $1,500 to spend on the "fix," and would give him $500 before the game, and $500 afterwards if USC lost by 12 points, and another $500 to give to another member of the team.

Scroggins said "some of the others are fixed anyhow, so you might as well get yours," Flower quoted him, adding "he told me I'd never find out who the others were."

Flower said he'd think the deal over and immediately notified assistant coach Al Conti, who took the boy to Twogood. Coach Twogood telephoned detectives, who suggested that Flower go through the motions of accepting the bribe.

Flower went to Scroggins' room, but the latter was not there. The basketball player left for the game. Police later arrested Scroggins when he entered his room. He denied complicity in the case.

Detectives said they found a betting marker on which was written from $500 to $2,000 and the names of the competing schools, USC and UCLA.

On the betting marker found in Scroggins' room, detectives said, were written the names "Sica," "Hymie," "Vegas," and "Carl." He claimed the marker was left there by someone else.

Joe Sica, Los Angeles, recently indicted on a federal narcotics charge, was a recent witness before the Kefauver Senate Crime Investigating Committee."

Stobbs Benched; Has Too Much Stuff

Sarasota, Fla., March 5 (AP)—Southpaw Chuck Stobbs is so far advanced that Manager Steve O'Neill has ordered him to sit out the Boston Red Sox workouts until Wednesday.

"The players tell me Stobbs has been throwing curves in batting practice that he was incapable of throwing all last season," O'Neill explained. "I'm not going to permit him to rush himself."

His temporary banishment will be welcomed by such righthanded sluggers as Walt Dropo, Junior Stephens and Bobby Doerr, who have been whiffing most of his lefthanded slants.

Stobbs got away to an equally fast training start last year and then came down with a sore arm that hampered him during all of the regular season.

Brodhead's Deuce Wins for Cadets

A spectacular basket by "Skippy" Broadhead—a one-hander from 25 feet out at the final buzzer—enabled the Y.M.C.A. Cadets to shade Weishaupt's Market, 67-66, in a junior basketball thriller, Saturday at the Y.M.C.A.

Weishaupt's led 21-15 at the quarter, trailed 31-34 at the half, and then regained the lead 54-45 going into the stretch.

With two minutes remaining, the Cadets trailed by five points, when Richard Nagele and Brodhead collaborated for the victory.

Tom Flemmings was high scorer for the Cadets with 17 points, one more than Brodhead. Markle tossed in 12 and Nagele had 11 for the winners.

Red Cross Blood Program

Whole blood and plasma, flown across the Pacific directly to combat fronts in Korea, have helped save the lives of thousands of wounded servicemen. According to Dr. Richard L. Meiling, director of Medical Services, Department of Defense, the blood program has worked so efficiently that not one bottle was wasted by being outdated. Your contribution to the Red Cross 1951 Fund Campaign will help keep this vital blood program operating at peak efficiency throughout the coming year.

Painting Is Exhibited

Urbana-Champaign, Ill., March 5—Anton Refregier, Woodstock, N. Y., is among 136 artists from throughout the United States represented in the 1951 University of Illinois National Exhibition of Contemporary American Painting which opened yesterday. Title of the Refregier painting is "Picture of My Young Son." The present exhibition is the second University of Illinois show in which this artist's work has been included.

V.A. Announces Dividend

Washington, March 5 (AP)—A $16,000,000 insurance dividend will be paid to holders of about 440,000 World War One policies, the Veterans Administration announced yesterday. The dividend, representing surplus over death payments and reserves, will boost to about $255,000,000 the total insurance dividend paid to veterans of the First World War. Some veterans hold more than one policy, so the number benefitting will not total 440,000.

Set for Red Arrests

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Director J. Edgar Hoover is reported to have told Congress the FBI is ready to arrest 12,000 first line Communists if war breaks out. Hoover was quoted as having told a Senate appropriations subcommittee in week-end testimony that the Communists now are taking unusual precautions to screen their members against FBI infiltration. Hoover sought a $26,000,000 increase in FBI funds.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

If you have followed these columns recently you know that the Ruminator has placed especial emphasis on the monetary situation—and in particular upon the controversy over the interest rate on long-term bonds.

The reason, as discussed, is that an abnormally low rate of interest on long-term borrowing (ten years and over) is bound to be inflationary because the Federal Reserve System is forced to buy large amounts of government bonds in order to support and hold the market prices of these bonds at and above "par." When the Reserve banks buy bonds it adds to the supply of money and therefore causes monetary inflation. Nothing is more dangerous for our long future than monetary inflation.

It was, therefore, with more than usual interest that this writer read of the announcement Tuesday morning that the President had directed that a "high-level government group" be appointed to investigate and resolve the controversy between the Federal Reserve authorities and the Treasury Department on the interest-rate question and upon other questions of credit controls.

This was a highly significant development because it was only a very short time ago, as you know, that the President called in the Federal Reserve officials and practically "dictated" to them that the present low interest rates be maintained.

For Mr. Truman to have come down off his high horse and to direct that a study be made, after his previous demands, speaks more mouthfuls than appear in the bald announcement.

Moreover, it is significant that Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson is among the group heading the study—which includes Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder, Federal-Reserve Board Chairman Thomas B. McCabe and Leon H. Keyserling, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers. While the group will consist of some members who see no harm in our low interest rates, there are others who will counter with pleas for sound, anti-inflationary money rates.

The important thing is that this question is going to be brought forward and debated. Obviously, it should be openly argued about as it is the greatest problem confronting the nation, aside from the war policy.

The Ruminator, as you may recall, has urged his readers to ask theircongressmen added together their congressmen to look into this matter. Countless writers have been urging action. Everything added together seems to have had results.

One outstanding Democratic senator, Paul Douglas of Illinois, made a strong speech in the Senate a few days ago on the inflationary dangers of cheap money.

It looks very much as if progress will be made.

Let me quote an authority on inflation in this connection. Dr. L. Albert Hahn is a former German banker, economist, and university professor. He came to this country in 1941, after long years of first-hand experience with the German inflations. In an article in the "Freeman" he includes this comment:

"In 1915, the eminent Swedish economist, Wicksell, wrote his famous article 'Raise the Discount Rate.' In that article he cautioned governments against financing war at artificially low interest rates . . . He predicted that the 'savings' to the taxpayer of artificially low interest rates would prove illusory, because inflation would ensue . . . No government heeded Wicksell's warnings in either the first World War or the second . . ."

Further along, Dr. Hahn warned that "no amount of taxation whatever, but only a restriction of the credit supply, can check inflation under present conditions . . . In times of high credit demand, by the government as well as by the private section of the economy, there is only one way of keeping money sound. That is to make it scarce and expensive . . ."

It is comments such as these, that are based upon the hard, cold facts of historical ruinous inflations that we may hope to see brought out and aired to public view. Unfortunately, the public has no conception of and on interest in monetary affairs. Public interest can only be aroused by public discussions carried on by the "top brass" in government. Thus, the Ruminator's present concern and hope that this new group will bring the question out into the bright light for all to see.

Ithaca, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—The Cornell University alumni has raised $12,649,000 during a 30-month campaign. The total exceeded the goal by $169,000, John J. Collyer, national chairman of the campaign, said last night. Collyer, president of the B. F. Goodrich Company, said more than 23,000 alumni and other individuals subscribed to the fund, which began July 1, 1948. There were four gifts of $1,000,000 or more, he reported.

Opening lead—♦ Q

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When Boris Koytchou, one of France's leading players, was here in February he naturally gravitated to the expert games at New York's famous Regency Club. Incidentally, don't be thrown by the fact that Koytchou's name is Russian. France seems to be a haven for expert bridge players of all nationalities. For many years the leading players in France were Pierre Albarran (a Spaniard) and Sophocle Venizelos (now a leading Greek statesman).

Koytchou played many hands brilliantly during his stay here, but the quality of an expert's game is often shown by "quiet" gems of the kind shown today.

Koytchou won the opening diamond lead with the ace and noted that he needed only to draw trumps without losing more than three trump tricks. Pretend that you cannot see the cards held by East and West. How should declarer play the spades?

At the second trick, Koytchou quite properly led the deuce of spades. East won with the six of spades and returned a diamond. Declarer won and then led a second small spade. This time East had to play his ace.

The rest was easy. Koytchou ruffed the diamond return and led the queen of spades. West could take his king, but then declarer could draw the last trump with the jack.

A may be seen, the correct play succeeds if either opponent has the doubleton ace or the doubleton king of spades; and, of course, any line of play works if the spades are 3-3. It should be noted also that South must lose four spade tricks if he makes the mistake of beginning the trumps by leading the queen. East will win the first trick with the ace, after which West must make three more trump tricks.

Annual Flower Show Is Opened

New York, March 5 (AP) — The 35th International Flower Show opens at noon today, with most of its four acres of exhibits devoted to brilliantly blooming spring and summer flowers.

The entire first floor of Grand Central Palace, annual home of the big show, was devoted to large and small gardens demonstrating the theme of "gardens for town and country."

Commercial growers and hundreds of amateurs worked through Sunday night readying their displays and exhibits for the opening of the show. Workmen struggled carrying large trees into their positions among the displays, setting up hoses and metal troughs so that waterfalls and streams could be simulated, and putting down beds of peat moss on top of which velvety pieces of growing turf were fitted.

On upper floors, Garden Club members worked with flower arrangements, models of gardens and other displays, preparing for the rounds of the judges today.

The show, earlier than usual this year because of the early date of Easter, will continue through Saturday.

Mozart, Brahms Music Featured at Concert

Woodstock, March 5—It would seem that it is only necessary for the Woodstock winter concert series committee to announce a concert date for the elements to begin preparing a full-scale snowstorm. Saturday night's heavy fall and the ensuing difficult road conditions did not, however, deter the ever-growing and loyal audience from attending the second concert in the winter series Sunday afternoon at the Town Hall.

Offering as their first number the Mozart Piano Quartet No. 2, Inez Carroll, pianist; Alice Smiley, violinist; Genevieve Nichols, violist; and Hans Cohn, cellist, played with exceptional integration and balance. Throughout the work they displayed a delicacy of feeling, fine shading and the agile technique necessary to a good performance of the work, particularly in the brilliant piano passages.

In contrast the appealing Brahms Trio No. 2 was rich with singing melody and lyrical moving phrases.

Few musical groups are probably hampered by the distances involved for the musicians to rehearse with Mrs. Smiley in Mohonk, Miss Nichols in Poughkeepsie and Inez Carroll and Dr. Cohn in Woodstock. In the comparatively short time in which they have been rehearsing together, they have achieved a singular unity, exuding almost a feeling a gaiety as though they were all having the most wonderful time in the world—and certainly the feeling has penetrated to their more than enthusiastic audience.

During the intermission Houston Richards announced that at the next concert Sunday, April 15, the group will play the Chanson Piano Quartet.

Scouts Plan Supper

Woodstock, March 5—A sausage and pancake supper will be served at the Woodstock Dutch Reformed Church Monday, March 12, at 5:30 p. m., for Souts and Scouters of Troop 34 and their families. Following the supper there will be a Scout court of honor at the Woodstock School. A collection will be taken to defray costs of the supper. Anything realized beyond expenses will be put in the Scout treasury. Reservations for the supper may be made by communicating with the Rev. Harvey I. Todd.

Opens Red Cross Drive

Woodstock, March 5—George M. Hard announced the official opening of the Red Cross drive in Woodstock at the basketball game Friday night at the Woodstock School. He displayed the official Red Cross sticker in order that everyone in the village might become familiar with the emblem, and he hopes that every resident of Woodstock will soon have a sticker on the window and a Red Cross membership card in his pocket. Although the mailing list is incomplete, Hard said that he hoped that persons not reached by letter or in person will mail contributions to the American Red Cross, Woodstock.

Youth Welfare Fund

Woodstock, March 5—The Masonic Square Club has placed 25 jars in different stores in the village to receive contributions for the Youth Welfare Fund. This fund provides recreation for village young people, pays for trips to summer camps and helps to support the Cub Scouts.

Tex and Jinx Feature

Woodstock, March 5—Margaret Webster was the subject of "New York Close-Up" by Tex McCrary and Jinx Falkenburg in the Sunday drama section of the New York Herald Tribune. Starring now as a nun in "The High Ground," Margaret Webster, the article stated, is best known as a Shakespearean director: "I have learned that directors—male or female—have more trouble with authors than with stars or producers. That, of course, is one of the great advantages of directing Shakespeare—when I decide to make cuts or changes, he can't talk back!"

In Flower Show

Woodstock, March 5 — The Woodstock Candeliers, makers of handmade and hand-dipped candles, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Perlmutter, will be represented with a booth in the New York Flower Show. Owing to a specially designed flower holder candle, they were given the opportunity to participate in the show. The candle, which contains small wells at the base to hold water, may become the center of either a simple or an elaborate flower arrangement. Other designs which will be shown are the "candelite," which is in the form of a small candlestick, the "ancient bottle" and the "ropes massive," suitable for a modern or antique setting. The candles come in the colors of white, mahogany, green, red and yellow.

Hanley Money Is Target of Senate Looking for 'Deal'

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) says a Senate Elections Committee he heads is interested in the financial affairs of Joe, R. Hanley, former lieutenant governor of New York, "only if it could be shown they had a bearing on the objective of our investigation."

And that objective, Gillette told a reporter yesterday, is to find out "whether there was a deal" involved when Hanley agreed to seek the Republican nomination of a U. S. Senate seat.

The inquiry, Gillette said, is continuing. Other committee members who asked not to be quoted by name said Hanley had supplied an affidavit saying he has received no money or anything else of value for agreeing to step out of the New York gubernatorial race.

He had been virtually assured of the G.O.P. nomination. After he withdrew and entered the senatorial contest, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey reversed his announced intention to retire and sought a third term. He was elected, Hanley lost out in the November election to Senator Lehman (D-Lib.-N. Y.).

Hanley said in a letter which came out during the campaign he had been promised he would be able to clean up certain financial obligations if he ran for the Senate. He later was appointed to a $16,000 a year position with the State Division of Veterans Affairs.

Duty to Investigate

"The factors that brought the committee into the New York election picture were written complaints charging that the Republican senatorial nomination was the result of a deal under which Mr. Hanley—in return for withdrawing his gubernatorial candidacy and becoming a senatorial candidate—would be assured certain financial security and, if defeated for the Senate, be assured of a state job at an attractive salary," Gillette said.

"The committee . . . does have the duty and the obligation to investigate charges there was trafficking in senatorial nominations. . . .

"The report of our committee will deal with whether there was the kind of a deal I have mentioned, and not with who owes who, unless it could be shown that it was a bearing on our investigation of whether there was a deal."

Russia Told

Welcomes Idea

Rather than shying away from such talks, Jessup said, the west had welcomed the idea, but had insisted that the conferees get down to cases and discuss the things which are really causing international strife.

As a result of America's experience in past discussions with the Russians, Jessup said, the U. S. could not expect any phenomenal results, but it hopes something will come out of the talks this time.

The western delegates in two preliminary meetings yesterday agreed unanimously on a solid front. Informed sources said they would insist that any Big Four foreign ministers' conference take up:

1. The general question of armaments—both those of the east and of the west.
2. The German problem.
3. An Austrian peace treaty.

stronghold was "bristling with enemy troops, gun emplacements, tunnels, log bunkers and freshly dug trenches."

Localized Attacks Stopped

The smash at the Red redoubt was launched after allied troops beat off localized Red attacks at both ends of the central front.

In the middle sector, the U. S. First Marine Division pressed northward through a narrow mountain canyon north of Saemal, vital road junction five miles north of shattered Hoengsong.

The marine advance was slow and bitter among steep-sided peaks where Red riflemen and mortars lurked behind craggy defenses. It was aimed at the important road hub of Hongchon, nine miles north of Saemal, believed to be the main build-up point of Red troops on the central front.

Charge Is Withdrawn

A third degree assault charge against Robert Davis, 31, of 522 Broadway, was withdrawn before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today. Davis was arrested Feb. 21 by John Goumas, proprietor of the Texas Lunch, 522 Broadway, who, according to the information, charged that Davis grabbed and pushed him and tore his clothing.

Boy, 15, Is Held As Escapee From School of Reform

A 15-year-old boy who is six feet, five inches tall was detained by Trooper Dunn at Phoenicia Sunday afternoon after he reportedly escaped from a Pennsylvania reform school and made his way to Ulster county in a stolen automobile.

The boy, whose name is withheld because of his youth, escaped from a reform school at Glen Mills, Pa., and stole a 1949 Studebaker sedan from West Chester, Pa., according to Pennsylvania authorities.

He traveled on Route 17 as far as Wurtsboro, where he turned off on Route 209 to Kerhonkson. Cutting over toward Route 28A, he reached Samsonville when the automobile ran out of gasoline, Trooper Dunn reported. The tall youngster then hitch hiked to Phoenicia.

Trooper Dunn was notified when a Phoenicia resident saw the youth break a window in a bungalow in the west side of the village, seeking to find shelter. The trooper apprehended the youngster at the bungalow Sunday afternoon and brought him to Kingston, where he was placed in a detention room at the court house to await arrival of Pennsylvania authorities.

Opening lead—♦ Q

When Boris Koytchou, one of France's leading players, was here in February he naturally gravitated to the expert games at New York's famous Regency Club. Incidentally, don't be thrown by the fact that Koytchou's name is Russian. France seems to be a haven for expert bridge players of all nationalities. For many years the leading players in France were Pierre Albarran (a Spaniard) and Sophocle Venizelos (now a leading Greek statesman).

Koytchou played many hands brilliantly during his stay here, but the quality of an expert's game is often shown by "quiet" gems of the kind shown today.

Koytchou won the opening diamond lead with the ace and noted that he needed only to draw trumps without losing more than three trump tricks. Pretend that you cannot see the cards held by East and West. How should declarer play the spades?

At the second trick, Koytchou quite properly led the deuce of spades. East won with the six of spades and returned a diamond. Declarer won and then led a second small spade. This time East had to play his ace.

The rest was easy. Koytchou ruffed the diamond return and led the queen of spades. West could take his king, but then declarer could draw the last trump with the jack.

A may be seen, the correct play succeeds if either opponent has the doubleton ace or the doubleton king of spades; and, of course, any line of play works if the spades are 3-3. It should be noted also that South must lose four spade tricks if he makes the mistake of beginning the trumps by leading the queen. East will win the first trick with the ace, after which West must make three more trump tricks.

Annual Flower Show Is Opened

New York, March 5 (AP) — The 35th International Flower Show opens at noon today, with most of its four acres of exhibits devoted to brilliantly blooming spring and summer flowers.

The entire first floor of Grand Central Palace, annual home of the big show, was devoted to large and small gardens demonstrating the theme of "gardens for town and country."

Commercial growers and hundreds of amateurs worked through Sunday night readying their displays and exhibits for the opening of the show. Workmen struggled carrying large trees into their positions among the displays, setting up hoses and metal troughs so that waterfalls and streams could be simulated, and putting down beds of peat moss on top of which velvety pieces of growing turf were fitted.

On upper floors, Garden Club members worked with flower arrangements, models of gardens and other displays, preparing for the rounds of the judges today.

The show, earlier than usual this year because of the early date of Easter, will continue through Saturday.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, JR.

Mozart, Brahms Music Featured at Concert

Woodstock, March 5—It would seem that it is only necessary for the Woodstock winter concert series committee to announce a concert date for the elements to begin preparing a full-scale snowstorm. Saturday night's heavy fall and the ensuing difficult road conditions did not, however, deter the ever-growing and loyal audience from attending the second concert in the winter series Sunday afternoon at the Town Hall.

Offering as their first number the Mozart Piano Quartet No. 2, Inez Carroll, pianist; Alice Smiley, violinist; Genevieve Nichols, violist; and Hans Cohn, cellist, played with exceptional integration and balance. Throughout the work they displayed a delicacy of feeling, fine shading and the agile technique necessary to a good performance of the work, particularly in the brilliant piano passages.

In contrast the appealing Brahms Trio No. 2 was rich with singing melody and lyrical moving phrases.

Few musical groups are probably hampered by the distances involved for the musicians to rehearse with Mrs. Smiley in Mohonk, Miss Nichols in Poughkeepsie and Inez Carroll and Dr. Cohn in Woodstock. In the comparatively short time in which they have been rehearsing together, they have achieved a singular unity, exuding almost a feeling a gaiety as though they were all having the most wonderful time in the world—and certainly the feeling has penetrated to their more than enthusiastic audience.

During the intermission Houston Richards announced that at the next concert Sunday, April 15, the group will play the Chanson Piano Quartet.

Scouts Plan Supper

Woodstock, March 5—A sausage and pancake supper will be served at the Woodstock Dutch Reformed Church Monday, March 12, at 5:30 p. m., for Souts and Scouters of Troop 34 and their families. Following the supper there will be a Scout court of honor at the Woodstock School. A collection will be taken to defray costs of the supper. Anything realized beyond expenses will be put in the Scout treasury. Reservations for the supper may be made by communicating with the Rev. Harvey I. Todd.

Opens Red Cross Drive

Woodstock, March 5—George M. Hard announced the official opening of the Red Cross drive in Woodstock at the basketball game Friday night at the Woodstock School. He displayed the official Red Cross sticker in order that everyone in the village might become familiar with the emblem, and he hopes that every resident of Woodstock will soon have a sticker on the window and a Red Cross membership card in his pocket. Although the mailing list is incomplete, Hard said that he hoped that persons not reached by letter or in person will mail contributions to the American Red Cross, Woodstock.

Youth Welfare Fund

Woodstock, March 5—The Masonic Square Club has placed 25 jars in different stores in the village to receive contributions for the Youth Welfare Fund. This fund provides recreation for village young people, pays for trips to summer camps and helps to support the Cub Scouts.

Tex and Jinx Feature

Woodstock, March 5—Margaret Webster was the subject of "New York Close-Up" by Tex McCrary and Jinx Falkenburg in the Sunday drama section of the New York Herald Tribune. Starring now as a nun in "The High Ground," Margaret Webster, the article stated, is best known as a Shakespearean director: "I have learned that directors—male or female—have more trouble with authors than with stars or producers. That, of course, is one of the great advantages of directing Shakespeare—when I decide to make cuts or changes, he can't talk back!"

In Flower Show

Woodstock, March 5 — The Woodstock Candeliers, makers of handmade and hand-dipped candles, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Perlmutter, will be represented with a booth in the New York Flower Show. Owing to a specially designed flower holder candle, they were given the opportunity to participate in the show. The candle, which contains small wells at the base to hold water, may become the center of either a simple or an elaborate flower arrangement. Other designs which will be shown are the "candelite," which is in the form of a small candlestick, the "ancient bottle" and the "ropes massive," suitable for a modern or antique setting. The candles come in the colors of white, mahogany, green, red and yellow.

Hanley Money Is Target of Senate Looking for 'Deal'

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) says a Senate Elections Committee he heads is interested in the financial affairs of Joe, R. Hanley, former lieutenant governor of New York, "only if it could be shown they had a bearing on the objective of our investigation."

And that objective, Gillette told a reporter yesterday, is to find out "whether there was a deal" involved when Hanley agreed to seek the Republican nomination of a U. S. Senate seat.

The inquiry, Gillette said, is continuing. Other committee members who asked not to be quoted by name said Hanley had supplied an affidavit saying he has received no money or anything else of value for agreeing to step out of the New York gubernatorial race.

He had been virtually assured of the G.O.P. nomination. After he withdrew and entered the senatorial contest, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey reversed his announced intention to retire and sought a third term. He was elected. Hanley lost out in the November election to Senator Lehman (D-Lib.-N. Y.).

Hanley said in a letter which came out during the campaign he had been promised he would be able to clean up certain financial obligations if he ran for the Senate. He later was appointed to a $16,000 a year position with the State Division of Veterans Affairs.

Duty to Investigate

"The factors that brought the committee into the New York election picture were written complaints charging that the Republican senatorial nomination was the result of a deal under which Mr. Hanley—in return for withdrawing his gubernatorial candidacy and becoming a senatorial candidate—would be assured certain financial security and, if defeated for the Senate, be assured of a state job at an attractive salary," Gillette said.

"The committee . . . does have the duty and the obligation to investigate charges there was trafficking in senatorial nominations. . . .

"The report of our committee will deal with whether there was the kind of a deal I have mentioned, and not with who owes who, unless it could be shown that it was a bearing on our investigation of whether there was a deal."

Russia Told

that this has constantly been emphasized by President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson.

Welcomes Idea

Rather than shying away from such talks, Jessup said, the west had welcomed the idea, but had insisted that the conferees get down to cases and discuss the things which are really causing international strife.

As a result of America's experience in past discussions with the Russians, Jessup said, the U. S. could not expect any phenomenal results, but it hopes something will come out of the talks this time.

The western delegates in two preliminary meetings yesterday agreed unanimously on a solid front. Informed sources said they would insist that any Big Four foreign ministers' conference take up:

1. The general question of armaments—both those of the east and of the west.
2. The German problem.
3. An Austrian peace treaty.

Infantry, Artillery

stronghold was "bristling with enemy troops, gun emplacements, tunnels, log bunkers and freshly dug trenches."

Localized Attacks Stopped

The smash at the Red redoubt was launched after allied troops beat off localized Red attacks at both ends of the central front.

In the middle sector, the U. S. First Marine Division pressed northward through a narrow mountain canyon north of Saemal, vital road junction five miles north of shattered Hoengsong.

The marine advance was slow and bitter among steep-sided peaks where Red riflemen and mortars lurked behind craggy defenses. It was aimed at the important road hub of Hongchon, nine miles north of Saemal, believed to be the main build-up point of Red troops on the central front.

Charge Is Withdrawn

A third degree assault charge against Robert Davis, 31, of 522 Broadway, was withdrawn before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today. Davis was arrested Feb. 21 by John Goumas, proprietor of the Texas Lunch, 522 Broadway, who, according to the information, charged that Davis grabbed and pushed him and tore his clothing.

Boy, 15, Is Held As Escapee From School of Reform

A 15-year-old boy who is six feet, five inches tall was detained by Trooper Dunn at Phoenicia Sunday afternoon after he reportedly escaped from a Pennsylvania reform school and made his way to Ulster county in a stolen automobile.

The boy, whose name is withheld because of his youth, escaped from a reform school at Glen Mills, Pa., and stole a 1949 Studebaker sedan from West Chester, Pa., according to Pennsylvania authorities.

He traveled on Route 17 as far as Wurtsboro, where he turned off on Route 209 to Kerhonkson. Cutting over toward Route 28A, he reached Samsonville when the automobile ran out of gasoline, Trooper Dunn reported. The tall youngster then hitch hiked to Phoenicia.

Trooper Dunn was notified when a Phoenicia resident saw the youth break a window in a bungalow in the west side of the village, seeking to find shelter. The trooper apprehended the youngster at the bungalow Sunday afternoon and brought him to Kingston, where he was placed in a detention room at the court house to await arrival of Pennsylvania authorities.

Opening lead—♦ Q

When Boris Koytchou, one of France's leading players, was here in February he naturally gravitated to the expert games at New York's famous Regency Club. Incidentally, don't be thrown by the fact that Koytchou's name is Russian. France seems to be a haven for expert bridge players of all nationalities. For many years the leading players in France were Pierre Albarran (a Spaniard) and Sophocle Venizelos (now a leading Greek statesman).

Koytchou played many hands brilliantly during his stay here, but the quality of an expert's game is often shown by "quiet" gems of the kind shown today.

Koytchou won the opening diamond lead with the ace and noted that he needed only to draw trumps without losing more than three trump tricks. Pretend that you cannot see the cards held by East and West. How should declarer play the spades?

At the second trick, Koytchou quite properly led the deuce of spades. East won with the six of spades and returned a diamond. Declarer won and then led a second small spade. This time East had to play his ace.

The rest was easy. Koytchou ruffed the diamond return and led the queen of spades. West could take his king, but then declarer could draw the last trump with the jack.

A may be seen, the correct play succeeds if either opponent has the doubleton ace or the doubleton king of spades; and, of course, any line of play works if the spades are 3-3. It should be noted also that South must lose four spade tricks if he makes the mistake of beginning the trumps by leading the queen. East will win the first trick with the ace, after which West must make three more trump tricks.

Annual Flower Show Is Opened

New York, March 5 (AP) — The 35th International Flower Show opens at noon today, with most of its four acres of exhibits devoted to brilliantly blooming spring and summer flowers.

The entire first floor of Grand Central Palace, annual home of the big show, was devoted to large and small gardens demonstrating the theme of "gardens for town and country."

Commercial growers and hundreds of amateurs worked through Sunday night readying their displays and exhibits for the opening of the show. Workmen struggled carrying large trees into their positions among the displays, setting up hoses and metal troughs so that waterfalls and streams could be simulated, and putting down beds of peat moss on top of which velvety pieces of growing turf were fitted.

On upper floors, Garden Club members worked with flower arrangements, models of gardens and other displays, preparing for the rounds of the judges today.

The show, earlier than usual this year because of the early date of Easter, will continue through Saturday.

Mozart, Brahms Music Featured at Concert

Woodstock, March 5—It would seem that it is only necessary for the Woodstock winter concert series committee to announce a concert date for the elements to begin preparing a full-scale snowstorm. Saturday night's heavy fall and the ensuing difficult road conditions did not, however, deter the ever-growing and loyal audience from attending the second concert in the winter series Sunday afternoon at the Town Hall.

Offering as their first number the Mozart Piano Quartet No. 2, Inez Carroll, pianist; Alice Smiley, violinist; Genevieve Nichols, violist; and Hans Cohn, cellist, played with exceptional integration and balance. Throughout the work they displayed a delicacy of feeling, fine shading and the agile technique necessary to a good performance of the work, particularly in the brilliant piano passages.

In contrast the appealing Brahms Trio No. 2 was rich with singing melody and lyrical moving phrases.

Few musical groups are probably hampered by the distances involved for the musicians to rehearse with Mrs. Smiley in Mohonk, Miss Nichols in Poughkeepsie and Inez Carroll and Dr. Cohn in Woodstock. In the comparatively short time in which they have been rehearsing together, they have achieved a singular unity, exuding almost a feeling a gaiety as though they were all having the most wonderful time in the world—and certainly the feeling has penetrated to their more than enthusiastic audience.

During the intermission Houston Richards announced that at the next concert Sunday, April 15, the group will play the Chanson Piano Quartet.

Scouts Plan Supper

Woodstock, March 5—A sausage and pancake supper will be served at the Woodstock Dutch Reformed Church Monday, March 12, at 5:30 p. m., for Souts and Scouters of Troop 34 and their families. Following the supper there will be a Scout court of honor at the Woodstock School. A collection will be taken to defray costs of the supper. Anything realized beyond expenses will be put in the Scout treasury. Reservations for the supper may be made by communicating with the Rev. Harvey I. Todd.

Opens Red Cross Drive

Woodstock, March 5—George M. Hard announced the official opening of the Red Cross drive in Woodstock at the basketball game Friday night at the Woodstock School. He displayed the official Red Cross sticker in order that everyone in the village might become familiar with the emblem, and he hopes that every resident of Woodstock will soon have a sticker on the window and a Red Cross membership card in his pocket. Although the mailing list is incomplete, Hard said that he hoped that persons not reached by letter or in person will mail contributions to the American Red Cross, Woodstock.

Youth Welfare Fund

Tex and Jinx Feature

Woodstock, March 5—Margaret Webster was the subject of "New York Close-Up" by Tex McCrary and Jinx Falkenburg in the Sunday drama section of the New York Herald Tribune. Starring now as a nun in "The High Ground," Margaret Webster, the article stated, is best known as a Shakespearean director: "I have learned that directors—male or female—have more trouble with authors than with stars or producers. That, of course, is one of the great advantages of directing Shakespeare—when I decide to make cuts or changes, he can't talk back!"

In Flower Show

Woodstock, March 5 — The Woodstock Candeliers, makers of handmade and hand-dipped candles, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Perlmutter, will be represented with a booth in the New York Flower Show. Owing to a specially designed flower holder candle, they were given the opportunity to participate in the show. The candle, which contains small wells at the base to hold water, may become the center of either a simple or an elaborate flower arrangement. Other designs which will be shown are the "candelite," which is in the form of a small candlestick, the "ancient bottle" and the "ropes massive," suitable for a modern or antique setting. The candles come in the colors of white, mahogany, green, red and yellow.

Hanley Money Is Target of Senate Looking for 'Deal'

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) says a Senate Elections Committee he heads is interested in the financial affairs of Joe, R. Hanley, former lieutenant governor of New York, "only if it could be shown they had a bearing on the objective of our investigation."

And that objective, Gillette told a reporter yesterday, is to find out "whether there was a deal" involved when Hanley agreed to seek the Republican nomination of a U. S. Senate seat.

The inquiry, Gillette said, is continuing. Other committee members who asked not to be quoted by name said Hanley had supplied an affidavit saying he has received no money or anything else of value for agreeing to step out of the New York gubernatorial race.

He had been virtually assured of the G.O.P. nomination. After he withdrew and entered the senatorial contest, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey reversed his announced intention to retire and sought a third term. He was elected, Hanley lost out in the November election to Senator Lehman (D-Lib.-N. Y.).

Hanley said in a letter which came out during the campaign he had been promised he would be able to clean up certain financial obligations if he ran for the Senate. He later was appointed to a $16,000 a year position with the State Division of Veterans Affairs.

Duty to Investigate

"The factors that brought the committee into the New York election picture were written complaints charging that the Republican senatorial nomination was the result of a deal under which Mr. Hanley—in return for withdrawing his gubernatorial candidacy and becoming a senatorial candidate—would be assured certain financial security and, if defeated for the Senate, be assured of a state job at an attractive salary," Gillette said.

"The committee . . . does have the duty and the obligation to investigate charges there was trafficking in senatorial nominations. . . .

"The report of our committee will deal with whether there was the kind of a deal I have mentioned, and not with who owes who, unless it could be shown that it was a bearing on our investigation of whether there was a deal."

Russia Told

that this has constantly been emphasized by President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson.

Welcomes Idea

Rather than shying away from such talks, Jessup said, the west had welcomed the idea, but had insisted that the conferees get down to cases and discuss the things which are really causing international strife.

As a result of America's experience in past discussions with the Russians, Jessup said, the U. S. could not expect any phenomenal results, but it hopes something will come out of the talks this time.

The western delegates in two preliminary meetings yesterday agreed unanimously on a solid front. Informed sources said they would insist that any Big Four foreign ministers' conference take up:

1. The general question of armaments—both those of the east and of the west.
2. The German problem.
3. An Austrian peace treaty.

stronghold was "bristling with enemy troops, gun emplacements, tunnels, log bunkers and freshly dug trenches."

Localized Attacks Stopped

The smash at the Red redoubt was launched after allied troops beat off localized Red attacks at both ends of the central front.

In the middle sector, the U. S. First Marine Division pressed northward through a narrow mountain canyon north of Saemal, vital road junction five miles north of shattered Hoengsong.

The marine advance was slow and bitter among steep-sided peaks where Red riflemen and mortars lurked behind craggy defenses. It was aimed at the important road hub of Hongchon, nine miles north of Saemal, believed to be the main build-up point of Red troops on the central front.

Boy, 15, Is Held As Escapee From School of Reform

A 15-year-old boy who is six feet, five inches tall was detained by Trooper Dunn at Phoenicia Sunday afternoon after he reportedly escaped from a Pennsylvania reform school and made his way to Ulster county in a stolen automobile.

The boy, whose name is withheld because of his youth, escaped from a reform school at Glen Mills, Pa., and stole a 1949 Studebaker sedan from West Chester, Pa., according to Pennsylvania authorities.

He traveled on Route 17 as far as Wurtsboro, where he turned off on Route 209 to Kerhonkson. Cutting over toward Route 28A, he reached Samsonville when the automobile ran out of gasoline, Trooper Dunn reported. The tall youngster then hitch hiked to Phoenicia.

Trooper Dunn was notified when a Phoenicia resident saw the youth break a window in a bungalow in the west side of the village, seeking to find shelter. The trooper apprehended the youngster at the bungalow Sunday afternoon and brought him to Kingston, where he was placed in a detention room at the court house to await arrival of Pennsylvania authorities.

Government Rests

disagreed. He said that to accept Rover's theory that the evidence did not link Collazo with any plan to kill Mr. Truman or any of his bodyguards would be to avoid reality.

Defense attorneys are expected to rest their case chiefly on testimony by Collazo that he merely wanted to stage a demonstration in behalf of Puerto Rican independence, and really didn't intend to kill anyone.

George A. Berley, FBI firearms expert, testified Friday that bullets from Collazo's pistol did not kill Private Leslie Coffelt of the White House police.

Could Have Been Fired

He said the three bullets which struck Coffelt "could have been fired" from the pistol of Collazo's companion, Griselio Torresola, but that he could make no "definite conclusion." Torresola was killed.

Berley also said one of the two bullets that struck Collazo came from the gun of Joseph O. Davidson, another White House guard.

He also related that he had examined the guns of six officers who figured in the shooting and that bullets from none of them hit Coffelt.

Collazo, 37, an anti-American Puerto Rican nationalist, is accused of first-degree murder in Coffelt's death. The law under which he was indicted makes no distinction between associates in a felony which results in murder.

Collazo already has told his story from the witness stand. But the jury did not hear it. His testimony came during a defense maneuver seeking to block admission as evidence of statement's he made after the shooting. The defense contends he made the statements only because of threats.

Fort, Junior Grade

Kirkland Lake, Ont. (AP)—The snow "Fort" in which four-year-old Raymond Zoukylou was playing was sturdy enough to stop a runaway five-ton tractor-trailer. Police said the youngster would have been killed if the wall of the fort had not halted the tractor.

Flight to England By Czech Official Termed 'Betrayal'

Bombay, India, March 5 (AP)—Purge-ridden Communist Czechoslovakia's ambassador to India, Bohuslav G. Kratochvil, was reported today to have fled to England. His embassy condemned his flight as a "betrayal of his country."

Formerly ambassador to London, Kratochvil was appointed to his last post in 1949 by the then Foreign Minister Vlado Clementis. The two were described as good friends. The Czechs last week announced the arrest of Clementis for alleged plotting against the Red regime.

The Czechoslovakia Embassy, in New Delhi, said the ambassador with his wife and infant son, "after having been summoned to Prague for consultation, * * * abandoned the embassy without informing the members of his staff." The embassy statement termed the action "his resignation from his official post."

The family was accompanied by the son's governess, a Mrs. Wagner, whose husband, a former Czech army officer, died in a Nazi concentration camp.

Others Also Flee

Reliable sources here said the group sailed Saturday for Britain on the Scindia Steam Navigation Company's ship Jal-Azad.

Reports were current here also that several other Czechs employed in India by agencies of their government in recent weeks had disobeyed orders recalling them to Prague and had gone to London instead.

Kratochvil's departure from New Delhi reportedly was surrounded with great secrecy.

It was reported here that Kratochvil's steamer passage was booked a month ago by an Indian navy officer identified as a Commander Turner. The Czech envoy reportedly did not give a departure date until the last minute.

New Snowfall Advances Total to 40 Inches

A four-inch snowfall Saturday, which hampered travel in the city and county, brought the total to date for the winter to 40 inches.

This is slightly above the 15-year average, which, according to the city engineer's records is 39.35, inches and it is nine inches less than the total for the winter a year ago.

The snow included hail and rain at intervals and packed wet on city streets and county highways. Sanding was required starting early in the storm on hills and intersections in the city, and on county roads, and plows started when it neared the peak depth. Slippery conditions prevailed this morning in some sections of the city and county and sand was needed on some hills and intersections.

'No Truth,' Is Statement

Washington, March 5 (AP)—The navy said today there is "absolutely no truth" to published reports that President Truman has ordered a special guard against submarines in the Gulf of Mexico. A navy spokesman said "no special alert has been ordered by anybody" because no unidentified submarines have been sighted in the Gulf of Mexico or the Caribbean Sea area in recent weeks. A similar denial came from White House and navy officials with President Truman at Key West.

Has Exclusive Service

Ossining, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—Lonely Hearts killer Martha Beck, spending what probably was the last Sunday of her life, had an exclusive religious service yesterday. The fat, 30-year-old Mrs. Beck, scheduled to go to the electric chair at Sing Sing prison Thursday night, was described as "calm and collected." She read newspapers, listened to the radio, and asked a matron if there was "any new development" in her case. The matron said there was not.

Major Accident Cause

Chicago (AP)—An extra hour of sleep may mean the difference between a traffic accident and a safe trip, says Dr. W. A. Eggert, chief psychologist for the Kemper Insurance Group. Dr. Eggert has shown in a survey that a driver who sleeps seven hours or less a night is inviting trouble. On the other hand, his research indicates that the accident free driver averages eight hours or more sleep per night. His findings were based on a year-long study of industrial drivers.

500 See Apartments

An estimated 500 persons inspected the new Broadmor apartments at Broadway at O'Neil street during an open house Sunday afternoon, it was reported today by Mortimer Englander, owner. "A number" of applications for apartments were received, Englander said. In addition to the new apartments, which are completed, plans call for modern store fronts, work on which is scheduled to begin April 1.

Two Autos Damaged

Two automobiles were damaged but no personal injuries were reported in an accident on Route 28 at Shandaken at 3:05 p. m., Sunday. Trooper Ray Dunn reported that an automobile driven by Gustave A. Sandin of Belrose skidded into a suburban vehicle driven by Robert William Taylor of North Arlington, N. J., when Sandin attempted to apply his brakes to avoid hitting a pickup truck that was turning into a gasoline station.

$500 Pay Raises, Editor Says

now ranges from about one-third the total of state-computed minimum costs in New York city to more than one-half in some upstate districts.

Basis of State Aid

State aid is based on the relative "wealth" of the districts as measured by the full valuation of real estate property, as well as the daily average attendance of pupils.

To help localities finance their share of teacher pay raises, the Moore commission recommended that limited powers to levy non-property taxes be granted to fiscally independent city school districts.

Of the proposed $20,500,000 boost in state aid to help finance the Moore program, New York city will get about $6,800,000, the commission reported.

The total increase would represent about one-half the total cost if all local school districts granted $500 increases to teachers.

Trooper Dunn Promoted

Trooper Ray Dunn of Phoenicia has been promoted to the rank of corporal. Cpl. Dunn has been a member of the New York State Police for 23 years. He first was assigned to the Phoenicia outpost in 1934 and has served there much of the time since, with occasional tours of duty elsewhere in the state. He has been at the Phoenicia post without change since 1947. His promotion was made effective in January.

Court to Review TV

Washington, March 5 (AP)—The Supreme Court today agreed to review government approval of Columbia Broadcasting System color television. The approval by the Federal Communications Commission was attacked by the Radio Corporation of America. RCA's competing TV color system was rejected by the FCC when it gave a go-ahead to the CBS color plan. The Supreme Court set March 26 for arguments on the long-standing dispute.

Legislature Begins

Long Island Railroad as a non-profit public service.

There has been rising opposition to the plan among upstate Republicans. Dewey is known not to be keen about creating more public authorities.

The GOP-dominated Legislature also is expected to provide $20,500,000 to implement an administration-blessed plan to increase minimum salary schedules for public school teachers by $500.

A bitter fight shaped up over the Hughes-Brees bill to revise the unemployment insurance law. It would reduce the jobless tax on employers with stable employment records and increase the maximum weekly benefit for employes from $26 to $30.

The administration may be forced to tag it a "party" measure to get it through the Legislature. Both the CIO and state AFL are waging a hot war against the so-called "true merit rating" proposal, which apparently has Dewey's tacit support.

The G.O.P. majority also is expected to pass Dewey's drastic "loyalty" program, which would permit the transfer or dismissal of "suspect" state employes from "security" positions.

The odds still seem stacked against the Mitchell-Roman resolution providing for a state investigation of New York city's government and alleged underworld—Democratic tieups. But a final decision reportedly has not been reached by the Dewey high command.

Some observers believed that the legislature would authorize New York city to increase its sales tax from two to three per cent, as requested by Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri. The approval may come in return for some Democratic support for the administration's weight-distance tax proposal, it was reported.

The Democratic minority will make its final futile bid this week to block the McGoldrick residential rent control plan, which will permit some increases up to 15 per cent, beginning March 15.

The Democrats, defeated once on the issue, will seem to force from committee their bills to broaden and continue the present rent freeze until mid-1953.

The Democratic leaders, Senator Elmer F. Quinn and Assemblyman Irwin Steingut, charged last night that the McGoldrick plan "will mean the death of rent control in New York state."

Mayor Kenny Aide Slain in Barroom; Killer Confesses

Jersey City, N. J. March 5 (AP)—Thomas P. (Buddy) Boyle, Jr., one of Mayor John V. Kenny's top Democratic aides, was shot dead early today at the height of a free-for-all barroom brawl over politics.

Minutes after Boyle staggered from the tavern and died in the street, police picked up Eugene Kenny, 36, and announced he had admitted the killing.

Police Inspector Michael Cusack said Kenny, a member of an anti-Kenny faction who is no relation to the mayor, would be booked on a murder charge later today in the death of the 23-year-old second ward leader.

Cusack said the argument might have touched on the bombing of an A.F.L. Longshoremen's headquarters Friday but that it was mainly political in nature and there was no direct connection between the two incidents.

Victim Shot Twice

Boyle, son of the late director of the Hudson County Board of Freeholders, was shot twice with a .25 caliber revolver taken from behind the bar.

He staggered from Halloran's Tavern at 18 Erie street, got about 60 feet away and then dropped in the street, moaning for a priest. One of the bullets lodged in his chest, the other in his left shoulder. He was dead on arrival at Medical Center.

Police nabbed Kenny in the tavern about 12:30 a. m., some 15 minutes after the shooting. He lives in a room over the barroom.

Later, several others were picked up and held as material witnesses including Kenny's brother, Edie, 28. James Donohue, brother of George Donohue who is being held as a material witness in the bombing case, is being sought as a witness to the shooting, police said.

Scores High Tin Costs, Asks Halt in Buying

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Rapping what it called gouging of U. S. taxpayers by tin mine owners and speculators, a Senate subcommittee has urged the government to stop buying tin for its stockpile.

An armed services preparedness subcommittee headed by Senator Lyndon Johnson (D-Texas) said in a report to the Senate yesterday the price of tin has soared more than 150 per cent since the start of the Korean War.

"The American taxpayer is weary of being gouged for the privilege of obtaining from some of its allies the raw materials with which he is expected to supply the food and armament needs of the non-Communist nations in the event of another all-out war," the group said.

Control of most important tin reserves, the report said, is in the hands of a relatively few British, Dutch, Belgian and Bolivian Corporations.

Four in Hospital

son, 8; Samuel David, 50, of 67 Chapel street, Kingston; and Blessed Quietness, 56, of New York city, according to State Police. All eight persons were conveyed to the hospital by Conner's ambulance service of this city.

Troopers said the Thompsons and Wilsons were riding in one automobile and were traveling north on 9W on a skiing trip when the car was struck by another automobile, driven by David, which skidded on the slushy pavement.

David was arrested by troopers on a charge of driving without an operator's license and was scheduled for arraignment before Justice of the Peace John O. Beaver on March 10.

Due for Army Induction Father Held for Arson

The accused man, Miguel Mieles Gonzales, of (413 West 57th street) Manhattan, was booked by police on a charge of arson.

Gonzales had been due to be inducted into the army today.

Gonzales' wife, Calita, 22, suffered hand, knee and foot burns. She was treated at Roosevelt Hospital and released.

Their six-months-old daughter, Mildred, suffered arm burns and was admitted to the hospital. Her condition was reported not serious.

Police, who were hampered because Gonzales and his wife speak little English, said they pieced together this story:

Gonzales, who lives in the same rooming house as his wife but in another room, sought to visit her late last night. When she refused to admit him, he threw a bottle of alcohol or benzine against the locked door and lighted it with a match.

The mother apparently put out the flames, and ran to the hospital with the baby. Police were unable to learn how the baby was burned.

Soldiers Die in Crash

Meriden, Conn., March 5 (AP)—One soldier was killed, another was injured fatally and four others were injured critically here early today when an automobile in which they were riding collided with a loaded trailer truck. The dead were identified at Meriden Hospital as Leon Dwight Bradshaw, 22, the Bronx, N. Y., and Louis Baviello, 22, of the Bronx. Critically injured were privates Nathan Korn, of the Bronx; Robert J. Weiss, of Astoria, L. I., identified by police as the owner and driver of the automobile, and James W. Kelley, New York city.

Elsworth Praises Record of Jurors

Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth at the opening of the March trial term of Supreme Court this morning complimented the jurors summoned for service on their willingness to serve. Only six of the entire trial panel of 36 jurors were unable to serve. Three of that number were not served because of absence from that county, three asked to be excused.

Justice Elsworth remarked that this record probably was the best ever in the county, at least since he has been on the bench, and he said it was encouraging to find so many of the people of the county willing to perform jury duty.

Only one member of the grand jury sought to be excused. Reupen Gullian of the Town of Esopus. Walter T. Tremper of Kingston was named foreman of the grand jury and Edith Schantz of Lloyd was named acting foreman.

Jurors were excused until 10 a. m. Tuesday and court recessed until 2 p. m. today at which time a day calendar was made up.

Government Rests

disagreed. He said that to accept Rover's theory that the evidence did not link Collazo with any plan to kill Mr. Truman or any of his bodyguards would be to avoid reality.

Defense attorneys are expected to rest their case chiefly on testimony by Collazo that he merely wanted to stage a demonstration in behalf of Puerto Rican independence, and really didn't intend to kill anyone.

George A. Berley, FBI firearms expert, testified Friday that bullets from Collazo's pistol did not kill Private Leslie Coffelt of the White House police.

Could Have Been Fired

He said the three bullets which struck Coffelt "could have been fired" from the pistol of Collazo's companion, Griselio Torresola, but that he could make no "definite conclusion." Torresola was killed.

Berley also said one of the two bullets that struck Collazo came from the gun of Joseph O. Davidson, another White House guard.

He also related that he had examined the guns of six officers who figured in the shooting and that bullets from none of them hit Coffelt.

Collazo, 37, an anti-American Puerto Rican nationalist, is accused of first-degree murder in Coffelt's death. The law under which he was indicted makes no distinction between associates in a felony which results in murder.

Collazo already has told his story from the witness stand. But the jury did not hear it. His testimony came during a defense maneuver seeking to block admission as evidence of statement's he made after the shooting. The defense contends he made the statements only because of threats.

Flight to England By Czech Official Termed 'Betrayal'

Bombay, India, March 5 (AP)—Purge-ridden Communist Czechoslovakia's ambassador to India, Bohuslav G. Kratochvil, was reported today to have fled to England. His embassy condemned his flight as a "betrayal of his country."

Formerly ambassador to London, Kratochvil was appointed to his last post in 1949 by the then Foreign Minister Vlado Clementis. The two were described as good friends. The Czechs last week announced the arrest of Clementis for alleged plotting against the Red regime.

The Czechoslovakia Embassy, in New Delhi, said the ambassador with his wife and infant son, "after having been summoned to Prague for consultation, * * * abandoned the embassy without informing the members of his staff." The embassy statement termed the action "his resignation from his official post."

The family was accompanied by the son's governess, a Mrs. Wagner, whose husband, a former Czech army officer, died in a Nazi concentration camp.

Others Also Flee

Reliable sources here said the group sailed Saturday for Britain on the Scindia Steam Navigation Company's ship Jal-Azad.

Reports were current here also that several other Czechs employed in India by agencies of their government in recent weeks had disobeyed orders recalling them to Prague and had gone to London instead.

Kratochvil's departure from New Delhi reportedly was surrounded with great secrecy.

It was reported here that Kratochvil's steamer passage was booked a month ago by an Indian navy officer identified as a Commander Turner. The Czech envoy reportedly did not give a departure date until the last minute.

New Snowfall Advances Total to 40 Inches

A four-inch snowfall Saturday, which hampered travel in the city and county, brought the total to date for the winter to 40 inches.

This is slightly above the 15-year average, which, according to the city engineer's records is 39.35, inches and it is nine inches less than the total for the winter a year ago.

The snow included hail and rain at intervals and packed wet on city streets and county highways. Sanding was required starting early in the storm on hills and intersections in the city, and on county roads, and plows started when it neared the peak depth. Slippery conditions prevailed this morning in some sections of the city and county and sand was needed on some hills and intersections.

'No Truth,' Is Statement

Washington, March 5 (AP)—The navy said today there is "absolutely no truth" to published reports that President Truman has ordered a special guard against submarines in the Gulf of Mexico. A navy spokesman said "no special alert has been ordered by anybody" because no unidentified submarines have been sighted in the Gulf of Mexico or the Caribbean Sea area in recent weeks. A similar denial came from White House and navy officials with President Truman at Key West.

Has Exclusive Service

Ossining, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—Lonely Hearts killer Martha Beck, spending what probably was the last Sunday of her life, had an exclusive religious service yesterday. The fat, 30-year-old Mrs. Beck, scheduled to go to the electric chair at Sing Sing prison Thursday night, was described as "calm and collected." She read newspapers, listened to the radio, and asked a matron if there was "any new development" in her case. The matron said there was not.

Major Accident Cause

Chicago (AP)—An extra hour of sleep may mean the difference between a traffic accident and a safe trip, says Dr. W. A. Eggert, chief psychologist for the Kemper Insurance Group. Dr. Eggert has shown in a survey that a driver who sleeps seven hours or less a night is inviting trouble. On the other hand, his research indicates that the accident free driver averages eight hours or more sleep per night. His findings were based on a year-long study of industrial drivers.

500 See Apartments

An estimated 500 persons inspected the new Broadmor apartments at Broadway at O'Neil street during an open house Sunday afternoon, it was reported today by Mortimer Englander, owner. "A number" of applications for apartments were received, Englander said. In addition to the new apartments, which are completed, plans call for modern store fronts, work on which is scheduled to begin April 1.

Two Autos Damaged

Two automobiles were damaged but no personal injuries were reported in an accident on Route 28 at Shandaken at 3:05 p. m., Sunday. Trooper Ray Dunn reported that an automobile driven by Gustave A. Sandin of Melrose skidded into a suburban vehicle driven by Robert William Taylor of North Arlington, N. J., when Sandin attempted to apply his brakes to avoid hitting a pickup truck that was turning into a gasoline station.

$500 Pay Raises,

Basis of State Aid

State aid is based on the relative "wealth" of the districts as measured by the full valuation of real estate property, as well as the daily average attendance of pupils.

To help localities finance their share of teacher pay raises, the Moore commission recommended that limited powers to levy non-property taxes be granted to fiscally independent city school districts.

Of the proposed $20,500,000 boost in state aid to help finance the Moore program, New York city will get about $6,800,000, the commission reported.

The total increase would represent about one-half the total cost if all local school districts granted $500 increases to teachers.

Trooper Dumm Promoted

Trooper Ray Dunn of Phoenicia has been promoted to the rank of corporal. Cpl. Dunn has been a member of the New York State Police for 23 years. He first was assigned to the Phoenicia outpost in 1934 and has served there much of the time since, with occasional tours of duty elsewhere in the state. He has been at the Phoenicia post without change since 1947. His promotion was made effective in January.

Due for Army Induction Father Held for Arson

New York, March 5 (AP)—A 24-year-old father was charged early today with setting a fire in which his wife and their infant daughter were burned.

The accused man, Miguel Mieles Gonzales, of (413 West 57th street) Manhattan, was booked by police on a charge of arson.

Gonzales had been due to be inducted into the army today.

Gonzales' wife, Calita, 22, suffered hand, knee and foot burns. She was treated at Roosevelt Hospital and released.

Their six-months-old daughter, Mildred, suffered arm burns and was admitted to the hospital. Her condition was reported not serious.

Police, who were hampered because Gonzales and his wife speak little English, said they pieced together this story:

Gonzales, who lives in the same rooming house as his wife but in another room, sought to visit her late last night. When she refused to admit him, he threw a bottle of alcohol or benzine against the locked door and lighted it with a match.

The mother apparently put out the flames, and ran to the hospital with the baby. Police were unable to learn how the baby was burned.

Soldiers Die in Crash

Meriden, Conn., March 5 (AP)—One soldier was killed, another was injured fatally and four others were injured critically here early today when an automobile in which they were riding collided with a loaded trailer truck. The dead were identified at Meriden Hospital as Leon Dwight Bradshaw, 22, the Bronx, N. Y., and Louis Baviello, 22, of the Bronx. Critically injured were privates Nathan Korn, of the Bronx; Robert J. Weiss, of Astoria, L. I., identified by police as the owner and driver of the automobile, and James W. Kelley, New York city.

Elsworth Praises Record of Jurors

Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth at the opening of the March trial term of Supreme Court this morning complimented the jurors summoned for service on their willingness to serve. Only six of the entire trial panel of 36 jurors were unable to serve. Three of that number were not served because of absence from that county, three asked to be excused.

Justice Elsworth remarked that this record probably was the best ever in the county, at least since he has been on the bench, and he said it was encouraging to find so many of the people of the county willing to perform jury duty.

Only one member of the grand jury sought to be excused. Reupen Gullian of the Town of Esopus. Walter T. Tremper of Kingston was named foreman of the grand jury and Edith Schantz of Lloyd was named acting foreman.

Jurors were excused until 10 a. m. Tuesday and court recessed until 2 p. m. today at which time a day calendar was made up.

Government Rests

disagreed. He said that to accept Rover's theory that the evidence did not link Collazo with any plan to kill Mr. Truman or any of his bodyguards would be to avoid reality.

Defense attorneys are expected to rest their case chiefly on testimony by Collazo that he merely wanted to stage a demonstration in behalf of Puerto Rican independence, and really didn't intend to kill anyone.

George A. Berley, FBI firearms expert, testified Friday that bullets from Collazo's pistol did not kill Private Leslie Coffelt of the White House police.

Could Have Been Fired

He said the three bullets which struck Coffelt "could have been fired" from the pistol of Collazo's companion, Griselio Torresola, but that he could make no "definite conclusion." Torresola was killed.

Berley also said one of the two bullets that struck Collazo came from the gun of Joseph O. Davidson, another White House guard.

He also related that he had examined the guns of six officers who figured in the shooting and that bullets from none of them hit Coffelt.

Collazo, 37, an anti-American Puerto Rican nationalist, is accused of first-degree murder in Coffelt's death. The law under which he was indicted makes no distinction between associates in a felony which results in murder.

Collazo already has told his story from the witness stand. But the jury did not hear it. His testimony came during a defense maneuver seeking to block admission as evidence of statement's he made after the shooting. The defense contends he made the statements only because of threats.

Fort, Junior Grade

Kirkland Lake, Ont. (AP)—The snow "Fort" in which four-year-old Raymond Zoukylou was playing was sturdy enough to stop a runaway five-ton tractor-trailer. Police said the youngster would have been killed if the wall of the fort had not halted the tractor.

Flight to England By Czech Official Termed 'Betrayal'

Bombay, India, March 5 (AP)—Purge-ridden Communist Czechoslovakia's ambassador to India, Bohuslav G. Kratochvil, was reported today to have fled to England. His embassy condemned his flight as a "betrayal of his country."

Formerly ambassador to London, Kratochvil was appointed to his last post in 1949 by the then Foreign Minister Vlado Clementis. The two were described as good friends. The Czechs last week announced the arrest of Clementis for alleged plotting against the Red regime.

The Czechoslovakia Embassy, in New Delhi, said the ambassador with his wife and infant son, "after having been summoned to Prague for consultation, * * * abandoned the embassy without informing the members of his staff." The embassy statement termed the action "his resignation from his official post."

The family was accompanied by the son's governess, a Mrs. Wagner, whose husband, a former Czech army officer, died in a Nazi concentration camp.

Others Also Flee

Reliable sources here said the group sailed Saturday for Britain on the Scindia Steam Navigation Company's ship Jal-Azad.

Reports were current here also that several other Czechs employed in India by agencies of their government in recent weeks had disobeyed orders recalling them to Prague and had gone to London instead.

Kratochvil's departure from New Delhi reportedly was surrounded with great secrecy.

It was reported here that Kratochvil's steamer passage was booked a month ago by an Indian navy officer identified as a Commander Turner. The Czech envoy reportedly did not give a departure date until the last minute.

New Snowfall Advances Total to 40 Inches

A four-inch snowfall Saturday, which hampered travel in the city and county, brought the total to date for the winter to 40 inches.

This is slightly above the 15-year average, which, according to the city engineer's records is 39.35, inches and it is nine inches less than the total for the winter a year ago.

The snow included hail and rain at intervals and packed wet on city streets and county highways. Sanding was required starting early in the storm on hills and intersections in the city, and on county roads, and plows started when it neared the peak depth. Slippery conditions prevailed this morning in some sections of the city and county and sand was needed on some hills and intersections.

'No Truth,' Is Statement

Washington, March 5 (AP)—The navy said today there is "absolutely no truth" to published reports that President Truman has ordered a special guard against submarines in the Gulf of Mexico. A navy spokesman said "no special alert has been ordered by anybody" because no unidentified submarines have been sighted in the Gulf of Mexico or the Caribbean Sea area in recent weeks. A similar denial came from White House and navy officials with President Truman at Key West.

Has Exclusive Service

Ossining, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—Lonely Hearts killer Martha Beck, spending what probably was the last Sunday of her life, had an exclusive religious service yesterday. The fat, 30-year-old Mrs. Beck, scheduled to go to the electric chair at Sing Sing prison Thursday night, was described as "calm and collected." She read newspapers, listened to the radio, and asked a matron if there was "any new development" in her case. The matron said there was not.

Major Accident Cause

Chicago (AP)—An extra hour of sleep may mean the difference between a traffic accident and a safe trip, says Dr. W. A. Eggert, chief psychologist for the Kemper Insurance Group. Dr. Eggert has shown in a survey that a driver who sleeps seven hours or less a night is inviting trouble. On the other hand, his research indicates that the accident free driver averages eight hours or more sleep per night. His findings were based on a year-long study of industrial drivers.

500 See Apartments

An estimated 500 persons inspected the new Broadmor apartments at Broadway at O'Neil street during an open house Sunday afternoon, it was reported today by Mortimer Englander, owner. "A number" of applications for apartments were received, Englander said. In addition to the new apartments, which are completed, plans call for modern store fronts, work on which is scheduled to begin April 1.

Two Autos Damaged

Two automobiles were damaged but no personal injuries were reported in an accident on Route 28 at Shandaken at 3:05 p. m., Sunday. Trooper Ray Dunn reported that an automobile driven by Gustave A. Sandin of Belrose skidded into a suburban vehicle driven by Robert William Taylor of North Arlington, N. J., when Sandin attempted to apply his brakes to avoid hitting a pickup truck that was turning into a gasoline station.

$500 Pay Raises,

Basis of State Aid

State aid is based on the relative "wealth" of the districts as measured by the full valuation of real estate property, as well as the daily average attendance of pupils.

To help localities finance their share of teacher pay raises, the Moore commission recommended that limited powers to levy non-property taxes be granted to fiscally independent city school districts.

Of the proposed $20,500,000 boost in state aid to help finance the Moore program, New York city will get about $6,800,000, the commission reported.

The total increase would represent about one-half the total cost if all local school districts granted $500 increases to teachers.

Trooper Dunn Promoted

Trooper Ray Dunn of Phoenicia has been promoted to the rank of corporal. Cpl. Dunn has been a member of the New York State Police for 23 years. He first was assigned to the Phoenicia outpost in 1934 and has served there much of the time since, with occasional tours of duty elsewhere in the state. He has been at the Phoenicia post without change since 1947. His promotion was made effective in January.

Legislature Begins

Long Island Railroad as a non-profit public service.

There has been rising opposition to the plan among upstate Republicans. Dewey is known not to be keen about creating more public authorities.

The GOP-dominated Legislature also is expected to provide $20,500,000 to implement an administration-blessed plan to increase minimum salary schedules for public school teachers by $500.

A bitter fight shaped up over the Hughes-Brees bill to revise the unemployment insurance law. It would reduce the jobless tax on employers with stable employment records and increase the maximum weekly benefit for employes from $26 to $30.

The administration may be forced to tag it a "party" measure to get it through the Legislature. Both the CIO and state AFL are waging a hot war against the so-called "true merit rating" proposal, which apparently has Dewey's tacit support.

The G.O.P. majority also is expected to pass Dewey's drastic "loyalty" program, which would permit the transfer or dismissal of "suspect" state employes from "security" positions.

The odds still seem stacked against the Mitchell-Roman resolution providing for a state investigation of New York city's government and alleged underworld—Democratic tieups. But a final decision reportedly has not been reached by the Dewey high command.

Some observers believed that the legislature would authorize New York city to increase its sales tax from two to three per cent, as requested by Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri. The approval may come in return for some Democratic support for the administration's weight-distance tax proposal, it was reported.

The Democratic minority will make its final futile bid this week to block the McGoldrick residential rent control plan, which will permit some increases up to 15 per cent, beginning March 15.

The Democrats, defeated once on the issue, will seem to force from committee their bills to broaden and continue the present rent freeze until mid-1953.

The Democratic leaders, Senator Elmer F. Quinn and Assemblyman Irwin Steingut, charged last night that the McGoldrick plan "will mean the death of rent control in New York state."

Mayor Kenny Aide Slain in Barroom; Killer Confesses

Jersey City, N. J. March 5 (AP)—Thomas P. (Buddy) Boyle, Jr., one of Mayor John V. Kenny's top Democratic aides, was shot dead early today at the height of a free-for-all barroom brawl over politics.

Minutes after Boyle staggered from the tavern and died in the street, police picked up Eugene Kenny, 36, and announced he had admitted the killing.

Police Inspector Michael Cusack said Kenny, a member of an anti-Kenny faction who is no relation to the mayor, would be booked on a murder charge later today in the death of the 23-year-old second ward leader.

Cusack said the argument might have touched on the bombing of an A.F.L. Longshoremen's headquarters Friday but that it was mainly political in nature and there was no direct connection between the two incidents.

Victim Shot Twice

Boyle, son of the late director of the Hudson County Board of Freeholders, was shot twice with a .25 caliber revolver taken from behind the bar.

He staggered from Halloran's Tavern at 18 Erie street, got about 60 feet away and then dropped in the street, moaning for a priest. One of the bullets lodged in his chest, the other in his left shoulder. He was dead on arrival at Medical Center.

Police nabbed Kenny in the tavern about 12:30 a. m., some 15 minutes after the shooting. He lives in a room over the barroom.

Later, several others were picked up and held as material witnesses including Kenny's brother, Edie, 28. James Donohue, brother of George Donohue who is being held as a material witness in the bombing case, is being sought as a witness to the shooting, police said.

Scores High Tin Costs, Asks Halt in Buying

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Rapping what it called gouging of U. S. taxpayers by tin mine owners and speculators, a Senate subcommittee has urged the government to stop buying tin for its stockpile.

An armed services preparedness subcommittee headed by Senator Lyndon Johnson (D-Texas) said in a report to the Senate yesterday the price of tin has soared more than 150 per cent since the start of the Korean War.

"The American taxpayer is weary of being gouged for the privilege of obtaining from some of its allies the raw materials with which he is expected to supply the food and armament needs of the non-Communist nations in the event of another all-out war," the group said.

Control of most important tin reserves, the report said, is in the hands of a relatively few British, Dutch, Belgian and Bolivian Corporations.

Four in Hospital

son, 8; Samuel David, 50, of 67 Chapel street, Kingston; and Blessed Quietness, 56, of New York city, according to State Police. All eight persons were conveyed to the hospital by Conner's ambulance service of this city.

Troopers said the Thompsons and Wilsons were riding in one automobile and were traveling north on 9W on a skiing trip when the car was struck by another automobile, driven by David, which skidded on the slushy pavement.

David was arrested by troopers on a charge of driving without an operator's license and was scheduled for arraignment before Justice of the Peace John O. Beaver on March 10.
